THE NEW YEAR

The New Year has been called many things: A fresh white page . . . A path once familiar, now covered with snow . . . An unread book . . . Fresh calendars . . . A new beginning.

This is being written on the last day of 1957, but it will probably be 1957 to me till about April, when it will dawn upon me that it's 1958 I should write in the date line.

About all there is left to do in 1957 is to thank God for bringing us safely through it, with a minimum of scars, and to say the usual fond farewell to the year of Sputnik, Little Rock, hurricanes, et al.

But 1957 has not been all bad, for any of us. It has been a year of warm friendships, wonderful families, good books, good music and other fine things. It is so much easier to enumerate the good things of 1957 than the bad —there are so many more of them!

TO THE WEATHERMAN:
"There will be snow for Christmas,"
You said,
But so far, you haven't
Produced it!
Now, in our garage, there is
A new sled,
And not even DAD's ever
Used it!

Just wondering — if there is anything that looks as final and as lonely as a Christmas tree thrown on the trash, with a few stray bits of tinsel glistening in the sun . . . How many doting parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles and friends of small children, are proudly displaying photographs of them, taken with that V.I.P., that Man of Distinction of December, Santa Claus Himself . . . How soon one of those male television singers is going to fall off the stool . . . How even a city the size of New York could find five doctors who would have the time to get together on anything . . . How Tallulah likes to have M.C.s call her "dahling"—turn about is fair play, they say.

No pine needles down my neck this time—we invested in an artificial tree, which reminds me of the sweet poem in a recent issue of SatEvePost which I hope you older folks read. If you'd like a copy I'll be glad to send it. It is titled "Table Tree", and is by Miriam Clark Potter.

'Dear Son'

Chittlin' Switch,
Friday night.

Dear Jason:

Well, Christmas is over until next year. It's too bad you couldn't make it home for Christmas but then, as I told everybody, your Commanding Officer just coudn't spare you with the Executive Officer taking leave and everything. Somebody has to take charge of things.

We had quite a party here Christmas. They came from all over — Polecat Junction, Elbow Bend, Pasture Flats, DeWitt Corners and I don't know the other joints.

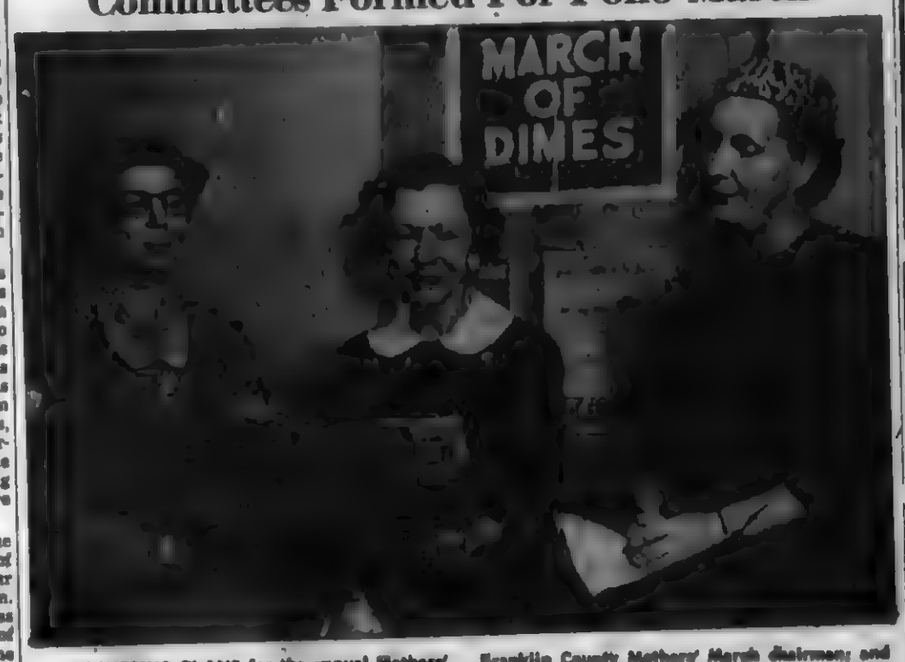
Anyway, there must have been a hundred people here at the house. You know how those society people do each Christmas Eve like carry in the Yule log? Well this year, as usual, promptly at midnight they carried in your old mom. Nothing but [illegible]

We sure had a nice crowd but like everything else, there's always a show-off or two in the bunch to spoil things, like the old maid school teacher, Sophie Sludge. She's been all over the world and loves to brag about it. It seems that when she was in Bali, the Cannibal-in-Charge presented her with a lapel ornament to go on her powder blue suit. She spent the entire evening here showing all the men her Bali button.

Your brother Elmo gave his wife a couple of unusual gifts for Christmas. He got her a washboard and a mirror. Elmo always was a lazy one but this takes the cake. It seems he was sick of working and quit his job. When his wife asked him how come such silly presents, like a washing board and a mirror, Elmo told her that if she didn't start taking in washing she could watch herself starve to death.

Ned Pauser also came to the party. He was the principal of the school of business that your sister Moronica graduated from. I don't think that business course did your sister a bit of good. She's had a tough time landing a job although she nearly got one the other day. She was being interviewed by the president of the Chittlin' Switch National Bank and he gave her sort of an examination. He asked her if she knew punctuation, shorthand, how to care for a typewriter and filing. She knew all about that stuff but when he asked her if she could manipulate a roll top desk — that's where he had her!

Incidentally, Moronica was getting slightly on the fat side and about a month ago she went to the doctor and he put her on a diet and she can't eat anything except coconuts and bananas. To my estimation, she hasn't lost any weight but she can sure climb trees.



We were all sorry that your Uncle Lushmore couldn't make it for the festivities this year but he fractured his right leg. It seems he fell off a ladder while trying to put on his long drawers. Lush says that the only reason he drinks is because it's cheaper than sending his wife to the beauty parlor.

The other day he was on his way home after your paw had just given him a pint of joy juice he had just run out of the still. Lush put it in his hip pocket. While he was crossing the turnpike he got hit by a truck and when he got up on his feet he felt something trickling down his right leg. Lush was real worried for a minute but was very relieved when he found it was only blood.

Write soon. Your loving,
MOM

Local Postman Once Tagged 'Miesse The Messy Magician'

SUPER HUMAN?— Not at all, said Glenn Miesse who has practiced magic since boyhood. "My wife and I were often snubbed when we performed because a few of the people always thought that our mind-reading act was superhuman! There is a gimmick to every trick but some folks don't believe it!" said Miesse.

By Ray Shaffer

"Miesse the Messy Magician" may not sound like a perfect name for the superintendent of a United States Post Office, but it was once a very familiar nametag for Glenn Miesse, of 726 [redacted]-av.

Glenn, who has been superintendent of Post Office, Station D, at 24 E. Hartford-av, since it was opened in 1954, has not only managed to give 34 years continuous service to the postoffice department, but also has been a semi-professional entertainer since he was a teenager.

Born in Lima, O., Glenn got his high school education in Stoutsville, O. After working a while as an auto mechanic, he came to Columbus and the post office in 1924. This was not exactly as he had planned his life as a boy, he said, because he wanted to go into show business on a full time [redacted].

Follows Uncle's Advice

Glenn's uncle of Washington, D.C., however, had spent his life as a professional musician and discouraged Glenn from pursuing the game as an occupation. Miesse followed his uncle's advice and kept show business as a sideline only.

"I have found my uncle to be true and today there are many showmen who are lucky to be eating three times a day. Show business is a funny thing. You have to be tops to make a living at it, then when you grow old, you're used up and unwanted with nothing but faded clippings for sustenance!"

With a flair for comedy, and a few magic tricks learned from an old "medicine man" passing through Stoutsville, Glenn created a comic-magic act which he played all through Ohio and the surrounding states during his off-hours from the post office. It was in the field of magic that he first acquired the title of "Miesse the Messy Magician." The tag came because he purposely messed up some tricks for the sake of comedy.

This original act concerned a drunken playboy and his very disgusted wife, played by Mrs. Miesse, Lillian, and later joined by their daughter, Pat, when she was old enough for the stage. During the act, Glenn carried out his magic in subtle comic style.

Toured Camps, Hospitals

He continued to add and create new tricks to his repretoire and gained considerable recognition in the Midwest. During World War II, Glenn joined a Moose Club troupe and entertained at servicemen's hospitals and [redacted].

Although he locked his trunks containing props and costumes about a year and a half ago and gave up his magician sideline, Glenn still gets offers to perform at various functions throughout Ohio. At present he confines his activities to the post office and playing the clarinet in the Shrine Band.

A Hilltopper for 26 years and father of two sons and the daughter, Glenn looks back on a past of entertaining in night clubs, on stage and television, but said he is glad he stuck with the post office and a steady job.

Says Show People O.K.

"Show business is full of a lot of fun, disappointment and hard work. The people in the game are friendly and interesting. Many look upon troupers as a hard and fast group of people—I disagree! I believe the percentage of "bad" people in show business is lower than that of many other outside businesses," said Glenn.

Glenn has worked with some big-name persons in the field of entertainment but points out Al Morgan, a pianist and song writer who appeared on television in this area a few years ago, as one of the 'nicest guys' with whom he worked. Glenn emceed several shows for Al given at the Ohio State Penitentiary.

Every magician has his embarrassing moments and Glenn has had his fair share. He points out a Moose Benefit he did in Lima, O. He was supposed to produce ten rabbits from three 'empty' cylinders. The rabbits were to be given to kids in the audience holding lucky numbers.

"The act lasted about an hour and the cylinders containing the rabbits sat backstage for about 45 minutes . . . much too long! The rabbits weren't housebroken. My wife, Lillian, had to dry each one off before we gave them to the kids!" added Glenn.

Irvin Accepts Minneapolis Planning Job

Lawrence M. Irvin

Lawrence M. Irvin, 42, of 807 S. Roys-av, has resigned his post as Slum Clearance Director effective Mar. 1 to accept the job of city planning director for the city of Minneapolis, Minn.

He has held his present post since 1952. Irvin said Friday that he had accepted the challenging Minneapolis Civil Service post which will pay $18,500 a year. He placed first among six candidates in a civil service examination for the job Dec. 30.

Irvin said he accepted the position because of the challenge it offered. Minneapolis had 522,000 population in 1950 compared to 375,901 for Columbus. It is completely surrounded by suburbs preventing any expansion.

He was originally with the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority following his post as urban redevelopment director. His title was later changed to slum clearance and rehabilitation director.

Pearl Spence Ends Career Of Dedicated Public Service

Pearl W. Spence

The last day of 1957 marked the end of nearly a half-century of service to citizens of Columbus, and the beginning of well-earned years of leisure for Pearl W. Spence, 559 Columbian-av.

His retirement as clerk of Columbus Municipal Court ended his career as an employe of the city that began in 1911.

Mr. Spence comments on his 47 years of service with, "I've enjoyed my work so much and am so very grateful for the opportunity to serve Columbus so long. My associates have always been wonderful to work with."

He and his wife, married in 1902 in Racine, will celebrate their 56th wedding anniversary on June 4.

The couple cherises the many friends and associations in Columbus and, although they will leave soon for their annual trip to Florida, will continue to make their home on the Hilltop where they have lived for the past 26 years.

"I've seen too many people retire, sell their homes, leave all their friends and move to Florida. There, surrounded by transients, they are homesick and realize their mistake.

Watched Columbus Grow

Mr. Spence, reminiscing about "Watching Columbus grow up," said "The town was a lot different when I started working for the city in 1911. I was deputy city auditor, working under another Hilltopper, the late Clayton Cain."

In 1934 he became chief deputy clerk of Columbus Municipal Court where he served until his predecessor died in 1945. Mr. Spence was re-elected to a four-year term in 1947 and again for a six-year term in 1951.

Retirement will mean more time for the organizations to which he belongs. Mr. Spence is proud of his nine-year perfect attendance record with Hilltop Kiwanis.

He is a member of Humboldt Lodge, F&AM, Aladdin Temple, Scottish Rite, Buckeye Republican Club and Crown Chapter, OES.

The couple has two sons, Curtis C. of Elyria and Charles Franklin of Worthington, and four grandchildren.

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Anyone For Birds?

It was just getting daylight, and I was crouched beside a bush straining my eyes looking into the dense fog rising from Big Darby Creek.

I had heard the squealing call of a wood duck somewhere nearby, and I was hoping that I would get a glimpse of the bird. Presently, a pair of wood ducks swam cautiously into view, took alarm and flew, with wings whistling, off into the misty gloom of the creek.

No, I didn't hastily click the safety off my shotgun and send a couple of magnum loads after them. The date was April 13, and I merely took out my notebook and added "two wood ducks" to a growing list of birds.

Records 93 Species

Just as some people play solitaire, or overwork their brain cells on crossword puzzles, I play a bird watching game that lasts all year long. The rules are simple—keep track of all the different kinds of birds I see in the vicinity of our house. I have just finished the 1957 game with a total of 93 different kinds of birds.

This may sound like a lot of birds to see in one year to hunters who think the only creature worthy of the name "bird" is a cock ringneck pheasant. Well, one reason I see a lot of birds is because there is a variety of living conditions near our house. Big Darby Creek is just a stone's throw from the edge of our yard. The house is surrounded by trees, and an abandoned hay field is on the west side. In wet periods marshy areas persist in the old hay field. I see water birds along the creek — mallard ducks, great blue herons, and sandpipers. In the trees we have warblers, thrushes, catbirds, and many others. The open field provides native sparrows, bobolinks, pheasants and killdeer, to list a few.

Another trick that is not against the rules of my game is to feed birds during the winter. Last Jan. 12, for instance, I observed four downy woodpeckers, two bluebirds, two white breasted nuthatches, one pine siskin (a real rarity for that time of year), one tufted titmouse, two Carolina chickadees, one flicker and two song sparrows at the feeder.

Checks Spring Migrations

To compile a pretty fair list of birds from a small area such as I have limited myself, you have to be out early in the mornings during the spring migrations. If you keep your eyes open the last two weeks of April and the first part of May, you can add many migrants to your list. For example, on May 16 I added 11 birds to the list on that day alone.

Surprisingly, there were several game birds on the list. I've already mentioned wood ducks, mallards and pheasants. A covey of bob-white quail lived in the open field, and on April 16 I was walking around some puddles in the same field and flushed six jacksnipe.

Some birds I saw many times, and others I was lucky to see at all. A pair of Carolina wrens were with us all summer, and raised three families in our carport. The Cooper's hawk with a nest along the lower road was difficult to catch at home, and I saw her only twice sneaking off through the treetops.

On a cloudy, cold day in April I got only a quick glimpse of a high-flying herring gull. An American bittern almost eluded me, and I saw it for only a fleeting second before it disappeared down the creek.

I'm in the midst of the 1958 bird game, and by this time the Donald Webers next door are accustomed to me peering out the windows with various spy glasses. Maybe I'll break a hundred this year, and then again I may chuck the whole business and try something sane like seeing how many fish I can catch out of Big Darby in a year's time.

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

By Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

JANUARY PLENTIFULS: Apples, dried prunes, dates, potatoes, canned and frozen peas, dairy products, broilers and fryers, almonds and filberts.

A LOOK TO THE FUTURE

How will your food budget fare in 1958? The crystal ball gazers have been using the phrase, "little different from 1957", when describing the general food situation for the coming year. Food supplies during 1958 are expected to be large—almost as large as during the past year.

Retail prices on food may average a little higher in 1958, especially during the first half of the year. This will be partly because of the strong demand for some foods that will be in shorter supply such as beef and eggs, and partly because of increased marketing cost. When costs of getting food from the farm to the store rise, the increases are likely to show up in retail prices. Also, we'll be starting the new year with food prices higher than they were in January, 1957.

MEATS—The meat counter will display supplies close to that of 1957. Marketings of pork are expected to be larger, especially during the last half of the year. We'll probably have a little less beef and veal.

POULTRY AND EGGS—We'll be eating more chicken. In fact, chicken consumption in 1958 is expected to be at a record high. The increase will be in broilers and fryers. Because there are fewer laying hens than a year ago, there will be fewer eggs—at least until late summer. This will result in higher egg prices.

FRESH PRODUCE

Recent cold weather in many of the growing areas has started things off on the "wrong foot" as far as fresh produce is concerned.

FRUITS — Citrus shipments from Florida were embargoed until Dec. 30, to permit damage from the recent freeze to show up, so that only good fruit would be shipped. Supplies of both oranges and grapefruit will increase during January and February. However, there will be fewer oranges than expected earlier, and prices will be higher.

While damage to the grapefruit crop was less severe than on oranges, prices will be higher than in 1957. Apples, a favorite of many, remain abundant . . . quality is staying good and price is low. We'll have more bananas and more grapes than last year. We have about the same amount of canned fruit on hand as a year ago and more frozen fruit.

VEGETABLES — The fresh vegetable picture is difficult to anticipate for any long period of time, but we'll "start the New Year" with large supplies of canned and frozen vegetables.

Over all 1958 will be a good eating year. Plenty of food for everyone . . . the total cost of our food market basket slightly above 1957 . . . a continued trend toward more convenience and built-in maid service . . . more people to feed . . . marketing cost still rising.

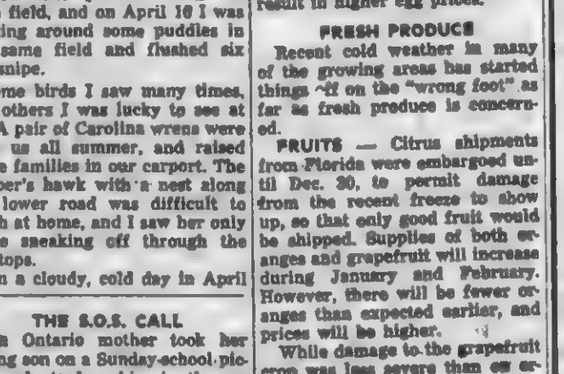
THE S.O.S. CALL

An Ontario mother took her young son on a Sunday-school picnic, only to lose him in the excitement of watching his first three-legged race. She had just begun an anxious search for her small one when—loud and clear above all the other talk, shouts and laughter—came a desperate young treble crying, "Jessie — Jessie."



When she finally go to his side and had him calmed down again, she asked why he called her Jessie when he always called her Mother at home.

The tyke looked at her with justified disdain and declared shortly, "It was no use calling Mother — the place is full of mothers."—Maclean's.

Hens and pullets on farms Jan. 1, 1958 will be down about five percent from a year earlier. Rate of lay will be up slightly over a year earlier and will continue up slightly in 1958, according to Ohio State University Extension poultry specialists.

Local Firm Executive Named To Expenditure Study Group

G. W. Keny, 2070 Wilson-rd, president of the Columbus Plastic Products, Inc., 1625 W. Mound-st, has been named to the board of trustees of the Ohio Public Expenditure Council.

The council, with headquarters at 50 S. Third-st, is described as a nonprofit, nonpartisan research organization whose primary purpose is to help taxpayer groups and public officials to obtain better government at less cost.

It was founded in 1941 by leading Ohio industrialists, utility, banking and transportation executives dedicated to oppose waste and nonessential spending by government at the local, state and national levels. It collects, analyzes and disseminates data, reports and practical research throughout the state.

The staff also acts as advisor to public officials without charge. The council says one of its major functions is that of a clearing house to which all those who want more efficiency in government with the lowest possible taxation can turn for unbiased information on government revenues, costs and expenditures.

For Your Thoughts

Question: What, in your opinion, was the most significant news event of the past year?

Mrs. Paul E. Hubbard, 649 Wrexham: I think that the announcement of the Russians firing a satellite into space probably captured my eye the most.

Mrs. Carl R. Leistner, of 810 Wedgewood-dr: As far as Americans are concerned, I think that the President's illness was the most important occurrence during 1957.

Mrs. Oscar A. Gardner, 734 S. Wayne-av: The appearance of Sputnik is the one event that comes to my mind. It probably was a very complicated achievement, and the one that lends the most interest to the future.

Mrs. D. E. Jones, 101 S. Hawthorne-av: There certainly were a lot of important events, But, I think that the President's illness probably caused the most concern.

Mrs. Clarence Remy, 375 S. Burgy-av: I think the Queen of England visiting these shores made a vivid impression in my mind.

Firestone's New Manager Is 'Import' From Chillicothe

Ralph C. Huggins

After 12 years with the Firestone Company, Ralph C. Huggins finally made it to Columbus! "I've always enjoyed my previous visits to Columbus and always thought I'd like to live here," said Ralph.

In November of 1957, his wish came true and he was transferred from the firm's Chillicothe branch to the Hilltop Store, 3470 W. Broad st, Great Western Shopping Center.

Ralph said if the business which the store enjoyed between Christmas and New Year's is indicative of the coming year's sales — it should be a great year!

Ralph said he enjoys working in this West Broad-st store because it is the newest and best equipped of the Firestone branches in the Columbus area. The store specializes in brake and front-end service and carries a full line of auto supplies.

Born and schooled in West Virginia, Ralph started as a salesman for Firestone, following a five-year stretch in the Air Force. He and his wife, Geraldine, were married in 1942. They are the parents of two daughters, Patricia and Susan. The Huggins family is now residing at 1023 Anthony-dr.

Ralph enjoys fishing and golf in his spare time and hopes to get active in church work after he and his family are completely settled and adjusted in Columbus. He is a member of HBA and Lions International.

Feminine Cagers Regular Season Is Underway

Girls' Intermediate and Senior leagues opened their regular basketball seasons Jan. 6, at Glenwood Recreation Center.

The teams previously warmed up in pre-basketball season play with the Knights coming out on top in the senior loop and the Charts tops in the Intermediate.

The senior league consists of seven teams while the Intermediate league sports five. Most of these teams are evenly matched in their respective league.

The Intermediates consist of the following: Cool Cats, Thugs, Knights, Charts and Netwits; the Seniors include the Hilltop Hoppers, Black Angels, Go Getters, Hot Shots, Powder Puffs, Aces and Sharpshooters.

The keel for the navy's sixth supercarrier, the Constellation, has been laid. The carrier bears the name of the first vessel ever built specifically for the navy, over 160 years ago.

Celtics Lose To Aces Five In Close One

By outlasting the Celtics 37-35 in a tightly contested duel, the Aces captured the 1957 preseason Senior League championship at Glenwood Center.

Both squads entered the season's finale with identical records of six victories and undefeated in league play.

The lead changed hands many times during the close scoring contest and with only one minute remaining, the Celtics jumped to a 35 to 31 lead. However, the Aces' guard, Bob Capuano stole the ball and drove in for a layup with only 40 seconds remaining.

A traveling violation against the Celtics gave the Aces the ball again, and on the ensuing play, Fred Blackburn was fouled. Blackburn dropped in both foul shots, thus tying the score with 35 all with only 25 seconds remaining.

Once again the Celtics were unable to score, and Dan Van Hoose brought the ball down the floor for the Aces. With 10 seconds left, Van Hoose let loose with a one-hander from mid court which was straight and true, and gave the Aces the victory in the thrill-packed game. Ironically, the final two points by Van Hoose were his only two of the game.

High scorer of the fray was the Celtics' Gilliland, who garnered 16 points. Blackburn led the new champs offense with 10 tallies.

Southworth's Poultry Requests Property Change

Officials of Southworth's Poultry, 340 Emerson-av, will appear before the service committee of city council, Monday, Jan. 13, to request a change in the zoning of two lots from residential to manufacturing.

There are part of Albert Rickenbacher's Central-av addition, facing Rickenbacher-av, and include the west 251 feet of both sides of the street to the alley, which is an extension of Emerson-av. The poultry firm plans to build a dry storage shed, large truck scales and to provide parking facilities.

Bill Southworth explained in the request that the building would be a pole shed (sheet metal on top of telephone poles), with no floor, that could easily be removed.

He said he would guarantee that there would be no necessity to kill or process any poultry on the additional land.

West High GAA To Fete Seniors

Girls' Athletic Association of West High School will honor its graduating seniors with a banquet at Pomerene Hall, Jan. 8. They are Marsha Hoare, Sharon Dent and Jo Ann Frazier.

Don Harper, Olympic diving champion, will be principal speaker. Harper recently completed a period of practice teaching with Rufus Glass' students at West High.

Officers of the GAA are, president, Marcia Callahan; vice-president, Diane Kohr; secretary, Judy Littleton; treasurer, Jane Leighninger and intra-mural sport director, Carol Brobst.

Central To Meet East, West Five To Host South

Sharing a three-way tie for second place in the City League with East are Central and West who are hoping to undo the situation somewhat in their respective Friday night encounters.

Central will engage East at the latter's home court while West will be host to South. The Cowboy quintet is the favorite in its game while the East-Central match shapes up as a close battle.

Two Teams Tie For First Place In Bantam Loop

Two teams share first place honors with identical records in the Bantam Bowling League. The Alley Cats and Bowling Stars have each won 12 games and lost four for a .750 percentage.

The Mustangs and Ten Pins round out the standings of the first three positions.

Kenny Reynolds, with a total of 240 for two games, was the individual high scorer. Dave Miller placed second with 219 and Sue Lane was third with 217 pins to her credit.

Miller took single game honors with 120. Norman McWilliams was next with 121 and Reynolds followed with 114 pins.

League members bowl on Saturday from 9 to 12 a.m. at the Hillcrest Lanes.

This is Printing Week

This is International Printing Week, marked across the nation and in Canada. It is no exaggeration to say that this is one of the most important weeks of the year to which the public attention is directed. A moment's reflection makes abundantly clear how impossible it would be to achieve, let alone to sustain, our present state of civilization without the aid of printing.

The printed word gives permanency to man's thoughts, his discoveries and his beliefs. It gives not only permanency but scope, so that through printing time is bridged and millions today may converse with the mind of Socrates or hear long-dead Ben Franklin discourse on the foibles of humankind.

Recipe for a Happy New Year

It is still close enough to the first of the year to make the following item worth reading. We clipped it from Aladin's Lamp.

Take twelve fine, full-grown months. See that these are thoroughly free from all old memories of bitterness, rancor, hate and jealousy. Cleanse them completely from every clinging spite; pick off all specks of pettiness and littleness; in short, see that these months are freed from all the past. Have them as fresh and clean as when they came from the great storehouse of Time. Cut these months into thirty or thirty-one equal parts. This batch will keep for just one year. Do not attempt to make up the whole batch . . . prepare just one day at a time as follows:

Into each day put twelve parts of faith, eleven of patience, nine of work (some people omit this ingredient and so spoil the flavor of the rest), eight of hope, seven of fidelity, six of liberality, five of kindness, four of rest (leaving this out is like leaving the oil out of the salad—don't do it), three of prayer, two of meditations, and one well-selected resolution.

If you have no conscientious scruples, put in a teaspoonful of good spirits, a dash of fun, a pinch of folly, and a sprinkle of play and a cupful of good humor.

Pour into the whole a lot of love, and mix it with a vim. Cook thoroughly in a fervent heat; garnish with a few smiles, a sprig of joy; serve with quietness, unselfishness, cheerfulness—a Happy New Year is a certainty.

THIS IS THE NEW WAY to install officers of an organization, lady officers, that is. As first woman to ever head the Hilltop Business Association, Hazel Roberts was officially installed last Wednesday evening with a kiss on the cheek by installing Officer Herbert Deems. There is every indication there will be no lack of volunteers for the installing officer's job in future years as more women are elected to office.

'Must Learn To Live With Size' - - Fawcett

"If you can keep your head amid all this confusion, you don't understand the entire situation."

That was the phrase used by Novice Fawcett, president of Ohio State University, to describe to members and guests of the Hilltop Business Association, the complexities of office continuously faced by present-day administrators of schools of higher learning.

Fawcett, was principal speaker at the annual officer installation of the association, held last Wednesday night at the Colony Restaurant. He sketched the increase in college enrollment and facilities since the land grant bill to encourage the establishment of state universities was signed in 1862 by Abraham Lincoln. He outlined the need for further expansion to meet present day and future requirements.

'Greatest Need, Ever'

"The necessity for higher educational facilities was never so apparent as it is at the present" he said. "We have only to return to the beginning of the present century to learn that only

MHA Eyes Site Near School Land

Public housing for older citizens may be built on a West Side tract of land adjacent to Columbus State School, it was revealed Monday night before City Council by Harry Drake of the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority.

The announcement was brought to light by a request by the Southworth Poultry Company, 1516 Sullivant-av, to have the area in question rezoned for manufacturing to permit it to construct a warehouse and parking lot on [illegible] two lots north of its plant.

Drake said he made the disclosure in view of the possibility that some of the land might be zoned for manufacturing. He added that about 30 acres roughly between Central-av, Sullivant-av and a crooked corner of the State School property are under study for the older citizens project.

This area would be used for cottage-type housing rather than for the high-rise apartments earlier proposed for Sunshine Park. Drake said he does not know how many units could be built on the West Side property.

Proposed boundaries of the area in question are Ryan-av on the west, Guilford-av on the east, the alley north of Sullivant on the south and state property on the north.

Council turned down the Southworth request for rezoning, as it had been advised to do by the City Planning Commission.

Great Western Store Is Third For Kay Jewelers' Mellion

A Columbusite since 1955, Stanley J. Mellion, manager of Kay Jewelers, Great Western Shoppers Mart, says he prefers this city to any other that he has lived in because of its "friendliness."

Mellion came to Columbus when the jewelry firm opened its branch store at Great Western. He had previously been manager of a Kay store in Indianapolis and before that in Louisville, Ky.

This store, said Mellion, is the most modern and best equipped in which he has worked. "Although we handle a fine and complete line of diamonds and watches," added Mellion, "our specialty is service!" The manager is especially proud to be retailing the new "Multi-Facet" diamonds.

Stanley J. Mellion

Born in Providence, R.I., Mellion's education includes attendance at the New York University and Parson's School of Design. He started his career as a commercial artist and had his own studio in New York City.

When he married a native Louisville girl he took a position in the advertising department of the Louisville Courier Journal. He later switched his employment to the jewelry firm.

Mellion and his wife, Maryan, now reside at 1089 Country Club-rd with their two children, a daughter, six years old, and a son, [illegible].

His hobbies include bowling, oil painting and woodworking. Mellion is also active in the HBA, Great Western Businessmen's Association, B'nai B'rith, and Community Center projects.

PLANNERS DISAGREE

Say Freeway Should Connect Mound-Sandusky Interchange

The much-tossed-around West Freeway still seems to be very much "up-in-the-air" regarding its proposed route and into which of the city's growing number of interchanges it will empty.

The Franklin County Regional Planning Commission Friday recommended further study on the route of the West Freeway of the Columbus Expressway system by consulting engineers.

Recommendations of the engineering firm of Praeger-Kavanaugh of New York City were discounted by local planners regarding both the route of the freeway and its emptying into the Spring-Sandusky interchange.

They said they believe the Mound-Sandusky interchange could handle the freeway traffic better than the Spring-Sandusky which will be overcrowded and would have to be improved to provide wider approaches.

Mott Suggests Changes

Robert Mott, expressway coordinator and executive secretary of the Development Committee, has outlined other possible additions and changes suggested for the West Freeway.

They included: (1) an interchange at Hilliards-New Rome-rd, (2) possible linking of Route 33 with the freeway at a point between Fifth-av and Grandview-av, or connecting Grandview-av to the thoroughfare, (3) movement of the proposed interchange at Hague-av and Fisher-rd a few hundred feet north or south to avoid possible traffic congestion, (4) re-study of a proposal to build the freeway three lanes wide in each direction outside the outerbelt; and two lanes within.

City Planning Commission and the Columbus Development Committee made the recommendations at the invitation of the State Highway Dept.

During 1957, a total of 128 rural young people lived in rural homes in more than forty countries throughout the free world as International Farm Youth Exchange delegates.

Prosecutor Mum On Legal Status Of Franklin Twp.

An attempt to clarify the status of Franklin Township produced no results last week when County Prosecutor said his office would take no additional action pending litigation.

The statement came in reply to a letter sent by Paul Wichterman, township clerk, asking whether annexation petitions filed after incorporation request in April, 1954, were voided by the recent supreme court ruling.

Besides questioning the legality of the petitions, the trustees also asked whether Columbus Service Director Floyd C. Redick was within his rights when he accepted annexation areas by proxy for Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner, on Dec. 31, 1956.

In reply to other questions, the prosecutor's office stated that there is no court order stopping the county auditor from transferring annexed areas in Franklin Township to municipalities and that the trustees may retain private counsel if they desire.

Tavern's Safe Containing $400 Taken By Burglars

During this past weekend burglars took a stroll through Polly's Tavern, 3430 Sullivant-av, picking up a safe along the way.

The intruders smashed the lock on the front door to enter the building. They rolled the safe containing about $400 out of the back door to a waiting vehicle, reported police, Sunday.

Firm and Community Growth Boosted By Ternstedt Plant

Ternstedt plant at 200 Georgesville-rd, played an important role in General Motors' production and industrial growth during 1957, Paul L. Jones, resident manager, said this week.

As GM began its 50th year of continuous operations, Jones revealed that a total payroll of $27,750,000 was received by 4,382 employes. General Motors made substantial contributions to other businesses through extensive local purchasing, he said. 1957 expenditures to more than 450 Columbus area firms totaled about $6,129,215. Major expenses were transportation and utilities.

Purchases of U. S. Savings Bonds through the payroll deduction plan and other programs continued high during the past year as 1,801 employes invested $674,381.25.

Suggestion awards amounting to $23,830 were paid to 516 employes for ideas submitted through the General Motors Suggestion Plan.

Commissioners To Hear Appeal For Skating Rink

Fate of a proposal to build a skating rink on the south side of Fisher-rd, just west of Hague-av may hinge on the outcome of a zoning appeal before county commissioners Jan. 28.

The application for a change in the zoning of the tract, from residential to a commercial district was filed by Dallis Malloy, 170 S. Richardson-av, through her agent, Lee May. The Rural Zoning Commission disapproved the request Dec. 12.

Final hearing will be held at 10 a.m., Jan. 29, in the commissioners' hearing room of the court house.

Firemen reported Thursday afternoon that a rubbish fire ignited the garage of Dr. J. W. Porterfield, in the rear of 730 S. Roys-av. Damage was unofficially estimated at $1000 to the one-story building and $150 to its contents.

Albers' Fire Damage May Hit $100,000

Arthur J. Scherer, general manager of Albers' Columbus division, has estimated the grocery firm's Central Point store loss at between $50,000 and $100,000. He said a more accurate figure could be supplied only when a store of comparable size was refitted and restocked.

The fire which swept through the building's interior early last Wednesday morning is still of undetermined cause.

Although the store's walls and roof are still in place, damage to the interior was reported by officials of the Don Casto Company, owner, at more than $10,000.

Store Manager Victor Halley said very little of the supermarket's stock appears to be salvagable.

Besides battling the fire and intense smoke, firemen were also kept busy sanding and salting Mound-st where water caused a sheet of ice in the street filled with early morning rush-hour traffic.

Scioto Blvd. To Be Closed Three Weeks, Says Elbin

County Engineer Guy T. Elbin announced Friday that Scioto blvd. between Mound-st and Greenlawn-av, will be closed for about three weeks beginning Jan. 15.

The road closing is necessary to install drainage facilities for the Mound-Sandusky interchange, said Elbin.

These are four important points to consider when you buy a home. First, the PRICE should be in keeping with your income. The pleasure of home ownership can be dimmed by monthly payments that are too high! Next, the type of LOAN you select should bring you as quickly as possible to full ownership of your home. The ACCOMODATIONS should not only be adequate for your family's needs now, but should provide for future comfort, too. The NEIGHBORHOOD should be convenient to schools, churches, transportation and stores.

This week, stop in and talk over your HOME BUYING PLANS with a friendly, experienced Buckeye Home Loan Counselor. He'll be glad to help you find just the right PLAN for your needs.

For Your Thoughts

Question: How do you feel about capital punishment?"

Walter Whitmer, 436 S. Terrace-av: "I think it is necessary because it acts as a deterrent to crime. It would be good if it could be abolished but as long as the crime rate is as large as it is, I think it is impossible to do away with it!"

Mrs. George W. Tyler, 344 Belvidere-av: "I think it depends on the case involved, but on the whole I really don't approve of capital punishment. If we had more trained personnel available I believe it would be better to try and rehabilitate a criminal and that's impossible after they're dead!"

Mrs. Gerald Rush, 112 N. Hague-av: "I don't believe in it—I think there are much better ways of dealing with criminals. It seems to me it would be much better to take the time to try to straighten the accused's ways than to take the easy way out and give him the electric chair."

Mrs. Donald R. Phillips, 669 Belvidere: "I don't approve of it at all because I think a person will pay for his crimes in the end anyway. If not on earth, then some place else. I believe it would be more and better punishment to let a criminal linger in jail for life than to take his life which I'm not sure the state has the right to do!"

Mrs. Albert Poco, 1460 Sullivant-av: "Well, I've been on jury duty recently and from what I learned, I believe capital punishment should depend on the case and the person accused. I don't think there should be a hard and fast rule either for it or against."

ONLY TRUST JESUS

Is your heart heavy and ready to [illegible]?
Do you feel lonely and sad?
Are you so weary of life you could die!
Would you give anything you had
To be happy again; carefree again;
Light-hearted and gay, as you were long ago?
Then trust in Jesus to carry your load
And your joys will all overflow.
Do you not know how you'll live through the day?
Do the nights seem too lonely and long?
Does your heart ache for companionship;
Do you weep for your youth that is gone?
Just be happy again; carefree again;
Light-hearted and gay, as you were long ago.
Just trust in Jesus to carry your load,
And troubles you'll no longer [illegible]

Far be it from me to give recipes and household hints, but here are a few that came from Belgium. A friend there says the recipes are popular there; some of them sound good.

Sandwich fillings: cottage cheese, blended with honey; ground raisins and chopped nut meats, moistened with fruit juice; raw carrots, ground, mixed with hard cooked eggs and salad dressing; mashed sardines, hard cooked eggs and sour cream; grated cheese and olives.

She says they also like nutmeg on creamed spinach but not oysters in milk—our oyster stew. Everyone to his own taste, I suppose.

Mail—"All the Christmas cards put away and the pine needles swept up and the ornaments down? I used to keep our Christmas candles in the icebox so they wouldn't melt in the summer heat, but the year's accumulation finally left no room for food, so we now wrap them in aluminum foil and they keep fine."

"How did you like the Marian Anderson program? We thought it most impressive, and we have doubled our admiration and respect for her, and for Edward R. Murrow, for putting on the program" . . . From a teen-ager: "If the Reds are so brilliant why don't they take a trip to the moon, and stay there?" . . . "The vacation lists will soon be circulated in our office, so can spring be far behind?"

From my favorite shut-in: "There the talk is all about skiing on Lake Placid, rather near it. It is beautiful in up-state New York now, but it is cold. About every other car that passes has skis and tobaggans tied to the sides, and red mittens wave."

I had a chance to see a school girl's autograph album recently. They haven't changed much since I went to school, which wasn't exactly yesterday! I even saw a "roses are red, violets are blue" verse, though it had been altered a bit. Most of the verses lack sentiment which was more prevalent in my day of autograph albums.

IT'S A DARNER

Sure it's chilly these winter mornings—but don't kill yourself trying to get warm. The Safety Council of The Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce says — don't run your car's engine in a closed garage. Automobile exhaust fumes are odorless, colorless, and poisonous. So, keep those garage doors open—let that life saving fresh air in.

Mothers, the rainy season is coming! Why not make rainy days real fun for your indoor entertainment from books at your Columbus Public Library?

Victory Gives Fluharts Tie For Top Spot

Fluhart's Insurance basketball team finished up the first round of the Starling "A" League by defeating Buck's Auto Supply 63 to 50 this week. The victory left Fluharts tied with Lanatas for the first round title.

Tom Edgar led Fluharts' scoring with 13 points, but was closely followed by Jim Shifflette and Warren Pemberton with 12 each.

Thursday at Mohawk the insurance men smothered Necco 87 to 51. Pemberton and Bob Courtney led all scorers that night with 23 and 22 points respectively.

This week Fluharts meet the very strong Roy's Drive-In quintet in both leagues. These contests could have definite bearing on the outcome of the second round championships.

CCS Gives Retarded Students Emergency Classroom Space

Six classrooms of pupils from the fire-damaged Mt. Vernon Avenue School for Retarded Children have found temporary quarters at the Columbus State School.

Dr. Wendell A. Butcher, Columbus State School superintendent, made the offer to the Council for Retarded Children within 24 hours after the two-alarm blaze last Monday. The fire caused fire prevention and building inspectors to prohibit further use of the ancient school unless extensive renovations are made. Classes at the W. Broad-st site began Monday, under the temporary setup.

"The generous offer made by the Columbus State School has certainly helped us cope with the present emergency," W. C. Simmons, CRC president, said.

"The fire left us with a school staff, bus drivers, buses and all of the facilities except a school building," the CRC head declared.

"The State School had to double up and rearrange their schedule to accommodate us," Simmons added. "We can't thank them enough for their hospitality."

Ousted from a 70-year-old school building, probably never to return, the six classes moved into a 90-year-old structure at the W. Broad-st institution. Their return to the dilapidated Mt. Vernon-av address depends upon a decision to be rendered by the Columbus Board of Education. As the school's owner, having loaned the building to the non-profit organization in 1956, the Columbus Board of Education will weigh the cost of repair and remodeling.

Plans Await Cost Estimate

Columbus School Superintendent Harold H. Eibling said a cost estimate has not been completed, but added: "If requirements are moderate we'll probably repair. If it's an extensive remodeling job, we would question putting a big amount of money into it."

An offer of eight Sunday School rooms, made by the Indianola Presbyterian Church, has been accepted for use as temporary classrooms by the CRC and fills the immediate needs of the council of finding emergency facilities for the 161 pupils enrolled in their school.

Next step, CRC officials say, will be to locate permanent quarters for their students. Just before the fire, the council had been harboring hopes of expanding the school to care for even more of the 700 Franklin County youngsters who suffer from mental retardation. Children of school age with an I.Q. of less than 50 are excluded by law from the public schools because of their slower ability to learn.

"Now we have to raise our sights even higher," CRC president Simmons said.

Copper Enamel Jewelry Shown

An exhibit of copper enameling, organized and arranged by John Hopkins and Dora Rosenfeld, is on display at the Hilltop Branch Library.

Miscellaneous pieces of jewelry, made by students of Arts and Crafts Center, Parsons and Oakst, by sifting powdered glass upon cleaned copped and melting in a kiln, are displayed. Techniques shown include cloisonne, Scraffito and stencil.

Exhibitors are Mrs. George Dyer, John Hopkins, Mrs. Natalie B. Doyle, Mrs. Violet Polihronopolas, Mrs. Violet Wiley, Mrs. Ray O'Conner and Miss Edith Jones.

Hikers To Visit Old Mill Jan. 19

Hikemaster Dale Miller and his assistant, Jack Jeffs, will lead Central Ohio Hiking Club on its next outing, Jan. 19 along the Hocking River in the vicinity of Greencastle.

It will follow the sides of a gorge for a short way, wind through a forest and finally end up at the old mill where the hike started. Following the hike all hikers will enjoy dinner at an inexpensive restaurant in Canal Winchester.

All adults are welcome. The group will meet at the YMCA at 1:30 p.m. and will travel by charter bus to the starting point of the hike.

The Department of Agriculture reports that the farmer today gets about 40 cents of each dollar spent for food at retail. The farmer's share has gone down each year since 1950.

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Hunters Don't Harm Grouse Population

I have just returned from hunting grouse in southern Ohio, and I have greenbriar scratches on my hands to prove it.

Lou Eakin, London-Groveport-rd, was along on this hunt, and after five and a half hours of hard hunting no one had shot a bird. I asked Lou, a farmer, why he didn't care to hunt pheasants on his own place, yet would climb over Lawrence County hills like a mountain goat in the hope of downing a ruffed grouse. Lou answered, "I don't know, except that I just like to hunt ducks and grouse."

Grouse hunting is more an affliction than a sport, and those who get "bitten" can't really explain the attraction. But we always come back for more.

After other hunting parties returned we determined that 13 men had hunted a total of 65-man hours, and had bagged three grouse. We were tired and rather dejected, but grouse hunters must be philosophic. Every one had seen, and shot at grouse. In fact, the group had moved 97 birds during the day. We didn't see 97 different birds, for a few were flushed more than once. We had 97 flushes—supposedly 97 opportunities to bag a grouse.

Is Exasperating Sport

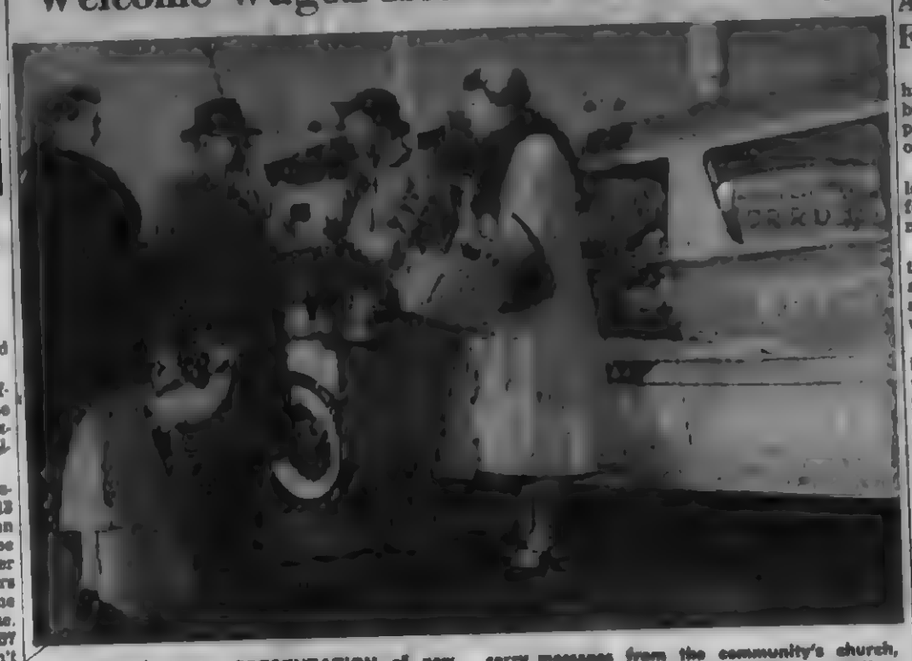
Grouse hunters do not offer apologies, so I won't start here. We just invite you to try it yourself. To show you how exasperating the sport is, all three were shot by one man. Mike Griffith, hunting with his father, shot his limit, and 12 other hunters shot nary a bird. Three of the other parties had well-trained bird dogs and still no grouse in the bag.

If you like tough odds, and count a day successful if you see game whether you shoot any or not, then you should try grouse hunting. There is still time before the season runs out on Jan. 31. You'll have a pleasant day afield, for the forests won't be crowded. I'll even bet you a dollar that you can hunt all day without seeing another party.

A few sportsmen thought that the grouse season should not be lengthened several years ago when the Wildlife Council began stretching it out. Now we have a three-and-a-half month open season probably the longest in the United States. Ohio hunters are lucky to have this hunting opportunity.

Kill 'Not As Important'

When the bag limit was upped to three birds a day, again some concern was expressed by the hunting fraternity. I know a lot of hunters who would be happy if they could limit out on grouse once every two or three years. The hunter harvest is not as important in controlling grouse populations as we once thought. It seems that the gun has very little effect on them at all.



Grouse are birds of the hill section of Ohio. Once you get into the hills of Ross County you are in grouse territory, and it extends to the Ohio River. Many deer hunters remarked this year on the number of grouse they saw in Vinton and Hocking Counties. There are many public hunting areas in the hill counties, and permission to hunt on private land is easy to obtain in this forested section.

It is usually best to hunt in small parties—two or three hunters. Work up the hollows and if you don't find any grouse, try the ridges. Sunny slopes are good on cold days. Also, hunt the pine thickets.

If you work through the thickest cover you can find, then you know you're hunting in the right places. You will have to shoot fast, and don't wait for a clear shot or you won't fire a shell all season. I use brush loads, which are made especially for use in thick cover. They are loaded with number 8 shot, and the shot scatters much more than in an ordinary shell. Many hunters use 7½ shot in a low velocity shell.

When you bag three grouse in a day let me know, and I'll help you celebrate. Until then we'll compare greenbriar scratches.

WORLD FOOD SITUATION

"Over all 1958 will be a good eating year." You've probably read or heard this many times during the last two weeks. There's no intention here to cast any shadows on the bright New Year, but we can more fully appreciate our bountiful food markets by taking a look at how the rest of the world eats.

Most of us in this country are mainly concerned with two problems when we go to the food store. We must select items for which we have enough money to pay — the number one problem for many. For those not plagued by this necessity, the main problem is choosing between the thousands of items available.

To millions of people in other countries of the world "these problems" seem trifling, in light of a recent report by Dr. R. W. Sherman, agricultural economist, O.S.U. Dr. Sherman points out that the world population has grown more rapidly than food production during the last 20 years. This seems strange to us in the United States where "surpluses" have burdened our economy during the same period.

ARE WE MAKING PROGRESS?

Country by country, world food production progress shows considerable variation. Some small countries, such as Thailand, have increased production by nearly 40 per cent per capita since 1935. But the contribution of these isolated areas has only a minute effect on the world situation. Most of the countries where food shortages were a major problem 20 years ago have made little progress in solving the problem.

WILL OUR SURPLUSES HELP?

Less than six per cent of the world food production enters world trade. This is due mainly to the fact that nations with food shortages are too poor to buy very much. Countries with surpluses, like our own, can sell only limited quantities to such nations and are, therefore, unable to help them substantially. Dr. Sherman says that until productivity increases in the food-shortage countries, their problem seems hopeless.

This situation is the reason for the significance of the "Point Four Program" through which this country lends help to such needy countries by sending trained agricultural specialists, research workers, and teachers to help those other nations learn to produce more and better food for themselves.

BEEP CONTROL

Winter driving is different! City streets are often slippery, and it gets dark a lot earlier. So, easy does it on turns. And if you start skidding, remember to turn into the skid to regain control of the car. At twilight turn on those headlights— see danger and avoid it.

Make slits in the fat around the edges of steaks and chops before broiling and the meat will lie flat.

Meetings Planned For Discussion Of Scout Week

Two meetings of importance to scouters in this area have been scheduled for January. The monthly roundtable of all Southwest District unit leaders will be held at Westgate Methodist Church, 345 S. Brinker-av, Wednesday, Jan. 15, 7:30 p.m.

Southwest district administrative committee meeting will be held at the Ohio National Bank, Great Western Shoppers' Mart, Monday, Jan. 20, 7:30 p.m.

Robert G. Meade, district scout executive of the Southwest area, said observances of National Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13, will be planned at both meetings. The Boy Scout theme for 1958, "Health and Safety", will also be discussed, added Meade.

PREVENT WINTER ACCIDENTS

Wintertime is fun for most boys and girls. But the Safety Council of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce says you should never use your sled in any open street where there might be automobiles. Remember, if it's slippery enough for sleds, it's slippery enough for cars to skid and get out of control.

To keep dried fruits or nuts from sinking to the bottom of the pan during baking, cover them with flour (by shaking in a paper sack) before adding to cake batter.

Insurance Firm Announces New Family Coverage

Nationwide Insurance company has come up with a new automobile coverage that provides a simplified answer to a complex and often controversial problem:

The old problem: Who is entitled to payment—and how much—for injuries suffered in an automobile accident?

The new answer: Pay everyone that's hurt—up to $2,000 per person—regardless of the circumstances of the accident or who was at fault.

Called "Family Compensation," it's basically an expansion of what was commonly known as "medical payment." But it's been broadened to afford greater protection to the policyholder and his family—whether as drivers of any car, passengers in any car, or as pedestrians.

In a two-car accident, for example, the injured persons in both cars are offered immediate compensation if either car (or driver) is covered by "Family Compensation." These benefits are available to all injured persons, regardless of which driver was at fault. There is no need to establish liability.

Announcing details of the unique coverage are the following agents: W. Leon Ramage, 158 Haldy-av; David W. Rader, 18 W. Main-st, Hilliards; and Clyde Major and Harold A. Waits of Central Point Shopping Center.

Meat output for the first 10 months of 1957 was three per cent below that of a year ago, according to Ohio State University Extension economists.

New Sullivant-av Armory Nears Completion

MILITARY INSPECTION of the new Sullivant Avenue Armory took place last Wednesday as construction passed the half-way mark. Military regulations require that a building must be inspected periodically during construction. Here, George P. Guthrie, left, of the Chief Engineer Division, Adjutant General's Dept., and Colonel Raymond Strasburger, USAF, a property and fiscal officer of the Federal government, give their okay to the armory's construction so far.

HEARING COMPLETION—Columbus' $400,000 West Side Armory is over the half-way mark construction-wise. Hopes are high for occupancy by July. The unit is being built on a 4.12-acre tract along Sullivant-av donated to the state by Ternstedt Division of General Motors. When completed the building will be used by five National Guard units as well as other groups not determined as yet. The installation includes a headquarters, spacious kitchens, a gym-auditorium and a large parking lot. It will be available for community activities.

Hilltop Library's New Art Exhibit Features Felines

An art collection featuring cats is now on display at the Hilltop Branch Library.

Robert M. Gatrell and Marion L. Gatrell, professors in the School of Fine and Applied Arts, Ohio State University, are exhibiting a group of serigraphs, lithographs and wood block prints of the feline family.

Marion Gatrell has gained a considerable reputation for her sensitive interpretations of cat motifs in the serigraph medium. She has exhibited widely throughout the state and in the East. Her work is represented in the collections of University High School, Hillel Foundation, Otterbein College, Steubenville College, Butler Museum, and many private collections, reports Mary Elizabeth Keyes, librarian.

Robert Gatrell is primarily a painter but is also keenly interested in the fine arts graphics. He was instrumental in introducing a course in graphics in the School of Fine and Applied Arts.

He has exhibited in most of the national print shows and is represented in various museums and private collections.

The exhibit may be viewed during library hours, from 1 to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturdays.

For the Mohawk team, Brown was high scorer with 15 points.

Metal kitchen-cabinet doors serve double duty as bulletin boards when small magnets are used to "pin" recipes, notes and bills to them. Just hold papers against the metal surface and place a magnet on top of them.

Use eggs warmed to room temperature for recipes that call for beaten eggs. Warm eggs give more volume when beaten. But when you want to separate the yolk from the white of the egg the job is easier with a chilled egg.

one of 19 young men went beyond the high school level in his formal education. There were 22,600 students at Ohio State University at the beginning of the fall quarter. We can foresee within our time enrollments of 70,000, 80,000 or even 90,000."

The OSU president assured his listeners that while these figures may seem large "we will learn to live with size." The administrative tasks of such a university would not be too difficult if the proper groundwork were laid and an intensive program followed to insure success.

First of all, he said, is the necessary physical plant, and pointed to several current building projects which will serve both students and members of the faculty. "And of major importance is an alumni which is sensitive to the ever changing needs of the university. It is this group from which stems the hope that we may secure adequate compensation for faculty members," President Fawcett declared.

Scores Low Salaries

He deplored the low salaries now paid to college professors, stating that many students make as much in their first year after graduation as did most of their university instructors. Half of our faculty members make an average of $5,400 a year, while in Russia this group is near the top of the economic bracket with salaries of four times as much, he said.

The speaker warned, however, of permitting federal bureaucracy to get a foothold in our schools to any greater degree than it already has. "We have here in Ohio the ways and means to do the job ourselves, and we should see to it that we retain control over our own educational facilities," he added.

An intangible component to the success of the university is the stimulus and guidance which may be given potential intellects and provision for study in professional and graduate colleges, President Fawcett said. He also stressed the development of local scholarships as being of tremendous aid.

He concluded his talk by saying: "Of one thing I am sure: We will be able to accomplish in the future what we adults are too tired now to try."

J. A. Braden, works manager of Termstedt Division of General Motors Corporation, and a member of the HBA, served as master of ceremonies at the affair. Herbert Deems, manager of the Hilltop office of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, was the installing officer.

Officers for 1958 are: Mrs. Hazel Roberts, president; James Holroyd, first vice-president; W. H. Coulthard, second vice-president; Roy Von Ins, treasurer; Clark Biddle, chairman of executive board; J. P. Merriman and L. B. Swinford, trustees; C. H. Campbell, executive secretary.

The roster of the HBA was increased during the evening when the proprietors of three Hilltop businesses became members. They were O. D. Smith, Smith's Beauty Salon, 2417 W. Broad-st; Ezekiel B. Young, Love Bros. Paint Co., 2007 Sullivant-av, and J. E. Smith, Smith's Frozen Food Center, 2008 Sullivant-av.

New Language, Customs, Schools Are Challenge To Cohrs Family

By Ray Shaffer

Cornelia and Victoria Cohrs, five and 12 years old respectively, both faced a thrilling new experience Jan. 6 when they got their first glimpse of an American schoolroom. The German girls, who are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Derrick Cohrs, 618 Nashobe-av, only know a few words of English.

Vicki has had no trouble at all because she was lucky enough to have a teacher who can speak German. She is in the sixth grade class of Lois Ludwig at West Mound Street Elementary School. Connie, who is in kindergarten at the same school, is conversing with her teacher, Martha Permar, by way of drawings on the blackboard.

Derrick, who was born in Germany but became an American citizen shortly after World War II, brought his German family to this country last October.

The girls seem to be learning much about the American language from television as is their mother, Rose Marie, who has led a sparkling and adventurous life as a journalist in Germany. She is now striving to perfect her English so she can continue to write in this country.

Rose Marie was born in Silesia, Eastern Germany, which is now under the Polish government. After high school she attended a university to study journalism and on to an art school to study illustration.

Rose Marie worked for a local newspaper for several years and later went on to Berlin where she joined the staff of a large newspaper. In this job she was given a chance to display not only her writing ability but also her capacity for art by illustrating her own stories.

Was Foreign Correspondent

During the war she joined the Foreign Press Club and worked as a foreign correspondent for newspapers published in Norway, Sweden and Switzerland.

Rose Marie was lucky enough not to be in the Russian sector when the Communists took over Eastern Germany. Because of her mother's serious illness, however, she had to return to the Russian zone. She traveled 300 miles in eight days on foot. Rose Marie said she wasn't able to find food or a place to sleep because all of the towns had been bombed and burned.

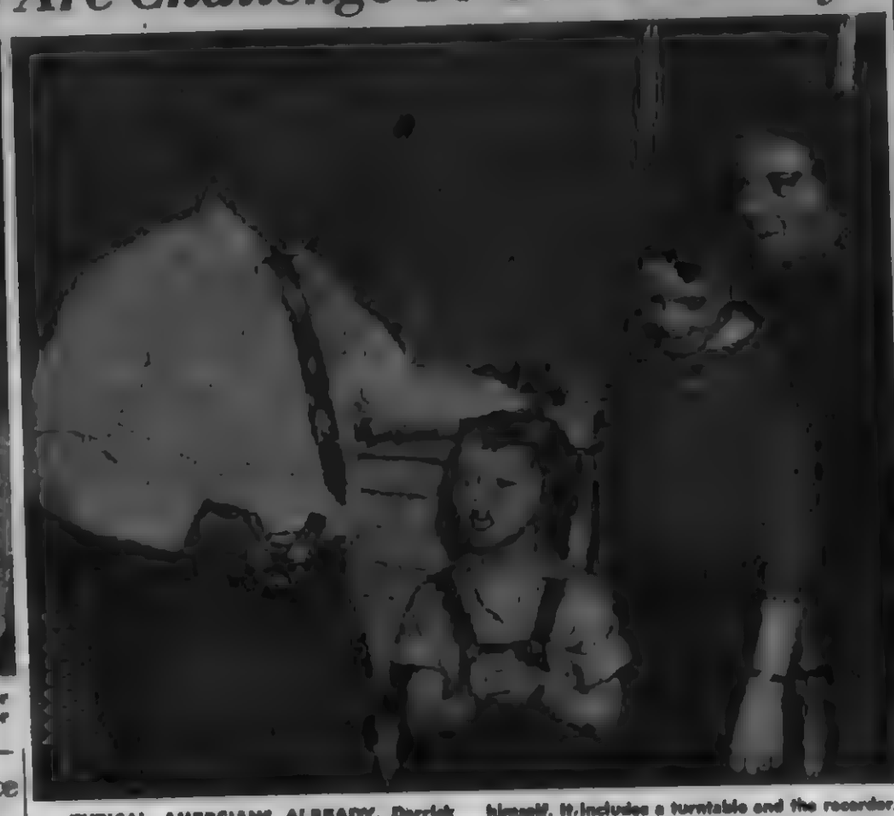
After this nightmare journey, she reached her mother, stayed with her during her illness and continued to live there for several years. Rose Marie went on with her writing and wrote and illustrated a book for children. The Russians refused her permission to publish it, however, because she had not filled it with communist ideas and propaganda.

A woman who loves writing, Rose Marie escaped the Iron Curtain and moved to Western Germany where she began writing for a Christian newspaper. Later she was appointed editor of the firm newspaper of Massey-Ferguson, a farm implement company with branches in all parts of the world.

She met and married Derrick, who was and is now employed by the same firm. On their vacation they traveled through most of free Europe and have filled their home with many beautiful furnishings collected from many European countries. Further reflecting their love for America, the Cohrs are the proud owners of a 300-year-old Dutch map of America before it had been divided into states.

Derrick was brought back to America last year to work as a salesman for the Massey-Ferguson Columbus branch. Rose Marie is thrilled with her new homeland and writes to her father-in-law in western Germany weekly describing the wonders of the United States as she finds them. He intends to edit and publish the letters to give his fellow countrymen an insight on American life as lived by a native German girl.

Confused at Christmas



Rose Marie's first Christmas in America proved rather confusing on one point. Used to candles rather than electric lights on a Christmas tree, she sent to Germany for candle holders, which didn't arrive in time for the holidays. She was forced to buy electric lights but requested all white bulbs of the merchant to most nearly simulate candle light. The baffled merchant said, "lady, are you sure you want all white lights? I've never seen a Christmas tree that had just white bulbs!" She knew what she wanted, however, and had him change the colored bulbs for white ones!

Rose Marie, who wants to become an American citizen said she wants to learn to speak and write English well because she longs for that familiar smell of printer's ink!

Derrick, who is an excellent woodworker, is now busy building a sports car from two Corvettes that were damaged in accidents. Rose Marie plans to use the car next summer and take her daughters on a tour of the United States.

LETTERS ABOUT AMERICA "blossom" from this typewriter each week at the hand of Mrs. Derrick Cohrs who describes her new life to German relatives.

TYPICAL AMERICANS ALREADY, Derrick and Rose Marie Cohrs and their daughters, Connie 5, and Vicki, 12, enjoy "hamming-it-up" with their tape recorder. Derrick built his hi-fi outfit himself. It includes a turntable and the recorder. Derrick said hi-fi is just "catching-on" in Germany but it is so expensive that few can afford it.

ATTENTION, DOG OWNERS!

Less than a week remains to get a 1958 license for your dog. With only a small portion of the county's estimated 42,000 dogs licensed so far, the Humane Society of Columbus urges all dog owners to obtain their dog licenses before the deadline date of Jan. 20. After this date a penalty is added.

For those unable to get to the court house, County Auditor Fred C. Dunn will mail licenses on receipt of an application giving a full description of the dog as to breed, sex, age, color and markings. It must be accompanied by the correct amount for the tag and a stamped, self-addressed return envelope. Price of the dog license is $2 for a male, spayed female or female dog, and $10 for a kennel license.

Recreation Officials See Need For Thinking Ahead Here

The Hilltop Record

10c Per Copy | 40 Years Of Continuous Community Service | BR. 9-9444

Vol. XLI, No. 40 | THE HILLTOP, COLUMBUS 4, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 22, 1958 | Total No. 2600

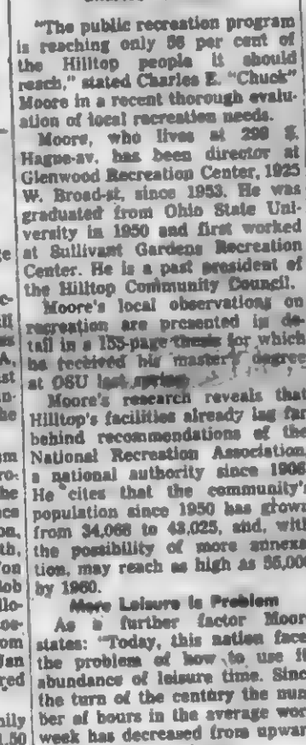
Call For Added Facilities To Meet Population Spurt

How is the Hilltop affected most in the city's capital improvements bond issue proposals . . . which may reach as high as $15½ million by the time they are placed before the voters next November? From present appearances, more recreation facilities seem to top the local list.

As announced several days ago the city hopes to secure money to build new city garages, an incinerator or two and possibly a sewage treatment plant for the southeast. There are in addition to already-established requests for permanent improvements for police, parks and forestry, recreation, and the zoo. The bonds, according to M. D. Portman, the mayor's budget chief, could likely be paid off with city income tax money.

The City Recreation Department, under N. J. Barack, is asking for $2,975,000 for new and improved facilities. Barack indicated to the Hilltop Record that a sizeable part of this figure is considered for Hilltop needs.

Westgate Center Important



The recreation chief specified that a $365,000 recreation center is needed immediately in Westgate Park area. In addition, he said, $150,000 is needed for additional equipment and modernization (night lighting) of city playgrounds. High in the department's hopes also is a $100,000 swimming pool, presumably for the Westgate area.

Coupled with the problem of lack of facilities, Barack reemphasized statements made last year to city council. "It is the responsibility of the city to keep good personnel in our recreation centers," he said. He cited low salaries as cause for much turnover in the department. "At Whetstone Park last year we had a complete turnover of 16 persons," he complained.

Other funds should be set aside for additional lands in areas where the fastest population growth is anticipated, he said. Areas south of Mound and Sullivant to the west and northwest of Jean Heights, are examples.

The latest step in providing more park and recreation space was the allotment of about one-fourth of the new 16-acre Hilltop Community Center on Valleyview dr to that purpose.

Area Lagging, Moore States In OSU Thesis

Charles E. Moore

"The public recreation program is reaching only 36 per cent of the Hilltop people it should reach," stated Charles E. "Chuck" Moore in a recent thorough evaluation of local recreation needs.

Moore, who lives at 290 S. Hague-av, has been director at Glenwood Recreation Center, 1925 W. Broad-st, since 1953. He was graduated from Ohio State University in 1950 and first worked at Sullivant Gardens Recreation Center. He is a past president of the Hilltop Community Council.

Moore's local observations on recreation are presented in detail in a 155-page thesis for which he received his master's degree at OSU last spring.

Moore's research reveals that Hilltop's facilities already lag far behind recommendations of the National Recreation Association, a national authority since 1906. He cites that the community's population since 1950 has grown from 34,068 to 43,025, and, with the possibility of more annexation, may reach as high as 55,000 by 1960.

More Leisure Is Problem

As a further factor Moore states: "Today, this nation faces the problem of how to use its abundance of leisure time. Since the turn of the century the number of hours in the average work week has decreased from upward of 65 hours to 40 hours.

"Now that we are at the dawn of the atomic era, there is a strong indication that we are fast approaching the 35-hour week—

Manor Sells For 'Cool' $7.5 Million

M. Shapiro and Son Inc., a real estate investment firm of White Plains, N. Y., became the new owner of the 868-apartment Westgate Manor and Shopping Center Friday for the reported sum of $7.5 million.

The three-year-old project, located in the 3600 block of Sullivant-av, was sold by Eugene Lebowitz of Pittsburgh, and Allen D. Keller of Elwood City, Pa. The development, which occupies 51 acres, was acquired by a Pittsburgh syndicate in May for a price reported at near $7 million.

The Presidential Management Corporation, also of White Plains, will manage the project for the Shapiro firm. The management firm announces that no changes in operation or personnel of the apartments or shopping center have been planned.

The Spectator

By C.C. Hartley

How Are We To Observe Sunday?

We are living in a rapidly changing world . . . one that should cause us to stop and reflect . . . where are we going?

In the accompanying hurry and bustle our economy has been changed to the place where we commonly refer to our status quo as that of "dog eat dog."

In the hurry and scurry to do more business or at least jockey for a better business position there has been an increasing number of businesses in recent years that are keeping their stores open almost around the clock and on Sundays, too.

And so it is something like a breath of spring to have someone come forth with a suggestion that we should become concerned with the commercialization of Sunday.

City council will soon receive an ordinance calling for discontinuance of Sunday real estate sales and showing of homes for sale.

In talking with real estate men throughout the city we find that this proposal is generally a popular one and one they will support. It is sincerely hoped that council will see fit to lend its support to this legislation immediately.

It is regrettable that such a program cannot be brought about by the means of a gentlemen's agreement. It is hoped that other lines of business may take the matter of Sunday observance under consideration and take steps to see that "the first day of the week" takes its proper place.

George Matson Passes

The community lost another good friend and neighbor with the death this past week of George Matson.

Many will remember him as the owner and operator of the old Matsonia Restaurant now known as the Colony. He later erected many buildings throughout the city and served as Franklin County Commissioner.

George was a civic minded individual and a very active member of the Hilltop Business Association for many years. He contributed much to worthwhile civic endeavors in this community and throughout the city.

George W. Matson

George W. Matson, 32 Orel-av, retired contractor and former county commissioner, died Jan. 18 in Mt. Carmel Hospital of a coronary thrombosis. He would have been 72 Monday.

Inactive since suffering a heart attack in 1952, he died two hours after admittance to the hospital.

Mr. Matson was a charter member of Hilltop Business Association, past master of West Gate Lodge, F&AM, and a member of Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church, Knights of Pythias, Scottish Rite, Aladdin Temple of Shrine, Achbar Grotto, Moose Lodge, Bricklayers Union and Columbus Writers Club.

A native of Kentucky, Mr. Matson moved to Columbus with his family in 1901 and entered the general contracting business in 1912. Chief city building inspector from 1936 to 1940, he was then elected county commissioner in 1940 and again in 1944.

Mothers Prepare For Annual March On Polio

Chatting with polio patient Gerald Van Scoy, who had just had corrective surgery done on his right arm, are several top Mothers' March on Polio workers from this area. Left to right, they are Mrs. George McKnight, 46 Dana-av, Mrs. Hugh Smith, 37 Brehl-av, Mrs. William E. Lane, 397 S. Central-av, Mrs. George R. Hennick, 252 Nashoba-av, and Mrs. George Neibler, 789 S. Wayne-av. The women visited the respirator Center at Children's Hospital recently to see how March of Dimes funds are helping polio patients like Gerald return to normal living.

Hundreds of mothers in this community will be among the nearly 10,000 women who will visit every home in Franklin County during the annual Mothers' March on Polio, Thursday evening, Jan. 30.

Starting promptly at 7 p.m., these women will visit every home seeking money to help speed the recovery of thousands of polio victims for whom the Salk vaccine came too late. In addition to soliciting funds the women will leave a polio vaccination reminder card at each home. This card urges every member of the family under 40 years of age who has not already received the full three-shot series of polio vaccinations make arrangements with the family doctor to do so.

Women in this area who have helped organize this annual drive for polio funds include: district chairmen, Mrs. William E. Lane, 397 S. Central-av, and Mrs. John B. Roman, 3018 Crescent-dr, colonels and co-colonels and their territories — Hilltop, Mrs. Frank Watts, 92 N Ogden-av; Mrs. Paul Clark, 294 Richardson av, and Mrs. Raymond Mahoney, 230 Brinker-av, Westgate, Mrs. George Pruden, 189 S. Huron-av, and Mrs. Walter Cockran, 724 S. Binns.

According to the Mothers' March chairman the need for March of Dimes funds is as great this year as ever. Even though only six new polio cases were reported in Franklin County during 1957, more than $84,000 was needed to provide treatment for these new cases, plus more than 400 victims from earlier years who still need help. There are more than 100,000 polio patients in the United States.

Everyone is urged to turn on their porchlights to light the way for the polio volunteers Thursday, Jan. 30.

Scouts Find'um Lost Totem Pole

THEY FOUND IT BUT COULDN'T KEEP IT! Boy Scouts of Troop 89, who always manage to come up with the unusual, really hit the jackpot by discovering a "for real" totem pole that's been missing from Indian Village Camp near Griggs Dam since early last spring! They found it frozen solid in the Scioto River near the Mound-st viaduct during the week end. The authentically carved and painted totem pole, nearly 20 years old, disappeared from the "council ring" at the city-owned camp shortly after it had been repainted. Prying the pole from its bed of ice (from left) Scouts Bob Bowers, Paul Fravure, Tom Stinson, and Terry Morbitzer, Nick Barrack, city recreation director, said the totem pole will be returned to the camp where it will rest in a foundation of concrete!

Moore—

or the 30—or 35. If this use of leisure time poses a problem to people today, what will it be five, 10 or 25 years from today?"

"To add to this dilemma, our society is becoming more complex," Moore continues. "Technology, with its advantages, also brings disadvantages. The stress and strain of everyday living becomes more difficult. To bear this out, we need only consult the statistics of the incidence of mental illness of one sort or another.

"Modern man, although he has a much higher standard of living than did his forefathers, has lost many of the opportunities for those re-creative activities so vital to a rich, full, and happy life. He has the time, but he lacks an understanding of the wise use of his leisure, adequately trained recreation personnel to guide him and sufficient facilities, both in quality and quantity, to participate in a variety of recreational activities.

"While there are other public, voluntary and private agencies concerned with recreation, the public recreation department has the basic responsibility," Moore declares.

For Buildings, Equipment Only

Because the approaching bond issue concerns capital improvements (land, building, equipment only), Moore's conclusions on needed recreation personnel and programs are not given in this article.

Moore notes that the City Planning Commission has made the following recommendations for additional recreation areas on the Hilltop:

"1. A site at least 15 acres, southwest of Miriam, Demorest and Rosary annexations.

2. A site of 15 acres in Brookshire-Eureka Park vicinity.

3. A 15-acre area adjacent to the new Binns Elementary School, Binns-blvd and Briggs-rd.

4. An additional 10 acres of land at the new Hilltonia Junior High School, Mound and Highland-av (in the process of acquisition).

Moore states that according to the National Recreation Association there should be at least one acre of publicly-owned park and recreation space near at hand for each 100 of present and estimated future population. Forty per cent of this should be developed for active play.

Neighborhood playgrounds, primarily for children six to 14, should contain one acre for each 800 population and be located within a quarter and a half mile of each home. A play field, for older children and adults, from 10 to 20 acres, is desired for each community of 20,000 people.

Natural park sites such as maintained by Columbus Metropolitan Parks, are not covered in the association's scope. However, W. C. Batchelor, nationally recognized authority on recreation, recommends areas from 10 to 15 acres, none of which should be developed for organized recreation.

The National Recreation Association provided a further breakdown of accepted standards for adequate recreation facilities.

Recommendations

Moore, in concluding his thesis, has set forth the following recommendations if the Hilltop facilities are to measure up to acceptable standards:

"1. Acquisition of approximately 336 additional acres.

2. Development of six additional neighborhood playgrounds. (Two of these immediately—one at Valleyview-dr and the other in the Brookshire-Eureka vicinity. Other areas: near Binns Elementary; the extreme southwest; northwest of Joan Heights; and in the S. Powell-av vicinity between Fremont-st and Wicklow, if such land is ever available.

3. Development of five additional play fields (immediately at Valleyview and Hilltonia).

4. Acquisition of land for three 10 to 15-acre parks for other than active recreation (near Rosary Addition, Valleyview-dr and Brookshire-Eureka vicinity.

5. Further development of park areas now located at Glenwood, Holton-Glenview and Westgate (landscaping, filling and new picnic areas).

6. Construction of eight softball diamonds.

7. Reconditioning of existing softball diamonds at Holton and Hauntz playgrounds and erection of backstops at West Broad, West Mound and Burroughs Schools.

8. Construction of three regulation baseball diamonds and backstops at the three previously proposed playfields.

9. Construction of 20 asphalt tennis courts.

10. Construction of an outdoor swimming pool (at Westgate) with a capacity of 1,260 persons.

11. Construction of four archery ranges.

12. Construction of 10 lined football-soccer fields and goal posts.

13. Construction of seven hard-surfaced areas for basketball, shuffleboard and the like.

14. Construction of 20 additional horseshoe courts at existing and proposed play fields.

15. Construction of nine additional volleyball-badminton courts and reconditioning of three existing ones.

16. Development of adult facilities for roque, clock golf and bowling greens.

17. Development of areas for winter ice skating.

18. Construction of five wading pools (Hauntz, Binns, Hilltonia, Valleyview and at Brookshire-Eureka Park vicinity).

19. Development of picnic areas at three existing parks and three proposed parks.

20. Construction of outdoor theaters in existing park areas.

21. The immediate construction of a recreation center at Westgate near Wicklow-rd, between Westgate and Pearleston-ave to include a minimum of the following facilities:

a. Gym with locker and shower, serving the playfield as well as the center.

b. Auditorium with a raised and equipped stage.

c. Lounge room for reading and quiet games.

d. Arts and crafts workshop.

e. Television lounge room.

f. Game room for table tennis, shuffleboard, etc.

g. Social or playroom for group games and activities.

h. Two specialized rooms (photo darkroom, weight-lifting or workout room).

i. Five multiple-purpose or club rooms for club or non-center meetings.

22. Construction of two playground shelters, toilets, office and storage and a concrete porch at Hauntz and Holton playgrounds. (It is assumed that shelter will be made available at Binns School.)

23. Construction of two field house-playground shelters at proposed play fields at Valleyview and the Brookshire-Eureka Park area; assuming that locker and showers are made available at Hilltonia School and the proposed Westgate center.

24. The remodeling and modernization of Glenwood Center to include:

a. New fully-equipped rooms and improved showers.

b. Installation of a complete new heating and ventilating system.

c. Revamping the entire electrical and lighting system.

d. Installation of a ceiling in the gym under structural beams to provide more adequate insulation and heating.

e. Installation of heavy doors and frames at all building entrances and replacement of old type windows and frames with new-type metal windows.

25. Limited operation of two additional gymnasiums at West Broad and Burroughs Elementary Schools for after-school recreation, largely athletic, for approximately five hours per day when the gyms are not needed for other school activities."

Fluharts Win, Lose Contests

Fluhart's Insurance basketball team took the first of two games from Roy's Drive-In, 72 to 61, this week at Sterling Junior High School gym.

Jerry Swindler and Warren Pemberton led the way with 18 and 16 points, respectively.

Thursday night at Mohawk, W. Pemberton hit for 31 points in a valiant effort but it was not enough as Roy's won 68 to 53. Mike Bonahoom was also unstoppable as he hit 25 for Roy's.

This loss snapped a five-game winning streak for Fluharts. The local five will attempt to get back into the win column next week against two tough opponents, Lanatas and St. Clair A.C.

Market Owner's Zoning Request Is Turned Down

City Council has upheld the Planning Commission's decision to turn down a request to rezone to commercial use a 360-foot strip on the south side of W. Mound-st near West Mound Elementary school.

Herman H. Schulze, Jr., owner and operator of Schulze's IGA Market at 1967 W. Mound-st, requested the zoning change because he had planned to build a new grocery store and have his present business building converted into a drug store.

The drug store would have been operated by Bill Harrup, presently Cramer's Pharmacy, corner of W. Broad and Sandusky-sts. Cramer's will be razed to make way for the expressway. Harrup said the request for a zoning change will be placed before the zoning board again in a few weeks.

Janus Jumpers Didn't Show...

"They missed a barrel of fun" reported Hilltop Lions John Garber and Bill Coon, disappointed that many teenage couples didn't show up at the Lions Athletic Club's "Janus Jump" last Saturday night.

About a dozen couples, in addition to the chaperones, attended the event at General Motors Union hall.

"The intermission fun alone was worth the price of admission" said Coon. "Leo Kraus and his seven-piece band had music of all types on tap. Little Roxanne Ebner's acrobatic act with the Sherrick Studio troupe was a real hit," Coon continued, "and Bill Hageman brought plenty of laughs with his "Parson and the Bear" song.

Another dance of this type may be planned for spring.

Dr. Clasper, a native Buckeye born in Spencerville, has served as missionary in an area where native-trained leaders are more and more assuming leadership. He is a nephew of Hillcrest pastor, Rev. A. L. Roth.

An institute of missions is in progress at the church, extending over five Sundays. Visiting specialists in this field will be brought in to supplement the lay leadership active in the annual emphasis on missions.

Hilltop Pastor Urges Sunday Ban On Realty

City Council was asked Friday to prohibit real estate dealers from showing property to prospective customers on Sunday. Rev. John E. Hydinger, pastor of Hilltop English Evangelical Lutheran Church made the request.

Rev. Hydinger, also president of the Columbus Lutheran Pastors' Conference, said Saturday the requested legislation was first pointed out to him by the Columbus Board of Realtors. Members of the organization are forced to do business on Sunday by competition from others who carry on a seven-days-a-week operation, said the pastor.

Rev. Rydinger said he is giving his personal support to the proposal and he assumes that the pastors' conference will do like-wise if given a chance to act on it.

Thief Unhappy With $72 Taken From Hilltopper

Police said thieves, burglars and purse snatchers were working overtime late Friday and early Saturday. However, some of the attempts weren't to productive and one robber was evidently very upset with his "take" from a Hilltop woman.

Edith White, 45, of 662 S. Wayne-av, found a note in her purse reading: "I want more money." The purse had been rifled in the personnel office of a downtown store and was minus $72 which apparently was not enough for the thief.

TENANT

Tom always hankered for a plain
Blue serge
To wear to town on Saturday night,
And all the other times man feels the urge
To look his best. He said outright
That husking through and cribbing done,
He'd look around. It seemed the land
Might owe him that; yet, in comparison,
It paid him overmuch. On his demand
The fields were fruitful and his children fed
Then he remembered all that stood
Between him and the land, and thought instead
Of deep blue woolens, just for good,
Plain overalls would do. Something fine
He sees in overalls: clean and new,
With roomy pockets rivated in line,
Creases at the knees . . . and very blue!

Somebody has said that our neighbors are "wished upon us" but we can choose our friends. When you live in one neighborhood for more years than you like to remember — as we have — neighbors come and go. We have kept in touch with many of them, although they have scattered to the four corners. Of course some have gone to Another Place. With very few exceptions our neighbors have been our friends too, and we are glad to have known them, even briefly. I've never had time—or inclination—to gossip, but have always been interested in comparing grandchildren; sympathizing with grief, illness and misfortunes; being happy about marriages, graduations, scholarships and successes of our neighbors. I like the neighbor who was loyal when I was "attacked" — more or less mildly; the one who fed the stray cat that parked on her porch; the ones who smile as they pass, though their names are not known to me; the neighbor who walked two blocks over lay sidewalks to bring some mail that had been left in her box by mistake. Small wonder the Hilltop has been called the neighborly section of Columbus.

Strong demand for wool has increased wool prices substantially even though world wool production has increased about five per cent. Some further increases may occur in 1958 world production, say Ohio State University economists.

'Dear Son'

Chittlin' Switch,
Saturday Afternoon.

Dear Jason:

Haven't heard from you all week but I suppose you're very busy there in Norfolk running things.

Your drunken Uncle Lushmore had to go to court Monday morning for setting his bed on fire in the Bon Ton Hotel by smoking a cigarette. Evidently Lush was still stoned when the Judge asked him if it was true he set the bed afire. Lush told him it was all a lie. Lush said the bed was on fire when he got in it. He'll be out for Easter.

Your buddy Vernon Stanch got one of those greeting letters from the President and he reports to the draft board next week. They are going to give him a going away party tonight and your Paw is supplying all the hooch from our own still. Vernon tells me he's engaged to Mezzanine Tooker and he won't have to worry about her cheating on him while he's in the service. She still has three years to do in reform school.

Speaking of engagements, the bashful old maid school teacher, Sophie Sludge, finally got married and went to Beaver Gulch on her honeymoon. Before Sophie got married she was so modest she turned her dresser to the wall so the drawers wouldn't show. I met her after she came back from Beaver Gulch and by way of conversation I asked her how her new husband registered at the hotel. Sophie said he registered just fine!

I just don't know what to think of your brother Zeke's philosophy about women. Zeke says when a beautiful woman is good, she's swell. And when she's bad, she's even better. Zeke was engaged to Della Potts. He went out on a blind date the other night and the girl turned out to be Della so he broke the engagement right then and there. I never liked her, anyway. She's been picked up so many times she's growing handles.

Evidently Zeke got over his broken heart in a hurry because last night he went to a party in town where he met some new stock and made dates with some girls named Clara, June, Agnes and Fido. I told him I thought Fido sounded like a dog. Zeke told me if I thought Fido was a dog I should have seen Clara, June and Agnes.

Guess I'll close now but before I do I must tell you that your seven-year-old nephew Cheddar was with the school children who put on a musical program at the Chittlin' Switch Town Hall last week. Cheddar played Brahms. Brahams lost.

Write soon.

Your Loving,
MOM.

West Hill Furniture Owner Started Off In Finance Field

Nearly 25 years of experience in the financing of large furniture stores forms the background for Ellsworth E. Schaedler, (known as "Ed"), who is the owner of the West Hill Furniture Company, 2264 W. Broad-st.

E. E. Schaedler

Ed started the store at that address in 1945 and has since more than tripled the size of his store and stock. He also has a large warehouse located on Midland-av.

All furniture in the store is custom-made and follows the latest trends in styling, said Ed, who adds that he also makes several trips to Chicago and other furniture buying centers to purchase furniture, carpets and accessories than can be sold at a moderate price.

Schaedler said although he has customers in every part of the city, he owes much of his business success to the continued patronage of Hilltoppers.

Born on Kelly's Island in Lake Erie and receiving his education in Sandusky, Ed become an employe of the Ohio Finance Company in 1921. The firm handled the financing of furniture stores around the country and in this way he learned the "banking" end of the furniture business. After a quarter of a century of service to the finance firm he felt he was ready for his own business venture and came to Columbus and opened his present store.

Ed and his wife, Hazel, reside at 4611 Scenic-dr. He likes all sports but favors golf because he can play it the best. Hazel's hobby is raising roses. Both are members of Maple Grove Methodist Church.

Schaedler is a member of HBA, Service Lodge of Cleveland, York Temple Country Club, Masons, and is president of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club.

Cavaliers Top Silhouettes

The league-leading Cavaliers defeated the Silhouettes 44 to 20 in the Glenwood Recreation Center Intermediate Basketball league last week. Gary Reynolds, with 10 points, and Kern and Grabill, with eight each, led the winners.

John Peterson and Jim Walsh, with 23 and 24 points respectively, led the Jailhouse Five to a 65 to 23 trouncing over the Panthers. Cook was top scorer for the Panthers with 16 points.

General William Tecumseh Sherman's most famous campaign, the march through Georgia, was planned in Lancaster, Ohio, while he was home on a furlough.

Starling cagers met Roosevelt at Starling gym on Jan. 16.

After keeping a one to three point lead on Roosevelt for the first three quarters, Starling lost the lead in the last quarter to go down to a 48-42 defeat. Last few minutes were especially exciting, with both teams trying desperately to keep the ball.

In the last half Starling missed eight out of 10 foul shots, making 14 out of 22 for the whole game. Roosevelt made 12 out of 26.

High point scorers for Starling were Potts, 13; Long and Rinehart, nine each and Miller seven. Other scorers were Wells, two; Banks and Curry, one each. Roosevelt's high scorers were White, 17; Harper, 12. Other scorers were Wade, seven; Green, six, and Wright and Sims, two each.

Hilltop Nurse, 63, Robbed Of $200 In Doctor's Office

Mrs. Minna Frye, a 63-year-old nurse, was struck down by a bandit in a Park-st physician's office Monday morning and robbed of $200 she had hidden in her clothing, police said.

Mrs. Frye, a resident of 2003 Parkside-rd, told police the robber entered the office of Dr. A. A. Peasley, 208 N. Park-st, just 15 minutes after she arrived there. The robber threatened her with a knife, then struck her on the side of the head and took the money.

She was taken to White Cross Hospital, X-rayed for possible skull fracture, and is now listed in fair condition.

Dr. Peasley, who was not in the office at the time, said he didn't think anything else was taken from the office.

Freeway Route Is Being Planned

The Southern extension of the Columbus-Cincinnati freeway is still in the preliminary planning stage, according to highway chief Charles M. Noble.

The route involved includes that section of the highway extending from the Hamilton County line near Cincinnati to Harrisburg. It will connect the two cities with a direct, non-stop section of road.

Construction probably will not start before July, 1959. Cost of the southern leg has been estimated at $63,117,000. Its length is 73.9 miles, and it will be four and six lanes wide at different intervals.

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Question . . How Fast Do Game Birds Fly?

The question of how fast game birds fly has always been a subject for debate — many times heated debate — wherever sportsmen gather.

Much research by various agencies and authorities has not yet brought to light the exact speed, and probably never will. Speeds probably vary between individual birds. Some can fly faster than others just as some men can run faster than others.

The speed of an upland game bird in flight depends on a number of conditions. When the bird is unmolested its flight is slower than when it is frightened by a hunter's approach. The same applies to waterfowl. On their long journey from one part of the continent to another, they conserve energy by adopting a somewhat "leisurely" speed. If frightened, however, that speed is stepped up immediately.

Pilots Make Guesses

Pilots who fly small aircraft at relatively low levels tell me that sportsmen probably overestimate the speed of ducks in flight. They maintain that they whiz by ducks when their air speed is in the vicinity of 100 miles per hour. This would indicate that the ducks were loafing along at 50 m.p.h. or less. My argument is that these ducks are not alarmed, and are flying at a leisurely pace.

I think that they have become accustomed to airplanes. I have flown at tree-top level over sitting ducks with Delmar Handley, waterfowl biologist with the Division of Wildlife, on waterfowl censusing flights, and many of the duck did not even bother to leave the water.

Here are some figures on the flight speed of unmolested game birds. They are computed as an average from the finding of a number of researchers. I would not say that they are exactly correct, but they constitute the best information we have to date on the subject: Dove: 34 m.p.h.; bobwhite quail, prairie chicken, ruffed grouse, jacksnipe, mallard, black duck, shoveller, pintail, wood duck, baldpate, and gadwall, 41 m.p.h.; swans, 45 m.p.h.; Canada geese and brandt, 48 m.p.h.; green-wing teal, 70 m.p.h.; redhead, 32 m.p.h.; blue wing teal, 79 m.p.h.; canvasback, 94 m.p.h.

The dove is widely known as a gray speedball, and it's a little surprising to find him at the bottom of the list. Remember though, these are unmolested speeds. What a frightened dove, going downwind, can do is something else.

Teal and canvasbacks have commanded the respect of sportsmen since hunting began, and rightly so. The redhead can also hold its own in fast company, and you'd better be sure of your lead when you pull down on one of these speedsters.

Pure speed of flight, of course, is not the only factor that determines sporty shooting. As a cock pheasant roars into flight, he's flying very slowly. But they are almost impossible for me to hit when they are gaining air speed. My average is better on faster flying pheasants. Such factors as surprise, cover, etc. enter into the picture.

W. D. Greene Correction

Information given in a recent news release from the Army, appearing in this paper, was given incorrectly.

The item should have read: William D. Greene, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Greene, 4415 Trabue-rd, recently was promoted to specialist third class at Ft. Campbell, Ky. He is an ammunition bearer with the 506th Infantry's Company A.

The 21-year old soldier's wife, Barbara Ann, lives with her mother, Mrs. Audra Harper at 743 Doyle-st.

Greene was graduated from West High School in 1956 and attended Ohio State University.

God's free gift is the Life of the Ages, bestowed upon us in Christ Jesus our Lord.—(Acts 6, 23.)

As He promised in the days when He walked among men, Christ Jesus is with us today when we open our hearts to Him in faith and devotion, when we love Him as He loved us, sacrificing our self-will and self-indulgence as tiny tokens of the sacrifice He made for us on the Cross.

Madge

Busy...busy...busy...with her family and her home—and enjoying every minute of it. That's Madge Rice of 876 South Remington Road. Madge is the kind of person that likes her job of being a homemaker and mother... and takes it seriously. She's in favor of anything that helps her do it better. She knows from experience how much better she can do it with her electrical helpers. But she probably doesn't know that the Electric Company, in the last three years, has invested more than 80 million dollars in new equipment and better services to make sure her electric friends are always on the job. Another 60 million dollars budgeted for continued expansion during the next three years will help us all live even better electrically, at the lowest possible cost.

Breakfast with a smile. Madge does it electrically.

Bring on that laundry. Electricity is there to help.

Close Games Feature Play At Glenwood

Butler's edged the Tigers 31 to 29 in the opening game of the Glenwood Center Senior Boys' Basketball League. Louis Noble, with 11 points, led the winners, while Jennell and Russell scored nine points apiece for the Tigers.

In a close game all the way, the Bulldogs nicked the Hawks 39 to 38. Ralph Seymour and Ron Jackson with 19 and 10 points respectively led the Bulldogs in scoring. "Big" Bill Bechtold scored 22 ponts for the Hawks.

The surprising Hilltop Lions won their second league game by defeating the Hoosiers 31 to 26 in an overtime. Morris and McPherson controlled the boards and scored 11 points apiece for the winners. Paul Meadows was top scorer for the losers with nine points.

In the most exciting game of the evening, the Aces edged the Moose 41 to 39 in a sudden-death overtime game. Fred Blackburn's 13 points led the winners, while Steve Fetheroif scored 15 tallies.

In the final game of the evening, Dewitt, Dunn and Williams led the Celtics to a 62 to 23 victory over Demolay.

Egg prices during the first six months of 1958 are expected to average seven to eight cents a dozen above the first half of 1957, according to Ohio State University Extension poultry specialists.

Tumbling With The 'Tender Touch'

ALLEY COP, JUDY STYLE—Three young Judo enthusiasts watch instructor John "Hoot" Gibson apply the technique of the "double foot sweep" to George Rieser, the man without the flying trapeze. Left to right, James Davis, Gary Quinn and his brother, Art. Gibson has won the coveted Black Belt award, ranking him among the top in the Judo field.

JUDO, GEE! Attired in the tunic fashionable for applying the methods of the ancient sport, Art Quinn, 11, assumes the proper waiting position. The loose outfit is known as a Judo Gee.

Aces, Hot Shots, Hoppers Score In Senior Loop

The Aces were nipped by the Black Angels 22 to 19 in an overtime game in the senior girls' league recently at Glenwood Recreation Center.

The Aces led at the end of the first and second quarter but the Black Angels rallied with 10 points to go ahead by three points at the end of the third quarter. The Aces tied it up while holding the Black Angels scoreless in the fourth quarter.

Sue Rumley was high pointer for the Aces with nine. Sharon Dent scored 12 points for the Black Angels.

The Hilltop Hoppers defeated the Go Getters 20 to 3 behind the 17-point scoring of Sue Vereggi.

The Hoppers were off to a fast start with 13 points in the first quarter. The Go-Getters were held scoreless in the first half by the excellent defense of the Hoppers.

Mary Grahill scored two of the Go-Getters' three points.

The Hot Shots won via forfeit over the Sharpshooters.

DOWN YOU GO! Gary Quinn throws James Davis with a shoulder throw, known to Judo supporters as "Seoi-Nage." A better title would probably be "Happy Dreams."

The Oriental-inspired sport of Judo, though slow to be appreciated as such by most sport fans, has popped up in the Hilltop area. Rough and tumble enthusiasts are being taught "The Gentle Way," as Judo is known, by John "Hoot" Gibson, a first-degree Black belt Judoist.

Dressed in loose-fitting togas, novices are taught "the maximum efficient scientific use of one's physical and mental energies dedicated to a definite purpose with the least amount of effort," as Gibson phrases it.

One of the most interesting aspects of the instruction is the use of the hands and feet to break a fall. Correctly adapted, these physical appendages will relieve the body of the full blunt force usually sustained in a fall.

Judo is one of the few sports in which the attire is directly involved. Students are taught to grab the outer raiment as it compares with the problem a person might meet if attacked by a villain in street clothes.

Scene of the action on Tuesday and Thursday nights is the Hilltop Health Club, 2275 W. Broad-st. The establishment is owned and operated by Fred Dinsch.

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

THIS WEEK SHOP FOR:
Protein Foods—variety meats, beef rib roast, fryers, large eggs.
Vegetables — brussels sprouts, head lettuce, potatoes, dry onions, canned snap beans.
Fruits—apples, Florida oranges, canned fruit cocktail.

Variety For a Change

Are you looking for helps that stretch your meat dollar? You will find two-layer bargains in variety meats. These meats offer bargains in both price and nutrition. While prices of many meat cuts have continued to rise over the past months, price tags on variety meats have remained almost constant.

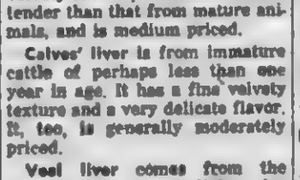
Variety meats include liver, heart, tongue, kidneys, brains, sweet breads and other such parts of the meat animal not normally included in the term red meat. What variety for your winter [illegible]

Liver, the best known of all meats, is famous for its iron content and is also an excellent source of vitamin A and riboflavin. It contains as much protein as regular cuts of meat and more minerals.

Beef Liver comes from mature cattle. It is somewhat coarser in texture than that of young cattle. It usually costs less, too. Baby beef liver comes from young beef animals. It has a moderately fine, velvety texture, is somewhat more tender than that from mature animals, and is medium priced.

Calves' liver is from immature cattle of perhaps less than one year in age. It has a fine velvety texture and a very delicate flavor. It, too, is generally moderately priced.

Veal liver comes from the young calf. It has a light color and a very fine, velvety texture, and the most delicate flavor of all. It is higher priced than the others, too.



Pork liver costs least of all. It has a pronounced liver flavor, and is somewhat darker in color than any other.

[illegible]

The Florida orange and grapefruit crop is not as hard hit as first reports after the chill indicated. There will be good supplies of each and the quality will be good.

The supplies of canned and frozen vegetables are large and attractively priced in view of the relatively high prices on many fresh vegetables. Canned snap beans, canned and frozen peas, and canned corn are good vegetable values. In addition, many stores will have "specials" on canned and frozen foods which, if storage space is available, may rate a place on your shopping list.

Civil Service In 75th Year

CIVIL SERVICE WORKERS in the Columbus area, numbering more than 8,000, have gotten the go-ahead from Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner for a year-long observance of the 75th anniversary of the Civil Service Act, beginning Jan. 16. Here the mayor meets two representatives from local federal agencies: Mrs. Mildred Leasure, Lockbourne Air Force Base, center; Jean Hill, 862 Dorsey-rd, Engineer Maintenance Center, right.

Two Suits Filed To Restrain City Annexation of Two Areas

Two suits were filed in Common Pleas Court Monday asking that the city be restrained from accepting for annexation two tracts in Franklin Township.

The first tract in question is a 249-acre area including Georgian Heights, the other is a 28.7 acre tract which was recommended to City Council for annexation last Wednesday by Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner. The latter area lies just east of the General Motors Ternstedt Plant on W. Broad-st. The mayor said the tract could be served economically by city facilities already available near the area.

Franklin Township Fire Chief James C. Moffitt, 618 Roth-av, a resident in the 249-acre tract, asked that City Clerk Russell D. Drake be enjoined from putting the annexation legislation for that area before City Council. The tract was approved for annexation to the city last Nov. 12. Moffitt said the approval was illegal.

He said the area is not adjacent to the city as required by law and that the county commissioners were guilty of an abuse of discretion in approving the tract.

Mrs. Henrietta Blasiy, 3833 W. Broad-st, in a separate suit requested that Drake be enjoined from submitting the 28.7 acre tract for annexation. It was approved for annexation to Columbus Nov. 1. Attorney C. Richard O'Neil filed the suits.

It is better for the lampshade if the cellophane wrapping is removed. Otherwise, the heat from the light bulb may cause the wrapping to stretch or draw, pulling the shade out of shape.

Spring pig farrowings are expected to be six per cent above last spring. If this estimate holds, prices next fall likely will not go as low as economists originally predicted.

The signup for the 1958 Acreage Reserve program for spring-seeded crops will start Jan. 13. The closing date is Mar. 7.

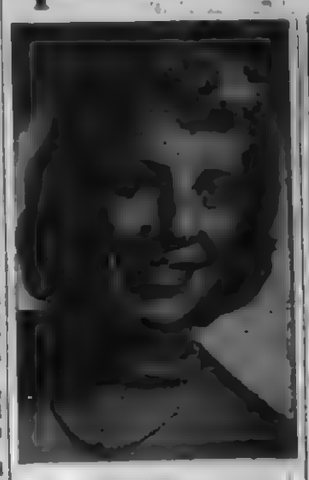
Holy Family Five Falls To Newark

Central Catholic League lost its only undefeated member Friday night when defending champion, Newark St. Francis, downed Holy Family with a close 45 to 42 victory.

The game resulted in a deadlock for the lead between the two teams.



Holy Family suffered its second loss in 14 games.

A three-point play by Dave Swank of St. Francis wrapped up the game. Only eight seconds remained when Swank made a basket and free throw to put Newark out in front.

Holy Family led 40 to 38, but St. Francis took the lead at 42 to 40 with 1:55 seconds to go.

A long jump shot by Marty Crawford, with 38 seconds remaining, tied up the game.

From The Top O' The Hill

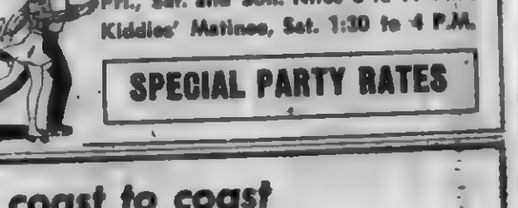
By Betty Dell

The feature story that appeared in last week's Hilltop Record about Mr. and Mrs. Derrick Cohrs made school life for their daughter, Vicki, a lot more interesting. Last Thursday morning when Vicki entered her sixth grade classroom at West Mound Street School, she was greeted by many copies of the story which almost every student in the room had clipped. Previously, according to Vicki, the boys in her room hadn't paid any attention to her, but upon reading that her father was building a sports car, the boys swarmed to her side. Girls said how lucky she was to have a mother who had led such an interesting exciting life — the boys still wanted to know more about her father's sports car!

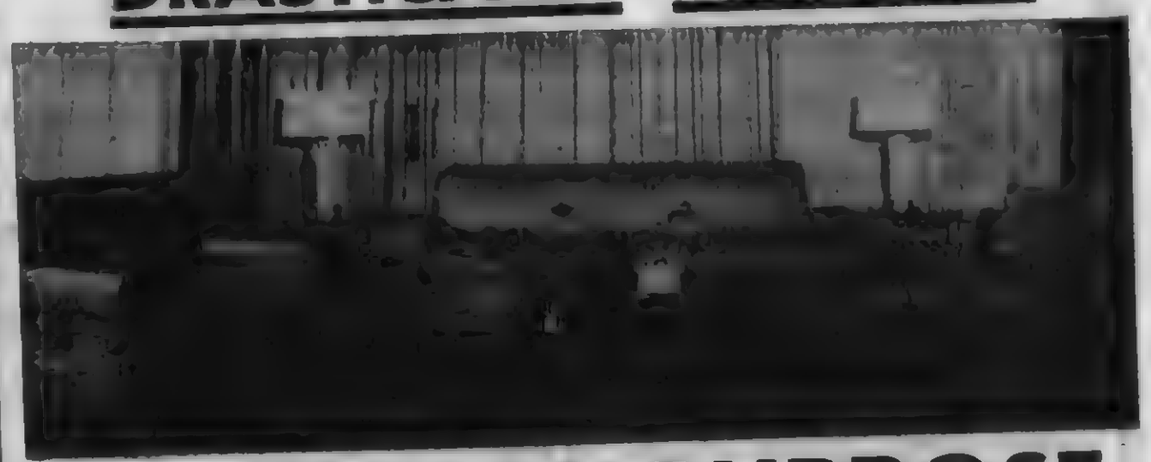
It looked for a while as if she wouldn't make it, but Marcia Hoare will be on hand for that all-important date as class speaker for the Jan. 28 commencement at West. She has been ill with — of all things—measles!

Mrs. Amos O. Dyer, is ill in White Cross Hospital . . . Also hospitalized in Grant is Chalmers Martin, 418 N. Powell-av . . . Home and on the mend after recent hospital stays are Mrs. Russell Floyd, 73 N. Westmoor, and Mrs. Roger Meyer . . . Barbara Booth, 319 Roys-av and Bob Schmidt, 143 N. Huron-av, are among student committee chairmen planning for Ohio State University's Religion In Life Week, scheduled for Feb. 9 to 12 on the campus.

Don Ehman of the Y's Men Christmas tree sales committee, reports profits this year will be about $450.



Nancy Ellen Kidd, 155 S. Westgate-av, celebrated her 11th birthday Saturday with a party. Guests were Susan James, Tam Taggert, Debra Liddle, Virginia Furbay, Beverly Amrine, Susie Sloter, Ellen Wrister, Linda Liddle, Linda Ruoff and Linda Barnhard . . . John Porter, 77 N. Warren-av, is hospitalized at Mt. Carmel.



Zippers on winter clothing will move more easily and be well protected against rust with a thin coating of paste wax.

As subscribers of the Record, they were eligible to exchange their copy of the newspaper containing the big jackpot insignia, for 75 "Confederate" bills.

They anticipate no problem in spending the currency as each of their five children, ranging in age from two to 12 will come in for a share of the items paid for by the "Confederate" bills.

In addition to the jackpot insignia, one of the ten copies of last week's issue containing $1 insignia, was redeemed by a Record subscriber, John Lusignola, Jr., 3248 Whitehead-rd, exchanged his newspaper for one "Confederate" bill.

Any merchant advertising in the current Record will accept "Confederate" currency at face value in payment for any merchandise in his store.

Big and bright as all outdoors, insignia are never hidden but are always printed in distinctively colored ink in full view on an ad.

A new pot-pot is started this week at $5.

Ten $1 insignia are also placed in ten copies of each week's issue.

Any subscriber of The Hilltop Record whose name appears on our records as having paid in advance or on his carrier boy's route book as a paying customer is eligible to collect "Confederate" dollars.

Eligible winners may redeem their copies of the newspaper at The Hilltop Record office before noon on Saturday of the week of publication.

Employes or carriers of the newspaper and members of their families are excepted.

IT'S MOTHERS vs. POLIO THIS THURSDAY NIGHT

Nearly 10,000 Mothers' March on Polio volunteers will leave their homes Thursday night to visit every home in the county. They will have a two-fold purpose, according to the march chairman:

Turn On Your Porchlight

"First, they hope to raise enough money to continue to give much-needed financial help to several hundred local polio patients for whom the Salk vaccine came too late."

"Secondly, they will distribute a special polio vaccination reminder to urge that every family member under the age of 40 receive a full three-shot series of Salk anti-polio vaccine. Only if we can get all unvaccinated people started on the series this winter can we hope for a further reduction in paralytic polio this year."

Mothers March on Polio workers will be carrying manila envelopes bearing the word "Polio" in large blue letters.

Center 'Spoon-Feeds' Army Missiles

Staff Of 2000 Supplies Needs Of World Wide Operations

ENGINEER MAINTENANCE CENTER, located at 32 Starling-st, is the world-wide supply center for army engineering equipment repair parts including [illegible] from a small nut to parts for making the combustion agent for army missiles! This is the building, located in the heart of the city's civic center, as seen from the steps of the Veterans' Memorial Building. EMC Command General, Brig. Gen. W. W. Lapsley (inset), assumed command in 1956. Having a military staff of only 36 trained and qualified officers to assist him, he relies heavily on civilian personnel.

By Ray Shaffer

The U.S. Army Engineers, operating in every part of the free world, depends upon repair parts support for equipment from the Army Engineer Maintenance Center located at Broad and Starling-sts.

Having an installation like EMC here in Columbus has helped the economy of the city tremendously. The procurement segment of the center purchases locally in excess of $1 million worth of parts yearly, and deals with about 125 local business firms. A large number of visitors, both military and civilian, pour into Columbus every year to confer with various elements of the Maintenance Center, spending their money in the city's hotels, restaurants and stores.

Persons who pass EMC have reason to look at the building with pride and be thankful that the work done there directly affects the security of their families and the nation.

Setting up headquarters at 32 Starling-st, EMC was established about four years ago with about 400 skilled technical people as a nucleus. It now employs more than 2,000 persons, about one-third of whom are West Siders and Hilltoppers. The majority of this staff are highly trained and experienced personnel.

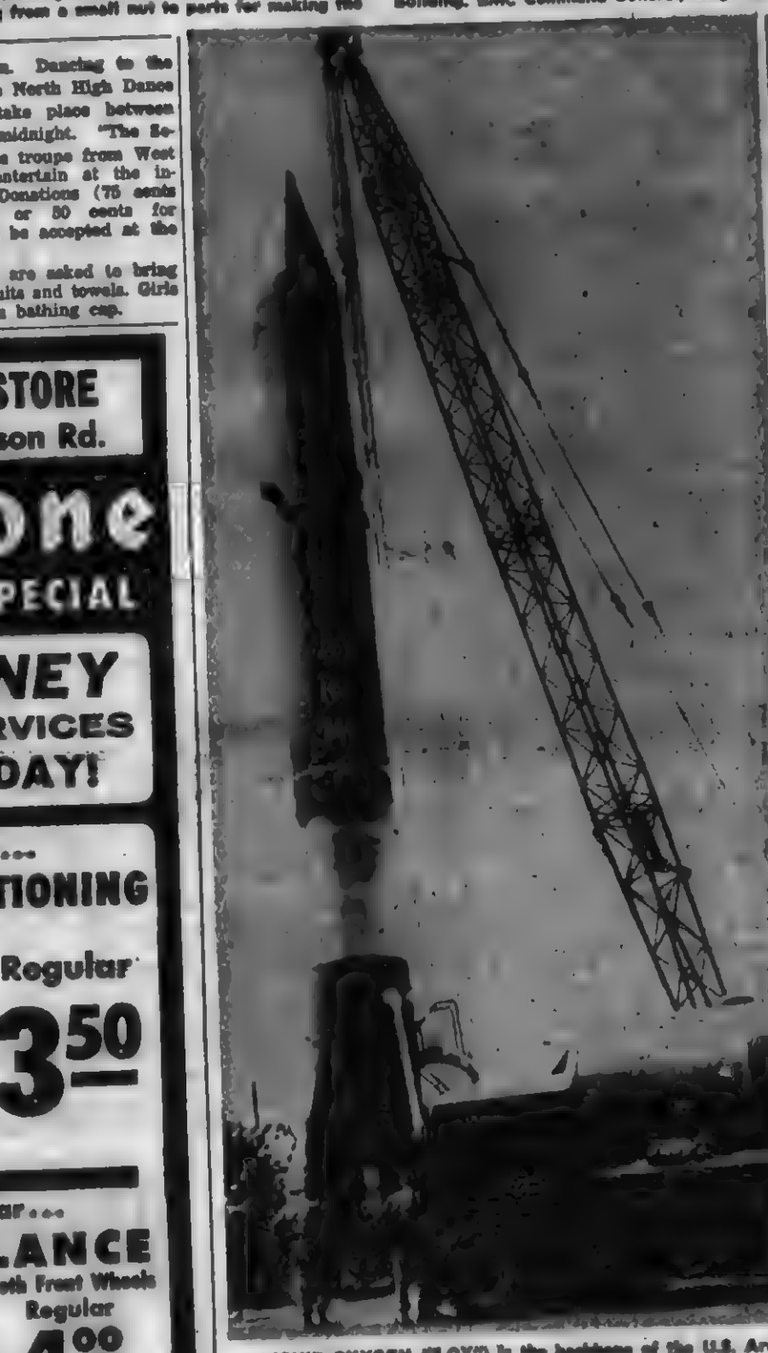
EMC has world-wide responsibility of providing repair parts for the army's bulldozers, cranes, huge clamshell shovels, ice making plants, and water purification units.

Handles "Lox" Equipment

EMC is now playing an important role in the swiftly moving developments of the nation's stepped-up missile program. All repair parts and technical assistance for the making and handling of liquid oxygen (LOX) for U.S. Army missiles is being acquired from EMC.

LOX, which must be handled at a temperature of 297 degrees below zero, cannot be stored in any quantity for any period of time. A missile in flight or standing ready, uses tons of LOX daily. The army corps of engineers has solved this problem by mounting a 20-ton portable unit on four semi-trailers and makes the LOX cheaply and in sufficient quantities at the missile launching site. Parts to keep these portable plants running must be purchased through EMC.

Supplies 2½ Million Parts



EMC is the national maintenance and supply control point for the Chief of Engineers Office in Washington, D.C. It was established as an economy measure to promote the efficient supply control of the large complex maze of engineer repair parts. An example of the results obtained in four years is a reduction of more than 100,000 in the number of separate line items carried in stock, which is also a reduction in the taxpayer's dollars spent for this purpose. EMC is now responsible for supplying two and one-half million parts.

EMC is now conducting tests on the use of large "electronic brain" computers to speed processing of requisitions, stock control and supply operations.

Keeps World-Wide Contact

Located in the maintenance center headquarters is a "transceiver unit" which virtually "talks" to any part of the world where the nation has troops. An overseas command can type on a special machine the parts needed and in a matter of seconds the order is on its way to be filled at EMC. Tests show that it is now possible to get repair parts to a unit in Japan or Germany in 20 days instead of the 90 days normally required.

Another important phase of the EMC work is the disassembling of engineering equipment bolt by bolt to see in what way it can be best and fastest repaired. A technical manual is then written to help the men in the field save time and money on repair.

LIQUID OXYGEN ("LOX") is the backbone of the U.S. Army missile program. The local Army Engineer Maintenance Center provides and stocks more than 6,000 repair parts along with the training of personnel on how to keep these portable LOX plants in operation 24 hours a day. It is used as an oxidizer to be the combustion agent for the fuel, ethyl alcohol, when a missile reaches altitudes where there is virtually no air.

Jack Briggs Is Appointed To Legal Post

West High School graduate Jack L. Briggs of 1691 Harrisburg-pk was appointed last Thursday as legal assistant to City Attorney Russell Leach effective Feb. 1.

Leach, who made the appointment, said Briggs will be assigned to coordinate work in the city prosecutor's office. He has been a Municipal Court bailiff since last September, prior to this he served three years as a Municipal Court deputy clerk.

The 27-year-old law student earned a bachelor of arts degree at Ohio State University in 1952 and is now enrolled in third-year law at Franklin University Law School. He is married and the father of two sons, Bradley and Brian. Briggs is a Navy veteran of the Korean War.

Briggs' new post is one of two created several weeks ago by City Council because of the increasing work load of the city attorneys' office. The other post, that of assistant city attorney has yet to be filled by Leach.

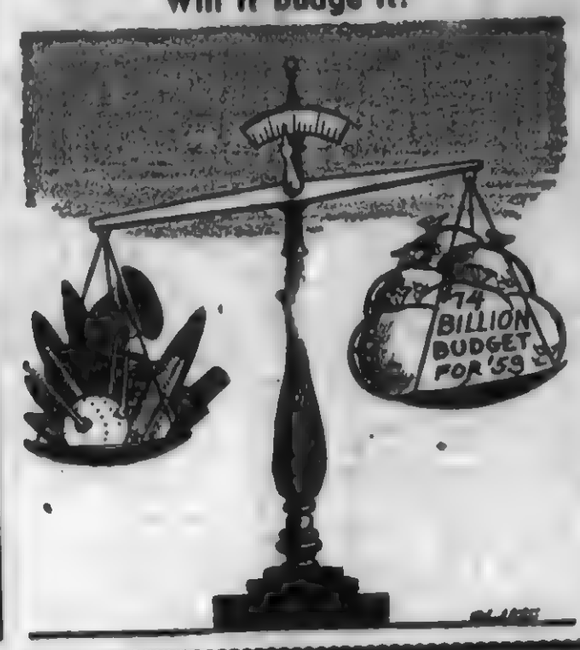
"Believe me, for every successful man you'll find a good woman standing behind him!"

HE QUIT — John Gates, 44, holds one of the last copies of the Daily Worker, the New York Communist newspaper which has ceased publication due to financial difficulties and an ideological split with the party. Gates, Worker editor for 10 years and a party member for 27, quit the Communists "to rejoin the American people." He estimated active membership of the U.S. party at only 7,000 and called it "a futile and impotent political cast."



KING-SIZE RANCHER — Joseph C. Coney, San Francisco steamship company executive, locates on a map of Argentina lands comprising some 2,300,000 acres which, he says, makes him owner of the world's largest ranch. The fabulous King Ranch in Texas covers about 1,000,000 acres of the Lone Star state. Coney plans to staff his holdings with families from the Netherlands and Italy if he gets Argentine and U.N. approval.

Labor disputes cost 7,200 working days in the Netherlands in 1957, compared with 212,000 days lost in 1956.

APPLE TIME IS ALL THE TIME

Fresh apples are available throughout the winter months and are never more appreciated than at present when other fruit supplies have us guessing. Stayman Winesaps, Rome Beauties and Red Delicious are common varieties you will find this week.

You will enjoy the Stayman Winesaps for eating-out-of-hand as well as for salads, pies, sauces, and for baking. Rome Beauties bake well and are good for sauce and pies, while the Red Delicious is generally used for eating as is, or for salad.

Fresh apples appearing on the fruit counters at this time of year are coming out of cold storage and need special care. Since harvest last fall they have been stored under temperature controlled conditions and the sudden rise in temperature in the stores or in your kitchen may hasten spoilage. It pays to select apples carefully by checking for bruises and skin blemishes. Buy in the quantity now that you can use in a few days, and keep them in the refrigerator.

Apple Products

Apples, like most foods are now found in many ready-to-use forms. You can choose from a wide variety such as applesauce, apple pie filling, apple slices, and even baked apples.

Spiced apple rings are ideal garnishes for meat and relish trays. Chilled apple juice makes a delicious appetizer for any meal or a refreshing "cooler" between meals. It is usually packed with sugar. Old-fashioned apple-butter is always a favorite.

Preserving apples, either in cans or by freezing, insures a year-round supply. We can enjoy these products at the time when apples in cold storage begin to lose their fresh, firm, juicy, crispness.

Mail — From an Air Force wife in Japan: "We have eaten rice and drank drunken tea till we feel like natives but the real natives are so polite, how can we refuse to 'partake of their humble fare,' as they say" . . . From Vermont: "Yes, it is cold here but we don't mind. We keep thinking of how lovely it will be in the spring, summer and fall." . . . From my dirt-farmer friend near Buckeye Lake: "After the rain Christmas Day, we hiked to the top of one of our hills. Beyond one hill is a valley; beyond the valley is another hill. We gathered some rocks for our garden and found a bird's nest in a bush and we marveled at the craftsmanship. How many trips back and forth for little wings. And how many summer days and nights of watchfulness for the bird! Have been plowing and can visualize the full bins next autumn. We are also going through seed catalogs — fine pastime for winter evenings, though perhaps not as exciting as television."

Seen on The Hilltop — A little old lady stood in the middle of traffic till a burly truck driver parked his big truck and helped her to the other side of Broad st. She gave him an apple from a bag of groceries she was carrying and he climbed back into the truck, eating the apple . . . A State Hospital patient called to a motorist who was signaling he meant to turn into a one-way street, the wrong way. The motorist should have paid attention for he kept on going and met a police cruiser . . . A doctor, hurrying out of his office — stopped three times by his office nurse before he could reach his car. Once he came back with his bag, another time wearing a heavier coat; the third time he was handed his gloves through the door. Small wonder they forget things!

Here's the Answer

Bible Comment:

Sick Souls Are More Important Than Sick Bodies

GALILEE, a thickly populated place, had no hospitals or asylums or adequate knowledge of medicine when Christ taught and healed there. Disease was often associated with possession of evil spirits.

This must have been true particularly in cases of epilepsy and various forms of insanity, which were probably as relatively numerous as today. We have in the New Testament vivid glimpses of dangerous maniacs or of poor human creatures wracked and torn in the throes of epilepsy or a similar seizure.

Christ healed these.

The question of divine healing brings up various problems, particularly in instances of miraculous healing reported today as they were in Galilee.

Has God ordained that the "miracles" of modern medicine should replace the miracles of healing Christ performed? Should divine agency accompany human agency in the healing of disease? Is there work for saints to perform when doctors have done their best?

Considering the prominence given to healing in a sick world and how quickly the stories of wonder-working power would spread in a thickly populated region, it is a marvel that the New Testament is not crammed with stories of miracle healing to the exclusion of everything else.

Holy Family Five Adds St. Mary's To Beaten List

Playing a stubborn, ball-control game, Holy Family topped St. Mary's 42 to 22 in a Central Catholic League game Friday night. The win enabled the Red Raider quintet to remain tied for first place with Newark St. Francis.

Tom Cullen snared scoring honors for the winners with 15 points.

Score at the end of the first quarter was six to two as the Holy Family five decided to keep the game at a slow pace. By the end of the first half, the pace was stepped up, and the Red Raiders left the floor with a comfortable 16-6 lead, which was never endangered.

It was the second time this season that the league leaders had bopped St. Mary's with a ten point defeat.

Next tilt for the Raiders is slated for Saturday night, Feb. 1, at Watterson.

For Your Thoughts

Question: How do you feel about the recent swing in educational emphasis to sciences?

Mrs. Hilda VanMeter, 2847 Sullivant-av: "I think it's wonderful. For so many years science students have rather taken the back seat to other pupils and have been teased quite a lot. I do feel, however, that instructors will have to make their science classes more interesting to get students to try their hand at it!"

Mrs. Robert L. Thornton, 741 S. Hamilton-rd: "I have four children in school right now and two of them have shown a definite interest in science although I doubt if any of them follows it as a profession. I do think this swing in emphasis should be moderated so that it won't detract from other courses. My boys have proved to be good athletes and find time for both sports and science."

Mrs. Jos M. Skaggs, 870 S. Brinker-av: "Frankly, I think that science courses are interesting enough now and have been for some time. I feel that sputnik has just sort of awakened parents, teachers and students to the fact that science is very important to the nation's defense. I hope my children develop an interest in science when they get older."

George Rutledge, 153 Clarendon-av: "I think it's about time things get a little serious in school! For too many years students, that is the majority, have been content to get through high school as easily as they could. Usually they don't begin to settle down until college. If the teachers develop their students to the fullest in every course while they are still in high school, then this country will really have something!"

Second series high was John Dennis with 162. Ivan Triplette was third with 161.

John Dennis also had the second high single game with 94.

High team series were, Ten Pins 843, Yellow Jackets 838, and Feeders 806.

The Ten Pins and Yellow Jackets are still tied for first place with four wins and no losses.

Hilltop Food Store Owner Likes Travel, Is Family Man

Harley Sapp, with over 25 years' experience in the grocery business, is proud of his long associations with more than one generation of customers. "Many of these people are my personal friends now," he adds.

Harley Sapp

Harley is the owner of Sapp's Market Basket, 2976 W. Broad-st, having operated the market since 1950. He is very pleased with living and working on the Hilltop: "... There's nothing like it," he declares, "the best people in the city are here."

The grocery business has always been Sapp's main interest. "I have caught myself in grocery stores even during times when I wasn't in grocery work," was his comment.

Father of Nine

Harley and his wife, Goldie, live at 311 South Roys-av. His family includes nine children (Patricia, Joann, Rita, Alice, Tom, Jim, Joe, Kathleen and Peggy), who range in age from nine to 31 years. He and Goldie have eight grandchildren.

The owner of Sapp's Market Basket was born and raised in Danville, O., and attended school there. After serving in World War I, he worked in a general store in Danville for three years before coming to Columbus.

Harley's first job here was with O. W. Sapp, an uncle. Next, he bought a grocery (Harley's Confectionery) at Warren and Sullivant-avs. In 1929, again with his uncle, Harley opened the Broad-Warren Market, and maintained this store until 1946. In 1950, after operating a drive-in restaurant, he became the owner of the Market Basket.

Sapp and his wife enjoy travel, and Harley especially relishes fishing in the North Bay of the French River in Canada.

The Sapps are members of St. Mary Magdalene Church on South Roys-av and Harley is active in St. Vincent de Paul there. Besides being a member of the HBA the grocer is fourth-degree in the Knights of Columbus lodge.

Canine Census Being Conducted

At the present time, the Humane Society of Columbus is conducting a dog census in the Franklin County area. The counting of "cold noses" began Tuesday.

Purpose of the census is to record all canines owned in the county and to make sure that the animal's owner has purchased the necessary license.

All dogs are required to be immunized against rabies. Health regulations state that dogs must receive their rabies shot every 12 months if the regular type vaccine has been used.

If the new type of vaccine has been administered, then the animals must be re-immunized every three years.

Owners without the prescribed license will be required to get them and in addition pay a one dollar penalty. Deadline for acquiring the dog license was Jan. 31.

Civil War Books Are Popular At Hilltop Library

It has been observed that no period of our history has received more attention, than the Civil War period. The popularity of the TV series based on Col. John Mosby's Civil War raiders has also brought renewed interest in books on the Civil War, available at the Hilltop Branch Library, 2969 W. Broad-st.

Bruce Catton's, "This Hallowed Ground," "Stillness at Appomattox," "Glory Road," and "Mr. Lincoln's Army," are popular. Other books on the period are "Gray Fox," "Robert E. Lee and the Civil War," "Decisive Battles of the Civil War," "U. S. Grant and the American Military Tradition," "Lincoln's Commando," and "The Courtship of Mrs. Lincoln."

Some of the newer novels on the Civil War are "Our Valiant Few," "Company Q," "Company of Cowards," "The Horse Soldiers," "Captain Little Ax," "Cavalry Raid," "Rebel Ranger," and "Captain Rebel."

Also for the younger readers are biographies, histories and stories about the Civil War, Mary Elizabeth Keyes, librarian, said.

First Officers Elected By New Glenwood Group

A new Methodist Men group was formed at Glenwood Methodist Church at an organizational meeting held Jan. 22, and first officers of the club elected.

Charles Weigand was named president; Dan Gould, vice president; Ernest Ritchie, secretary; Clarence Smith, treasurer and Harold Buchanan, reporter.

A charter will be presented at the club's next meeting, and a program of projects decided.

Methodist Men, an organization of the Methodist Church, was authorized by the General Conference in 1952. By 1956 there was a membership of more than a million men in the 10,000 chartered clubs.

From The Top O' The Hill

By Betty Doff

"Never, never interfere in a cat fight" Mrs. Carolyn Thatcher, 235 Guernsey, advises from her wheel chair. Although greatly improved, she is still confined to her home since her own unhappy lesson. Early in the morning of Jan. 20 she went out on her porch to break up a vicious fight between two stray tom cats, and became the victim of an attack by one of the animals. A big yellow Angora jumped on her back as she turned to re-enter the house, inflicting many deep bites on her leg and ankle. The cat entered the house, and still wild with fright knocked down vases and overturned lamps.

Police responded to her call for help, but the humane agent was needed to subdue the cat until take him to the animal shelter where he is still under observation. The cat's owner may call for him there.

Mrs. Vera Orsborn of Studio City, Cal., has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Charles McKinley, 139 Belvidere-av this past week. She was entertained with luncheon at Lincoln Lodge by Mrs. Charles Alton, dinner at the Everglades by Mrs. Grace Butler, and at several other parties during her stay here. She left Thursday for Boston and a visit with her daughter, Joan Orsborn Cuneo.

A mighty young patient — the tiny daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Rowe, 755 Racine-av, born with two front teeth, has already needed the services of a dentist! The teeth were extracted yesterday to keep them from cutting her tongue.

A number of Hilltoppers were among winter quarter pledges by social sororities at OSU. They are Julia Ellen Higgins, 96 N. Chase-av, Alpha Gamma Delta; Carole Sue Karshner, 226 S. Terrace-av, Alpha Chi Omega and Barbara Lee Glass, 213 Demorest-rd, Delta Delta Delta.

What's In The Green Box?

HUNDREDS traveling on W. Sullivant-av have wondered about this green box near Brinker-av. What's in it they ask . . . a radar outfit . . . two-story dog house . . lockers for the school boy patrol? Nothing that glamorous, according to the Department of Sewage and Drainage. It houses instruments used to measure the flow of sewage. The reflective tape on the west side is to warn motorists away. The box has been struck, several times by cars.

Evening High---Trade School Registration Opens Monday

Registration for Evening High School classes will be held at Central High School from 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 3, announced G. B. Newton, principal of the school.

Regular sessions will begin on Tuesday, Feb. 4. Nearly all classes will meet at Central from 6 to 10 p.m. each Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

Some 68 courses leading to a high school diploma will be offered.

Non-credit courses in elementary English and arithmetic and special courses for persons of foreign birth who need help in speaking and reading English also will be given.

Newton said that courses in printing, office machines, and woodworking will be offered for the first time, and that courses in choral music and word study which were begun last September will be continued. Studies in rapid reading improvement, typing, shorthand and art, which have proved to be popular, will be offered.

Fees for Columbus residents are $6 for one subject, $10 for two, $13 for three, and $15 for four subjects. Fees for non-residents are double those for residents. All fees must be paid at the time a person registers.

Because of the strict attendance requirements of Evening High School, Newton said that enrollments must be completed by the end of the first week of school.

For further information on Evening High registration call Newton at the Board of Education, CA. 8-3821, during the day and at Central High School, CA. 4-3184, during the evening.

Registration for evening Vocational Trade Extension classes will be held in Room 1 at Central from 7 to 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 5.

Subjects to be offered include arc-welding, machine shop, shop mathematics, basic tool design, drafting and machine blueprint reading, basic electronics, electric motor repair and rewinding and shop trigonometry.

Questions concerning Vocational Trade School registration should be directed to R. O. Knight, director of industrial education for the Columbus Public Schools, at CA. 8-8821, Ext. 44.

'Old Sarge' Asks Vets To 'Think'

The next regular meeting of Capitol City Barracks No. 461 Veterans of World War I USA, Inc. will be held Sunday, Feb. 2, 1958, at 2 p.m., Veterans Wing New Veterans Memorial Building, 300 W. Broad-st. All World War I veterans are invited to attend all our meetings.

At a time when veterans' benefits are at stake, it is imperative that all thinking war veterans, join us in this the toughest fight we will ever be asked to make — if we are to keep our war comrades out of the bread lines and out of the poor house.

Thousands of our comrades and their dependents have already lost the small pension, or allowance they were receiving and if the organized veterans of all wars, do not work together as a team, all non-service allowances, all non-service hospital benefits will be lost, to all of us.

An economy drive is now under way in this nation, to cut off all non-service benefits, and many who have been service connected are now being removed from that list. Thousands more cases are now being reexamined — many of them will be cut off.

We invite all WWI veterans to join us in this our last and greatest fight for equality in a nation that is now dumping billions down the rat holes of Europe, Asia and Africa at a time when over age war veterans of Chiang Kai-shek's Army are now living on service pensions paid for with American tax dollars . . . at a time when the same benefits are being denied our own war veterans of the same age, who for years have paid taxes and have fought in defense of this nation.

Now the question, will you join us, or are you going to continue to sit it out, hoping for the best but fearing the worst. The decision is in your hands. Once we get whipped, united we can win again.

Your Comrade,
THE OLD SARGE

Deep Freeze Fishing Gives Cool Contentment

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Dave Wilson, London, is a new convert to the art of catching fish without taking a chill. He's had pretty good luck so far at Madison Lake.

Bill Dixon, who lives at Madison Lake, caught a nine-pound channel catfish there a couple of weeks ago, and started the ice fishing season off with a bang. Several nice catches of bluegills have been taken since.

Deep freeze fishing has been in full swing in central Ohio for at least two weeks, and the fishing seems to be good practically everywhere. Buckeye Lake has its "ice fishing city" off Avondale every week-end. The fishing has been good, but not yet up to last year's peak.

Eldon Hales, Put-In-Bay ice fishing guide, tells me that large catches of perch are being made around the islands in Lake Erie. A few walleyes are being picked up too.

All this is enough to make a fellow start pawing through the moth balls for his long underwear and woolen socks.

New Use For Sleds

There was a time when most fishermen spent all winter by the fireplace waiting for spring to come. Now a substantial number of anglers barely get their reels and reels stored before they break out the ice fishing gear. They put on all the clothes they own, and then borrow a few more. Junior's sled is spirited away, and loaded with fishing tackle, camp stools, and thermos jugs filled with hot coffee. Then, they're off and running—toward the nearest lake or farm pond.

Dave Wilson and Dick Morse of London are a couple of recent ice fishing converts that I talked to the other way at Madison Lake. They are avid warm weather fishermen, but had just never tried ice fishing. When I saw them they were making their second attempt to defy Jack Frost. They had been ice fishing the week before, had caught fish, and so were back for more.

Their tackle was not elaborate, but was pretty much standard for deep freeze fishermen. They used a spud bar to chop a hole in the ice, and were careful to round off the corners under water. Both of them were using ice rods, which look about the same as a tip section on a flyrod. Four-pound test spinning line was used with a very small hook on the end. Standard split-shot sinkers are too large for ice fishing, so most anglers make their own. Dave and Dick were using a tiny bobber — just enough to stay afloat.

Need 'Dainty' Tackle

There is a reason for this diminutive tackle. Fish are cold-blooded creatures, and become rather torpid when ice covers their homes. When they take a bait, it's not the rod-jolting strike that you're accustomed to in the summer. It's barely a nibble—just the suggestion of a bite. With small, dainty tackle you can feel these nibbles.

Meal worms are the favorite bait for ice fishing in this area, and are available at most bait stores. Goldenrod worms are also popular, and you can collect these yourself. Locate a patch of goldenrod, and you will find swollen places on many of the dried stems. These are called galls. Cut one open with a knife and you will find a white grub that will make a bluegill lick his chops.

Bluegills are the main attraction for ice fishermen, and comprise the bulk of the catch. But look for some surprises, for large mouth bass, perch, bullheads, crappies and catfish can all be caught through the ice.

HIKERS TO VISIT CAVERNS

Central Ohio Hiking Club will travel by charter bus to West Liberty Feb. 2 for a hike in the vicinity of Ohio Caverns. Hikers will bring their own lunches and a stop will be made in Urbana for supper at a restaurant. All adults are welcome to attend. The group will meet at Central YMCA at 10 a.m.

MEAT CONSUMPTION DROPS

Total meat production in 1958 may be about the same as in 1957. Beef output probably will decrease. Consumption of meat per person, reflecting reduced supply and larger population, has dropped to about 180 pounds. It was 168 pounds in 1906.

Noble County has the first oil well drilled in Ohio.

Women Voters Schedule Panel On Water Topics

Dear Mr. Editor:

The subject of "water" has been in the headlines as often recently, in connection with annexation, finances, etc. We all know water is important to our daily existence but many of us have a hazy view of the various water problems here in Franklin County.

It is our duty as citizens to keep informed on public affairs, both national and local, but often it is not easy to do. That is why I would like to call to your readers' attention a wonderful opportunity to gain a first-hand look at the water picture in our county.

On Tuesday, Feb. 11, at 8:15 p.m. in Central High School, the Columbus League of Women Voters will present a panel discussion on water to which the public is invited. The officials who will speak and answer questions on water are Floyd C. Redick, Columbus City Service Director; A. K. Pierce, mayor of Grandview; Ernest Stork, Chamber of Commerce Consultant; and Roland Holmes, Regional Planning Commission. Mrs. James Briery, state board member of the LWV, will moderate the discussion.

It is certain to be a stimulating evening on a timely and vital topic and I hope many will take the time to attend.

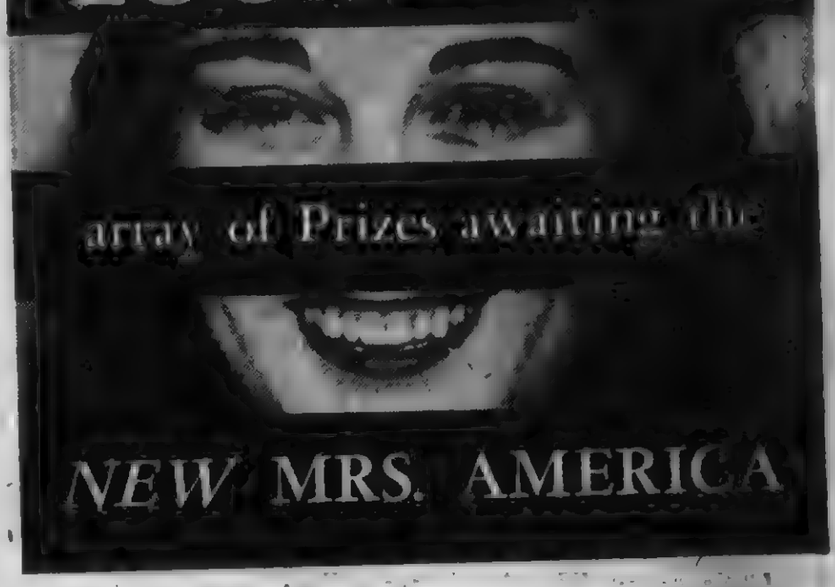
Reilly is married and the father of two sons.



The kinds of soil identified in Ohio exceed 400. Several thousand kinds of soil have been mapped in the United States.

A word to the wise—from Internal Revenue Service—Taxpayers claiming exemptions for close relatives on their 1957 returns, should check the instructions carefully!

Hot Shots Shade Hilltop Cagers In Duel Of Giants

The undefeated Hot Shots slipped by the Hilltop Hoppers, 18 to 17, in the senior girls league at Glenwood Recreation Center.

Both teams went into the game with perfect records of two wins each. It was a battle all the way as both teams tried to protect their records.

In the last 45 seconds of the game the Hoppers were ahead by one point but the Hot Shots scored a basket just before the buzzer.

Rita Smith scored ten points for the Hot Shots and Sue Verage tallied ten for the Hoppers.

The Sharpshooters downed the Powder Puffs 25 to 5. The defenseless Powder Puffs were held scoreless until the second quarter when they scored two points.

It was the first win in two starts for the Sharpshooters, while the Powder Puffs have lost both of their two starts.

Nancy Graham scored three for the losers while Geri Murnane dropped in 11 for the winners.

Baptists Still Undefeated In 'Y' Junior Basketball

Hillcrest Baptist's first team has won its first four games in the Hilltop YMCA's Jr. Church basketball league which is played at Glenwood Recreation Center each Saturday afternoon.

DICK LARKINS, director of athletics, Ohio State University ... living testimony to the "Y."

More than 350 members of the Hilltop Young Men's Christian Association heard plans for the building of the new Hilltop YMCA on Valleyview-dr, Thursday evening at the tenth annual meeting of the local organization at the Westinghouse Auditorium

Those present also heard that "the time has come to provide more than just lip service if we are to make this building program possible."

Elected to the board of management of the Hilltop "Y" were: Roy Agin, Sam Alford, John Broden, Howard Lloyd, Stan Ruoff and Rev. George Taylor.

Named as members of the advisory board were: Roger Chrisman, Elden Koehler, Mack Pemberton, Al Stephens, Les Swinford and Robert Tong.

Richard Larkins, director of athletics at Ohio State University, was the speaker of the evening and gave a profuse testimonial of what the YMCA had meant to him.

'Y' Was His Start

Larkins related that as a youngster of nine years at Steubenville, O., he entered the YMCA . . and "that was the beginning of time for me," he stated. "I had my first bath in a YMCA. I learned to swim at the 'Y'. I learned how to play without cheating at the Y. I learned the value of athletics at the Y. I learned how to respect others, learned about nature and learned the meaning of freedom, all at the YMCA."

Larkins pointed out that in all the present day emphasis on the need of scientists and engineers we should remember that our greatest resource is our people. "The future of our boys and girls depends on what we do to develop their characters," he stated.

Officers of the Hilltop Y board were elected at the meeting of the board Tuesday noon. C. Carlton Hartley was renamed chairman. John Roman was named first vice-chairman, Howard Lloyd, second vice-chairman, and William Jones, third vice-chairman.

The Spectator By C.C. Hartley

Our Most Valuable Natural Resource

Many people have many observations as the result of the launching of our satellite.

It was big news to all and while there was less excitement because of the delay, it still provides the major topic of conversation.

But last Saturday morning as the news came over the radio I couldn't help but observe that I was not half as thrilled by that spoken word as by the expression of our 19-month-old Kathy as she looked up and smiled and said; "Daddy's baby."

And as we are currently engaged in a campaign to raise $2,520,000 for the purpose of erecting YMCA and YWCA buildings in our city we will do well to reflect that our greatest natural resource is in the character of our young people.

Soon men and women of this community will be calling on nearly every family and individual to ask that they support this campaign with a generous contribution that may be paid off over a three-year period.

We have no finer opportunity to invest in the development of this great natural resource than by this means.

Bell Officials Ask Increase For Services

An increase of five cents a day for individual line residence service and nearly four cents a day for two-party and four-party residence service in the Columbus and Franklin County exchanges, was proposed by the Ohio Bell Telephone Company

A dozen cities and smaller communities, planning to fight rate increases requested by Ohio Bell Telephone Co., will be represented at a meeting scheduled for Friday, 1:30 p.m. in City Hall. Bell officials were invited to appear before the group at 2 p.m.

Called by Ralph S. Locher, Cleveland law director and chairman of the Ohio Municipal League, the meeting was set less than 24 hours after Bell officials failed its rate application with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Columbus Takes Township Area

Annexation of 241- and 29-acre tracts in Franklin Township was unanimously approved Monday night by the Columbus City council

Petitions asking for the annexation of both tracts are now tied up in Franklin County Common Pleas Court by litigation

The two tracts include Georgian Heights and land just east of General Motors between W. Broad-st and the New York Central Railroad.

Columbus Service Director Floyd C. Redick and Attorney Thomas Applegate tangled over annexation. Applegate accused the city of soliciting the area rather than waiting for the residents to ask for annexation.

It is claimed in one suit that the area is not contiguous to Columbus

Youths Admit $900 Robbery

Four youths, ranging in age from 15 to 18, from the East End, have admitted a local theft amounting to over $900. When picked up Sunday in a stolen car, the boys confessed burglaries totaling $3300, including the one at the Economy Drug Store, 2874 W. Broad-st.

The arresting patrolman recovered $924.55 in a sack in the stolen car

At the drugstore the boys had sawed through a rear window two weeks before attempting the early Sunday burglary. Later, armed with walkie-talkies, they entered the store and got away with between $900 and $1200. One boy stood guard to warn them of any danger. They tore a 10-inch hole in the safe after attempts to burn it open failed. All three boys were armed with .22 caliber guns in shoulder holsters.

The four are slated to appear in Juvenile Court, Friday.

Local Zone Plea Won By Grocer

The long hard battle for rezoning won, the new Schulze's Food Market should be under construction by next week announced owner Herman Schulze, Jr., Tuesday.

City Council Monday night approved the rezoning from residential to commercial for a tract next to the present grocery at 1971 W. Mound-st, by a 6 to 1 vote. This was a reversal of Council's disapproval of this same request last week. During this week's session Councilman W. Ralston Westlake was the lone dissenter when the vote was taken.

More than 75 persons residing in the immediate vicinity supported the rezoning request by attending the council session Monday evening. Attorney Carl Nappi said 210 persons living near the store signed petitions favoring the rezoning. Jack

Local Radio Hams Strain Ears To Pick Up Explorer's Voice

There is little doubt that satellites and the conquest of outer space are the topic for conversation now. To bring this subject a little closer to Hilltoppers the Record did some checking with local ham radio operators.

A few of the hams have been able to pick up signals from the United States' satellite but most of them have not. The reason given was that the signals are being transmitted on a frequency higher than the maximum megacycle band on the average short-wave outfit.

The Russian satellite, however, was transmitting on a comparatively low band and has been received by most ham operators.

Joseph Buehler, 233 S. Eureka-av, has been able to pickup the American satellite signals on a converted FM radio. He described the signals as sounding like inverted or scrambled speech. 'Something like playing a tape recording in reverse with the sound turned up," he said. "The Russian satellite sent signals which sounded like a series of beeps," Buehler added

He said that the Explorer is transmitting on the 108.3 megacycle band which is just slightly above that of the standard FM radio. Buehler said he thought a little alteration in aerial direction might bring in the signal for those interested.

Scouts To Celebrate Anniversary With Awards, Dinners, Displays

SCOUTCRAFT in its many aspects is on public view in the Kiwanis display case at Hilltop Public Library, 2955 W. Broad. Russell Marx, 15, 834 W. Broad-st. Here, Russell Marx, 15, of 834 Stephen-dr, and Bill Minnier, 12, 124 S. Powell-av, look over some Indian lore and National Jamboree souvenirs. The youths belong to Explorer Post and Troop 172 of Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Boy Scouting and its promise for youth will be saluted here and across the nation during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13.

Nearly every local scout troop, Cub Scout Pack and Explorer Scout Post has arranged special dinners, awards nights and displays to mark the 48th anniversary of Scouting

Two Hilltop boys are tabbed to receive Scouting's highest rank . . . The Eagle Badge during the observance. At the tender age of 14, Billy Doughty, 2662 Elliott-av, will become an Eagle Scout next Sunday (Scout Sunday) at a special ceremony at Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church. On the following Sunday, Gary Reynolds, 71 N. Ogden-av, will receive his Eagle Badge at Hillcrest Baptist Church

New Burner To Hit Market This Month

This residential paper burner approved by the Columbus Division of Smoke Regulation went into production last week, Herbert C. Johnson, smoke regulation engineer, has announced. Several other models by local manufacturers are to be tested and set unp for production. The approved burner should be available for retail stores early in February, Johnson said.

The design was approved nearly two years ago by the city for trash burning but at that time there were no manufacturers willing to put it into production.

The unit consists of a 15-gallon steel drum, perforated with four to five rows of three-quarter-inch diameter holes. The drum will have three drain holes in the bottom and should be placed on three bricks or concrete blocks. It should be covered with a one-quarter inch mesh wire screen.

For those interested in making this burner the Smoke Regulation Department advised that other metal containers of 10 to 15 gallon capacity may be used. Larger drums are not permitted.

This burner, also approved by the Fire Department, is for residential use only and should be placed at least 15 feet from buildings, autos, trees and other combustibles.

Johnson released the following official instructions for burning:

1. Burning is ONLY to be done from dawn until dusk, 2. Place only dry loose paper in unit—no rubbish, trash, magazines, catalogues, garbage, green or damp vegetation is to be burned, 3. Place wire screen across top while burning paper, 4. Leave ash in unit for several hours before emptying (preferably overnight), 5. Be a good neighbor—don't burn paper when ash particles will settle on a neighbor's laundry!

For Your Thoughts

Question: How do you feel about the proposed ban on Sunday sale or exhibition of real estate?

Mrs. Lloyd W. Slagle, 3710 Eakin-rd: I do not think they should be allowed to sell homes on a day like Sunday. Most other businesses take at least one day a week off, so I think that the real estate men should, also.

Mrs. N. C. Booth, 319 S. Keys: I think that the proposed ban is a good idea. My husband and I have sold a couple of homes through real estate agencies, but I do not like the idea of them bothering us on Sunday, of all days.

Mrs. P. T. Read, 478 N. Powell-av: "Although I think that real estate salesmen deserve a day off once a week, there are always people who can find no time other than on Sunday to look around at new homes.

Mrs. Herbert W. Dailey, 615 Belvidere-av: I do not think that it should be necessary for them to conduct business on Sunday. Everybody should take one day off for rest. All they have to do is to read the Bible to learn why.

Edgar Estepp, 249 Wrexham: Personally, I do not think they should be allowed to sell on Sundays, but on the other hand, I can find no fault with the real estate companies showing open homes any day of the week.

HBA PARADE

Mrs. Jones Finds Fascination In Welcome Wagon Contacts

"Welcome Wagon is the most gratifying work — it has been an education for me," said Mrs. Evelyn E. Jones of her eight-year-old job with this community welcome service.

A brief run-down on Mrs. Jones' activities shows she has done work for Children's Hospital, has served two terms in the past as treasurer of the Hilltop Business Association and has been an active member of HBA's executive committee. She also belongs to Kiwanikwe.

These added to her Welcome Wagon work have made life full and interesting, she said. Yet, Mrs. Jones pointed out that her home and family come first. Her husband, Bill, is assistant manager of The City National Bank and Trust Co., Hilltop branch. She said her husband and children, Bill, 16, and Susan, 11, get top priority on her time.

Mrs. Evelyn E. Jones

Qualifies as Supervisor

Mrs. Jones, born in Lima, O., and schooled in Lancaster, last week completed her fourth Welcome Wagon training course in New York and is now qualified to serve as a supervisor. Besides serving as key Welcome Wagon hostess for the West Columbus area, Mrs. Jones is now supervisor for the organization in Union County.

She said she makes a point of learning something new from every one she meets. "I have met people in all walks of life on my hundreds of calls and each contact brings enjoyment to me because I like welcoming people to our community," she added.

In explaining the types of calls made by hostesses she listed: birth of a baby, engagement announcements, change of residence, arrival of newcomers and other special family occasions.

Her plans for this year and the future include service as leader for her daughter's Camp Fire group, Yima Wosuta. She and her husband plan to assist in the MYF group of Glenwood Methodist Church where they are members. Bill, Jr., is now vice president of the group.

She intends to go to New York city every year for refresher courses in Welcome Wagon work. In the little spare time this active family has the Joneses enjoy camping in their trailer. Mrs. Jones cited the Rocky Mountains in Colorado as one of her favorite camping grounds.

Bible Comment:

Christ Didn't Try To Exploit His Miraculous Cures

WHEN CHRIST healed a leper in a town near Capernaum, He told the man to show himself to the priest in fulfillment of Jewish law, but warned him to say nothing to anyone else.

But when the leper found that he was whole again, he began to "blaze abroad the matter" so that Christ couldn't enter the city. He tried to get away into the desert but the crowds surrounded Him there.

Once again Christ had emphasized that His mission was to heal souls, not bodies, that He found His work in spiritual rather than physical matters.

What healer has ever tried to avoid publicity or tried to get away from a crowd? On the contrary, the typical healer thrives on publicity and tries to exploit it.

When Christ did come back to Capernaum, there was such a mob around His door that a sick man had to be lowered through a hole in the roof. Christ must have been impressed that they took such measures, but His first words to the sick man were not ones of healing, but an assurance that his sins had been forgiven.

This was a distinct challenge to the conventional religious thought and attitude. Christ had asserted His unique place and [illegible].

Immediately many lost interest in the miraculous. They sensed something that was heretical according to their lights. In this case, they didn't appreciate His speaking as one with authority and "not as the [illegible]."

But the effect was just what Christ had intended—to guard against being regarded as a physical rather than spiritual healer. It is the salvation of the whole man that comes first in the work of Christ. The healing of the body was an incidental part.

If Christ had only been a great healer, His name and fame would have vanished long ago. It is because His Gospel is "the power of God unto salvation" that He is the same yesterday, today and forever.

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

THIS WEEK SHOP FOR:
Fruits—Grapefruit, Florida Oranges, apples, canned pears.
Vegetables—Head lettuce, cabbage, carrots, Brussels sprouts, potatoes.
Protein Foods — Chuck roast, ground beef, whole ham, large eggs.

FEBRUARY — CHALLENGES FOOD SHOPPERS

Marketing this month will continue to challenge homemakers. Menus can be appealing and economical in spite of increased prices on many fresh fruits, vegetables and meats. One look at the market this morning and you are assured there is an abundance of food. You'll find it fun to accept the challenge of keeping the budget intact by doing sharp planning and shopping. Some tips on basic buys that may help you are:

Fruits and Vegetables — A continued easing of tight supplies of citrus fruits and vegetables is more apparent. You'll see more grapefruit on the market at slightly lower prices than last week, and the quality is good. Supplies of Florida oranges are increasing, too. More cabbage, carrots and celery are on the way.

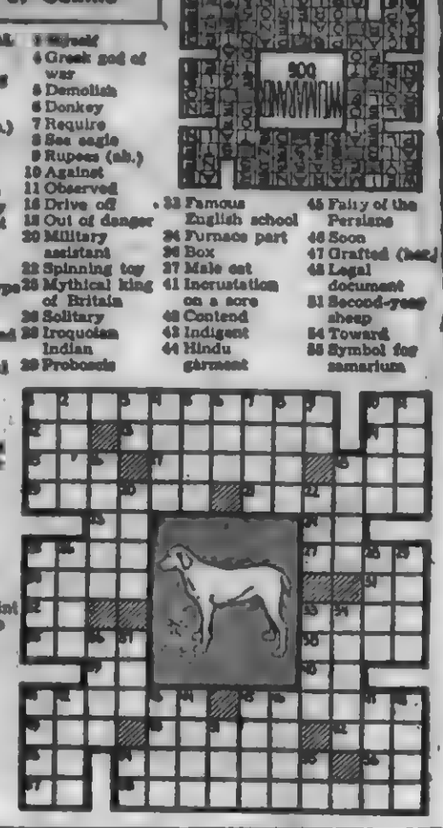
Short supplies still remain for green peppers, green onions, radishes, green beans, broccoli. The tomatoes are mostly re-packs from Cuba and remain high in price with mediocre quality. There is a shorter supply of California naval oranges, with resulting higher prices. Look for the larger size as your better orange buy.

In addition to the fresh fruits and vegetables already named lemons, endive, rutabagas, parsnips, turnips and dry onions remain good buys. Look for good values in some of the canned vegetables, particularly with corn, green beans, peas, beets and kidney beans. Canned peaches, pears and fruit cocktail remain as very reasonable buys. Don't overlook the many uses for inexpensive dried prunes.

Meats—There's little change in meat supply or prices. With storms in western areas of the U.S., less beef and pork were shipped to market. As long as beef continues in short supply, you can expect prices of other meats to remain at a fairly high level.

This week-end different markets will feature various specials in the meat line. Among them will be pork shoulder butt, ham shanks, and chuck roast. Lamb for stew will also be available at economical prices. Turkey, either fresh or frozen, is one of the lower priced choices. Thrifty shoppers will take advantage of such items as sausage-type meats, variety meats, and frozen fish. These are all "buy-a-pound, serve-a-pound" foods with no waste involved.

TRY THESE



Inexpensive liver with onions and baked apples.

Drain a can of hominy and brown it in the drippings after pan-broiling ground beef patties. Add one-half cup of light cream and let it simmer five minutes. Fix a thrifty platter of ground beef hash or ham encircled with piping hot green peas and edged with hot fluffy rice.

Bacon and eggs are good for dinner on days the family has skipped them for breakfast.

An old-fashioned favorite dish was turnip cups . . . peeled white turnips with centers removed, cooked until just tender. . . . with peas to fill the cup. Good with either pork or beef.

Bacon and eggs are good for dinner on days the family has skipped them for breakfast.

An old-fashioned favorite dish was turnip cups . . . pealed white turnips with centers removed, cooked until just tender. . . . with peas to fill the cup. Good with either pork or beef.

Valleyview councilmen voted Monday night to pay the tab for garbage pick-up in the village after Mar. 1 relieving residents of a five dollar per year fee.

A report from the Public Utilities Commission was also heard by the village fathers. The report showed that the gas company rate would return a 4.2 per cent profit on their proposed village rate, will within the six percent allowed by law.

A meeting with gas company representatives was set for March. Council had objected to the rate since the line which supplies Columbus comes through Valleyview before entering the city. Columbus' rate is slightly less.

in a rate application filed Monday.

The company proposes to eliminate long distance charges for all calls between the Franklin County exchanges, thus providing county-wide calling privileges and also include West Jefferson in an enlarged local calling area. The same basic rates would be charged in the West Jefferson exchange as apply in Columbus.

In addition, the company proposes to enlarge the Columbus Base Rate Area to include two rate zones around the perimeter of the city.

For business service, the following rate adjustments will be sought; an individual flat rate business line would be increased at $17.25 a month; and measured business service to $3.75 monthly. On measured service, the charge for additional calls over the proposed monthly allowance of 90 calls would be increased from 4¾ to 5¾ cents.

Hilltop YMCA—

Reporting on the status of the campaign to raise $2,520,000 for the purpose of building new YMCA buildings including $350,000 for the Hilltop building, C. Carlton Hartley, chairman of the Hilltop Y board and chairman of the capital funds drive, stated that over $300,000 has been subscribed as the campaign just now gets underway.

He pointed to the need for a great number of volunteers workers from this community to help in the campaign. More than 60 such volunteers signed cards during the evening to work in the drive. Emphasis was placed on the fact that if the Hilltop is to get this new building the people of the community must support this drive with very substantial pledges to be paid over a three-year period.

To Serve Large Area

The new Hilltop Y will contain a large swimming pool, club rooms, meeting places and numerous facilities to be made available to people all over the area. It was pointed out that both the YMCA and YWCA will use the facility if present plans are carried out. It is also expected that very many young people living outside the city limits in the area west of the city will avail themselves of the program and facilities.

Henry Ruegg presided at the meeting. Invocation was by Rev. George Taylor with benediction by Rev. Robert E. Clark. A welcome from Westinghouse was given by T. P. Duncan. Herbert Dennis was chairman of the nominating committee with the speaker being introduced by Bill Jones. Recognition services were led by James Henery and a special dance was presented by the Indian Guides. Financial report was given by Sam Alford. Scout Enrollment Swells

Robert G. Meade, 725 S. Highland-av, as executive head of the Central Ohio Boy Scout district, notes a 69.2 per cent increase in scout enrollment in Franklin County in the last five years. Membership now stands at 11,183 . . . 1,937 of whom are registered in the southwest sector. There are 62 local units, most of them sponsored by churches, patriotic groups or service clubs.

Meade cites that, of 38,501 boys not served in the county, some 75 to 90 per cent would be active if good Scout units were organized in their neighborhoods. The number of units must be doubled through the efforts of more adult volunteer leaders if the character-building obligations of community youth are to be met, Meade said.

The professional staff numbers the same as five years ago and personnel loads have more than doubled, he said.

During the past year the council succeeded in obtaining a new 1126-acre campsite in the Hocking Hills. Funds for basic camp facilities must be forthcoming before the council can benefit local youth to the fullest, Meade continued.

He urged public support of Scouting's biggest fund-raising event, the Scout-O-Rama, which will be staged at the state fairgrounds several weeks from now.

REZONING DENIED

A request to rezone a two-acre tract on Fisher-rd west of Hague-av for a skating rink was denied last week by County Commissioners. It was stated that the area might be in the way of the West Freeway.

Local Zone—

Bechtel, planning director, had opposed the move because he said it was "spot zoning."

Plans Immediate Start

Schulze said the new supermarket should be completed in about two months depending on weather conditions. He plans to lease his present store at that time to Bill Harrup, of Cramer's Drug Store, located at Sandusky and W. Broad-sts. Harrup is forced to vacate this location because of the Sandusky expressway.

Harrup is expected to vacate the property in March. Schulze said he hoped his new store is completed by that time so the two businesses may move without interrupting business. He said that he has had no opposition in the neighborhood to the rezoning and found it hard to understand council's previous decision.

Holy Family Five In 62-48 Loss

St. Charles gained sweet revenged Tuesday night by dropping Holy Family out of the Central Catholic League top spot with a convincing 62-48 victory. Earlier this season, the Red Raiders had eked out a one point verdict over the Cards.

Don Perdue led the Raider five with 24 points, but all to no avail as the aroused St. Charles quintet led through the entire game. The loss gives the Raiders a 4-3 record in league play.

West Quintet Loses Tilt To Bears, 69-58

West High Cowboys, stubbornly resisting undefeated North, bowed before the Polar Bears' last quarter rally to the tune of [illegible].

The game, played on West's floor before a standing room only crowd, was North's 13th straight win of the season.

North led at each quarter mark with scores of 22 to 16, 34 to 28 and 52 to 39.

West rallied and came within three points, 58 to 55 with 2.17 minutes of playing time left.

Mack led West's scoring with 17 points, followed by Furry with 14; Spears, 11; Ash, nine; Armentrout, five and Anderson, two.

Eddie Clark of the Bears, with 31 points, took scoring honors for the night.

West Columbus Polio Drive Is Successful, Say Mothers

According to the mothers and their assistants who marched in the polio drive last Thursday, Hilltop and West Side residents were generous and friendly. Again this year the area went over its given quota.

That people were opening their pocketbooks as well as their hearts is proved by two incidents turned in by those who worked on the fund. As one mother was going on to a porch to make a collection she met a paper boy also trying to collect. The residents were't home. The paper boy decided to donate for them as well as himself. He gave the mother a dollar to fight polio.

In another instance, a friendly woman came to the door of a home where the residents were in a poor financial state. The woman said she had almost no money but would give what she had. The amount was 13 cents. The spirit behind this contribution made it worth much more.

Mrs. James Hamilton, 489 Nashoba-av, reports that her territory collected far more than last year. The area was bounded by Ryan-av, Wheatland-av between W. Mound-st and Sullivant-av. Her assistants all turned in good reports. They were Mrs. Kenneth Calland, Mrs. Paul Gilhan, Mrs. Fred Erfurt, Mrs. Elinor Midlick, Mrs. James Pendergast, Mrs. Charles Page, Mrs. Gene Powell, Mrs. L. Surrell, Mrs. Canard, and Mrs. Neibler, coin major.

Mrs. William Lane, West Side chairman, reports $3,238.13 as the total collection in her area. The territory lies between Wheatland-av and the Scioto River, McKinley-av to Stimmel-rd, W. Broad-st south to W. Mound-st. She said the mothers (and the fathers) did a fine job. Workers were afraid the advent of the Salk vaccine might numb the interest towards this year's polio campaign. From all reports, apparently it had little effect on the drive.

Retired Biscuit Salesman Hopes To Resume Pigeon Racing Soon

PIGEON TIMER gets a check on running order from Malcolm H. Brown who has been racing homing pigeons since he was a boy. The timer is used to stamp the log hands when the pigeons return from a race.

By Roy Sheffer

Malcolm H. Brown and his wife, Elsie, have literally grown up with Columbus, and have watched the building of the West Side, Hilltop, West Jefferson and surrounding communities from mere farm land.

Born in West Jefferson in 1881, Malcolm came to Columbus ten years later and attended the old Camp Chase country school where the Westmont Theater is now located. His education was rounded out at Highland Avenue School and the old Central High School.

Following a string of the usual odd jobs including some work on a newspaper where he met his wife, Malcolm decided to turn his talents to selling. This turn in his life led to more than 50 years' service for the Strietmann Biscuit Company (formerly Felbers).

His first selling route for the firm began at Mound and Highsts extending to Broad-st and Hague-av. His ultra-modern vehicle at that time consisted of a wagon and a team of horses! When Malcolm was forced to retire last May because of a stroke his route included the territory west of the Scioto River, reaching to Grove City, with more than 200 accounts.

In 1951, the Columbus Sales Executive Club of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce presented the Selling Merit Award to Malcolm for his long and successful selling record with Strietmann's.

Pigeons "Good, Clean Hobby"

Long ago, however, Malcolm decided that a person should have a hobby to make life really interesting and for relaxation. He and his wife began raising and racing homing pigeons. "It's a good clean hobby for a man and one way a woman can always be sure of where her husband is," said Mrs. Brown. They have always followed the hobby together even though she has still another interest. She has made well over a hundred quilts in her lifetime and continues to do so now. "A person has to have something to fill their time when they get older," she said.

The Browns kept more than 60 pigeons housed in the second-story loft of their garage until Malcolm's illness last year. The birds are now farmed out in Reynoldsburg and Pataskala. Malcolm was for many years an officer in the Southern Flying Club for pigeon owners and has won scores of prizes when racing his birds.

Entered Cross-Country Event

One of his biggest thrills gained from his hobby, said Malcolm, was his participation in the Lions Club cross-country pigeon race a few years ago. It worked on a relay system. Malcolm sent his birds to Pittsburgh for their race back to Columbus.

The farms, where Malcolm's pigeons are now housed, are raising some young birds for him now in anticipation of his complete recovery to good health by spring. He is now much stronger and hopes to race his pigeons when good weather arrives.

The Browns reside at 3150 Sullivant-av and have been married 51 years. They have one daughter, Mrs Elsie Distlehorst. Malcolm and his wife feel that doing things together has been the prime reason for their happy lives.

They look back together and remember this area as plowed fields and feel proud they have been able to watch it grow into many fine and growing communities.

Lt. Jones was last stationed in Korea. A 1952 graduate of Central High School, he attended Ohio State University before entering the Army in 1953.

Your Youth

The Westgate Gra-Y Club has recently been divided into two clubs; one for boys in grades 4 and 5, and one for those in grade 6. This is a "pilot project" for the Hilltop YMCA's grade school program for boys in the last three grades of elementary school.

The Westgate Club was chosen because the some 40 members were almost evenly divided between fourth graders and sixth graders, with only a few boys in the fifth grade. It is hoped in the smaller, grade-level clubs that programming and individual growth will be accomplished that will make a stronger and more meaningful program. Officers of the fourth and fifth grade club are David Walker, president; Daniel Walker, vice-president; David Line, secretary; Jud Boley, treasurer; Mark Winchell, chaplain; Steve Barnard, sergeant-at-arms. Officers of the sixth grade club are, for the most part, the original ones: Roger Essig, president; Mike Uldericks, vice president; Roger Chrisman, secretary; Skip Sanford, treasurer; Jack Hilbert, sergeant-at-arms. The chaplain is unnamed at present.

We have received news of a change of meeting time and day for the Hilltonia Jr. Hi-Y Club. Beginning this week the members will meet after school every other week, and continue its evening programs on the Tuesday evenings in between. Average Man Is Figured By Optimists

People often have the tendency to place others into certain categories.

This sometimes happens when a person thinks of a service club.

Usually, it is not possible to tell if one person's impression of a group is accurate. But in the case of the newly formed Western Optimist Club that may not be the case.

Each member of the club was given an interest finder. When filled out, the questionnaire was returned to the secretary of the club who tallied the answers.

Using that information as a base, it is possible to tell just what the interest of the "average" Western Optimist member is. According to the study, his interests

The average Western Optimist member is 32 years old. He lives somewhere on the Hilltop and has two children, one boy and one girl.

Oddly enough, he is a member of the Hilliards Jaycees, plus at least two other community or fraternal organizations.

His favorite hobby is hunting and fishing. He likes to bowl during the winter, but enjoys getting outdoors to fish in the summer.

The average Optimist cannot play an instrument. He is very interested in boys' work, sports events, church and civic affairs.

That is how the average Western Optimist member looks on paper.

World Traveling Chef Now In VOA Kitchen

A sea-going world traveler who has spent nearly a lifetime over the "open range" has settled for a while in Columbus as chief chef of the Volunteers of America headquarters, 379 W. Broad-st, with a daily responsibility of preparing more than 300 meals.

Thomas Sullivan accepted the position of chef about a month ago. Cooking for him is not a drudgery as it gets to be for the average housewife, but is an "art." His recipes have come from nearly every country in the world and the creativeness of his food has delighted residents and staff members alike at the VOA post. Lt. Col. Harriet McDonald, executive officer of the post, said, "he makes the most delicious hot rolls you have ever tasted."

Born and schooled in St. Louis, Sullivan during his 32 years as a cook has been exposed to the art very casually. During his teens several relatives began teaching him the difference between a calendar and a colander and divulging the secrets of various "hand-me-down" family recipes.

Cooked On Luxury Liners

With several years "internship" in bakery shops, Sullivan took off for the open sea as a chef on ocean-going luxury liners. He added new recipes to his collection in every country he visited which "includes nearly every one on earth!

Included in his "soup to nuts" background is the ownership of several restaurants, setting up concessions at Army camps and Naval bases, and summers spent cooking for tourists at Glacier National Park. The latter job provided a little time for some good fishing, said Sullivan! This, added to several years in the Maritime service instructing prospective cooks, completes the experience of a good cook who has worked his way into the hearts of the men at VOA by way of their stomachs!

The Pheasants Flew!

Sullivan said that cooks have their tense moments when everything seems to go wrong just like other professions. He cited one instance when he was preparing a banquet for members of an athletic club. He was carrying a large tray of pheasants just out of the oven when a young boy knocked a big jar of mustard to the floor spreading the yellow substance right into the path of Sullivan. He slipped, fell, was covered with mustard and pheasants went flying everywhere! Needless to say, the banquet was held up for some time!

A widower with a grown son and daughter, Sullivan had just spent several months recuperating from a serious operation when he answered the ad for a chef at VOA in Columbus. He said he enjoys his work there and has no definite plans for the future. One thing sure, he said, if he does any more traveling it will be back to the sea for him!

The cold water wash is a new laundry trend, however it has limitations. Certain fabrics and finishes and only some non-oily soils may be washed clean in cold water.

Joint returns may be filed on the short Form 1040A if the total income was less than $5,000. That is the word from Uncle Sam to Federal income taxpayers.

Tumbling Is Big Attraction

LOTTA LEAPIN' goes on at Glenwood Recreation Center, 1925 W. Broad-st, every Friday from 4 to 6 p.m. when this boys' tumbling class holds its sessions. All community youths are invited to join the fun. Here, Dick Groezinger tries a "forward roll" over Jim Case and Ken Snider.

Squirrels Are Foxy - - Instinct, Or Not?

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Bob Richards told me last fall that he had quite a time watching the progress of two squirrel nests being built in a sycamore tree in his front yard. The nests are close together, and one is larger than the other. It looks to me like a squirrel started one nest and abandoned it before it was completed, and then built the second larger nest.

Building nests for warmth in winter is an uncommon occurrence in the wild. Practically all animals, of course, prepare nests of some type for the coming of young. Some hibernate in dens which they line with dried grasses and leaves. Others spend the cold periods in dens or holes, but do not improve them with nesting materials.

Squirrels are almost an exception, in that they will construct a leaf nest to live in all winter if there are no dens available. They build leaf nests in the spring too, in which they rear their young. These nests are difficult to see because of the leaves on trees. The winter nests, however, are built in September and October, and are easily visible.

"Instinct" Baffles Scientists.

In addition to building a house for the winter, squirrels are pretty foxy individuals in other respects. Scientists have found that squirrels raised in captivity that have never seen other squirrels bury acorns and nuts, will also bury food for a rainy day. Some scientists are reluctant to use the word "instinct," but they cannot explain this behavior.

It seems to me that they are fooling themselves when they refuse to recognize the fact that the desire to bury nuts is passed on from one squirrel generation to another. You can take a beagle pup that has never seen a rabbit, or that has never seen another dog chasing a rabbit, yet find that it has a keen desire to chase rabbits. This can be explained only by instinct in my book.

Another thing that the good doctors learned by examining what goes on in a fox squirrel's head, is that squirrels will not bury an unlimited amount of nuts or acorns. If they are supplied with an unlimited quantity, they will bury a lot of them and then stop. It appears that this food-saving instinct is in delicate balance—it provides for adequate food for the squirrel, but does not allow it to take all the food before other squirrels have a chance at it.

In any event, squirrels build their own houses and they lay in a food supply for the duration. And anyone who can do this in this day and age is a pretty foxy individual.

Plant Engineers Have Big Year In Patent Field

Engineers at the local plant of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation topped their 1957 patent disclosure goal by 52 per cent when they submitted 245 disclosures during the year.

It was reported that of the 245 disclosures submitted, 97 were selected to receive $50 patent disclosure awards and five others received $200 awards.

Among local recipients of $200 awards were W. R. Cobb, 4923 Hamden-wy; G. H. Reverman, 2749 St. Joseph-av; L. K. Nelson, 4138 Alkire-rd, Grove City.

It was explained that a disclosure is an idea or theory that has been investigated and developed thoroughly and is presented for patent consideration in an organized form.

The local plant placed close to the top in competition with 56 other major Westinghouse plants. Columbus was first among the three appliance divisions' plants.

Mardi-Gras Date Set For Feb. 15

A Mardi-Gras dance will be held at St. Mary Magdalene Hall Saturday evening, Feb. 15.

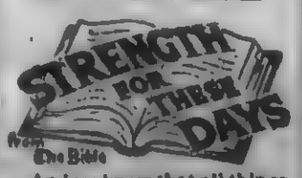
Carl's Combo will play for round and square dancing from 9 p.m. to midnight. Public is invited and tickets are available at the door.

Paul Weisenbach is general chairman of the affair. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanders and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Leonard are in charge of decorations.

Trapping Season Lasts Until 15th Of March

Raccoon, skunk and opossum hunters still have until Feb. 15 for night hunting adventures. Only the ringtail hunter has to be concerned with a bag limit. Four coon in the field is all he's allowed.

Trapping season for fur bearing animals will not end until Mar. 15. Muskrat, mink, raccoon, opossum and skunk are legal game for Ohio's trappers. There's no bag limit on any of these species.



Hunters Play Small Role In Survival Of Game

Seventy per cent or more of our upland game species survive only one year. Only 30 per cent or less of Ohio's rabbits, pheasants, grouse, partride and quail live longer than a year.

Hunting plays a minor role in this natural phenomenon according to Dr. Eugene Dustman, coordinator of Ohio's Wildlife Research Unit at Ohio State University.

Rebekahs Plan Party

Rebekah Lodges of Districts 39 and 40 will hold a benefit card party Feb. 14, 8 p.m. at IOOF Temple, 50 W. Fifth-av.

And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God...—(Romans 8.28.)

It is wonderful to meet, on memorable occasions that are all too infrequent, a person who truly loves God and obeys His commandments every hour of every day. Such a one radiates love and joy, peace and harmony, strength and goodness, and is really blessed and fulfilled. We can all be like that—why aren't we?

Spaghetti Supper Set At St. James

St. James Fellowship Society will sponsor a spaghetti supper at the Parish Hall, 1683 Rome-Hilliards-rd, Sunday, Feb. 9.

Supper will be served from 5 p.m. and tickets may be obtained at the door. Proceeds will be contributed to the church's building fund.

A FEATHER IN OUR CAP!

Competing with other weekly newspapers from all corners of Ohio, two Hartley newspapers were singled out for high honors at the silver anniversary convention of the Ohio Newspaper Association last week.

The Hilltop Record and the Rural-Urban News captured three second place awards, two in third place and two honorable mentions in the Osman C. Hooper Newspaper Show for weeklies. Both were entered in a division for publications in communities of more than 5,000 persons.

The awards were accepted by C. Carlton Hartley, publisher and Marcus T. Orr, Record editor at the Deshler-Hilton Friday morning. The Rural-Urban News is edited by Bill Rush.

The Hilltop Record scored second in three categories—advertising excellence, women's news and local features; third in local art; honorable mention in news coverage. The Rural-Urban News received third place in advertising excellence and honorable mention in sports. Both papers also were commended for variety in front page make-up and for promoting a quality business directory.

North American Presents All Purpose Jet Trainer

Further proof that we have come a long way since World War II in improving the training program of our pilots as well as in the equipment we provide them was much in evidence Monday afternoon as North American Aviation presented its new T2J all purpose jet trainer.

I was privileged to be on hand for the first demonstration flight of the new plane as the guest of George Snodgrass, North American official.

The new plane was designed, and produced in Columbus and will be placed into use soon by the Navy. It is a complete pilot training system with a top speed of 500 miles per hour.

Through use of this plane navy pilots will no longer be required to graduate from one plane to another in the training command. Now it will be possible for the pilot to get basic pilot instruction, instrument work, gunnery training, formation and tactics, carrier qualifications and other diversified service operation, all in the one plane.

Aviation company officials point out that today's pilots are much better trained than during the last war. Aviation people can rightfully be proud of the better equipment now being made available to our young pilots.

But what about the guided missile age? Not yet here, say officials. At this stage we merely have the button!

Mrs. Johnson's Four-Poster Once Slept A President's Wife

A PRESIDENT'S WIFE WHO SMOKED A PIPE once owned and slept in this pine four-poster bed according to Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, the present owner. The famed lady was Rachel Jackson, President Andrew Jackson's wife. The legs have been cut off making the bed about a foot lower than its original height. The chair pictured was salvaged from the Baltimore fire of 1904, a fire in which nearly 2500 buildings were destroyed. A relative of Mrs. Johnson's husband saved this old swivel chair in preference to his business ledgers. Because of this he was ruined financially but still had the chair which he treasured.

By Ray Shaffer

Once inside the door of 74 S. Terrace-av, a person experiences a bit of the 18th and 19th centuries. There, surrounded by solid, highly polished antique furnishings is a bed once owned by Rachel Jackson, wife of President Andrew Jackson.

Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, widow of a Maryland bridge designer, is the owner of this Hilltop home which reflects a bygone era. Among her antiques are some early photographs of her sister-in-law, Rida Johnson Young. Mrs. Young, a writer, was best known for her collaboration with Victor Herbert on such operetta classics as "Naughty Marietta." She also wrote the lyrics for "Mother Machree."

Mrs. Johnson acquired Rachel Jackson's bed and a matching mirror from Mrs. Patricia Cockay of Baltimore who once lived with her. She said she is the third person to have owned the bed since Rachel's death in 1832, shortly before Andrew was nominated for the 17th presidency.

Just Nice and Comfortable

When asked if she felt proud to be sleeping in a bed that once belonged to a president's wife, she replied, "Not particularly, it's just a nice comfortable bed!"

Born in Pickaway County, O., and a Hilltopper for seven years, Mrs. Johnson has an interesting story to tell about nearly every piece of furniture in her home. Her collection, for instance, includes a [illegible] old hand carved marble topped chest with a hidden lock.

Having lived most of her life in Baltimore she has many friends there who have been generous in adding to her antique collection. One friend, Lee Brown, presented Mrs. Johnson an original photograph of General Robert E. Lee. The picture had been given to his grandmother by Lee for her service to Confederate troops during the Civil War. It seems she slipped through the enemy lines from time to time bringing letters and notes from friends and sweethearts to the southern soldiers. She had the notes pinned to the underside of her hoop skirt.

Husband Designed Bridges

Mrs. Johnson's husband, Samuel Moore Johnson, was a noted bridge, boat and dam designer in Maryland. She has several large photos of his bridges . . . the design of one allegedly was copied in the construction of our local O'Shaughnessy Dam. Shortly after his death Mrs. Johnson came to Columbus to live because of the nearness of relatives.

In looking through Mrs. Johnson's family Bible one finds that her great grandfather was a Chief Justice in England. In those days a man's profession determined his last name. When he came to the colonies as one of the early settlers in "old Virginia" his last name became Justice, spelled later as Justus.

New Assistant Managers Named To Bank Branches

Austin Hutt — Robert Weidner

The Ohio National Bank has announced the appointment of four new assistant branch managers in the city. Two of the newly elected are Austin Hutt, West Side Office, 642 W. Broad-st, and Robert Weidner, Hilltop Office, 2374 W. Broad-st.

Hutt is a graduate of West High School and attended the Ohio State University and the American Institute of Banking. He started at the Hilltop office in 1948 as a clerk and served as a loan teller and loan supervisor prior to his election as assistant manager. He is married and has three children. The Hutts reside at 254 N. Burgess-av.

Weidner was born in Thurston and attended Ohio University, Athens, and the American Institute of Banking. He served in the army from 1951 to 1953. On his release from military service, he entered the management training program and served in various branch offices. He is married and has two sons. The Weidners reside at 269 N. Chesterfield-rd.

The reduction in work force will bring the plant's total employed to 3750.

He was a member of Hilltop Business Association, Westgate Methodist Church, Magnolia Lodge, F&AM, Scottish Rite and Shrine.

Value Of Jackpot Now $15

Misfortune of last [illegible] readers means the increased good fortune of the lucky subscriber who spots the jackpot insignia in his copy of today's Hilltop Record, for value of the insignia has increased to $15.

Ten additional insignia, each worth one "Confederate" dollar, are also put in circulation on the Hilltop via Record ads.

Any subscriber whose name appears on our records as having paid in advance or on his carrier boy's route book, as a paying customer is eligible to collect "Confederate" money.

No tricks or gimmicks of any kind are used in the Record's "Confederate" money game. Insignia are always printed in distinctively colored ink in full view on an ad.

Any subscriber spotting an insignia in his copy of the newspaper may redeem it for "Confederate" currency in the Record office before noon on Saturday of the week of publication.

All advertisers appearing in the current issue of the newspaper will accept "Confederate" money at face value in payment for any merchandise in their stores.

Employes and carriers of the Record and members of their families are ineligible.

Anderson, 1030 Jackson-pk, assistant manager of Harry J. Reynolds & Assoc. Inc., and Seidel, 197 Wayne-st, Hilliards, manufacturer's representative of Broyhill Furniture, resigned their offices because of the large amount of traveling their jobs entail.

CARD PARTY PLANNED

St. Agnes Altar Society will sponsor a card party Feb. 11 8:30 p.m. in the school hall on W. Mound-st.

Bean Dinner Is Shifted To Local Airport

Something new in the way of a Hilltop Bean Dinner will be served up by the Hilltop Business Association comes next July 29-30.

An all-out effort will be forthcoming from association members who will join with numerous other civic groups of the community this year in sponsoring the event. Entire net proceeds of the affair will go to the building fund of the Hilltop YMCA.

This decision was made following the recommendation of the bean dinner committee and was approved by the executive committee of the association.

Plans have been made to shift the bean dinner this year from Westgate Park where it has been held since 1915 to Sullivant Avenue Airport. Gomer Jones, manager, has agreed that the entire field and hangars will be available for the show since any profits derived are to assist the "Y" building program.

Herbert To Be Chairman

Chester Herbert is chairman of the event this year.

The committee has already agreed that one big event at the bean dinner will be the return of the commercial exhibits. Local business firms will have displays at the field. These will be housed in the hangars.

Outstanding entertainment and numerous new features are being planned.

It is the hope of the committee that a good profit will be derived from the show, thus resulting in a large contribution to the "Y." This decision was made in view of the fact that the new "Y" facility will be used by so many people of this community.

No large profits have been made by bean dinners in recent years. The association has not attempted to make a profit. In fact, as much as $1500 a year has been subscribed by business people to assure financial success of the event.

No underwriting fee will be asked from business firms this year.

All organizations in the community interested in the "Y" program are asked to contact C. H. Campbell at association headquarters, 2183 W. Broad-st, to offer assistance in some phase of the program.

A list of the necessary committees is being arranged by the committee chairman and will be announced soon.

Will Build Facilities At Hauntz Pk.

Substantial improvements are in the works for Hauntz Park, which lies just south of the 1900 block of Sullivant-av.

N. J. Barack, City Recreation Director, told the Record Tuesday that bids will be advertised next week for construction of a field house and hard-surfaced play area at Hauntz.

Barack said the facilities would be built on the Columbian-av side. They will include a 45 by 20 foot under-roof play area with toilets and storage space and a 76 by 66-foot hard surfaced court suitable for basketball, volleyball, skating or dancing.

The request for bids calls for construction of brick or stone to conform with homes in the neighborhood. The bids are to be opened Mar. 4 and work may be under way by the middle of the month, Barack said.

The park was developed several years ago from a marshy area through efforts led by the Highland Garden Club. It was named for Ray G. Hauntz, prominent Hilltop businessmen and civic worker.

Commissioners Approve 16-Acre Annex Tract

A 16-acre tract in Franklin Township was approved by the County Commissioners Tuesday for annexation to Columbus.

The area is bounded by the City of Columbus on the west, the village of Valleyview on the east, the Pennsylvania Railroad on the north, Valleyview-dr on the south.

Local Patrolman Finds Brother's Stolen Vehicle

Patrolman Lawrence McNulty found his brother's stolen car abandoned at Sullivant-av and Binns-blvd just an hour after the theft of the auto Monday night.

John E. McNulty, 730 Savannah-dr, was visiting his father, Hugh W. McNulty, Sr., at 450 S. Roys-av, when someone stole his car. The police were notified of the theft and John's brother, Lawrence, was sent to take the official report. The patrolman is a resident of the Roys-av address. He discovered the car an hour later.

WHAT'S YOUR HOBBY?

West High School PTA will sponsor a hobby show Tuesday, Mar. 25, beginning at 7:45 p.m. It will be held in the school cafeteria to provide ample room for both large and small displays.

Children and adults are invited to display their hobbies and it is not necessary to be a member of the PTA. Anyone interested in providing a display should contact Mrs. Robert M. Draper, BR. 4-6203 or Mrs. Virgil Furry, BR. 4-2969.

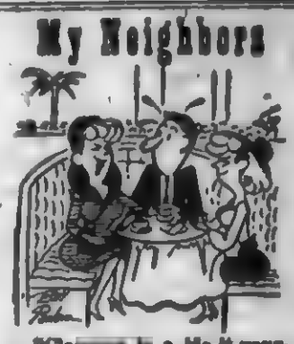
Chittlin' Switch
Sunday Noon

Dear Jason,

Well it finally happened! Your Paw's hunting dog, Franz, finally took a hunk out of the mailman's leg. Paw decided to get rid of the dog so he took Franz to town and when Paw came home he told me he got $1500.00 for him. I thought we made out for a while until he told me it wasn't cash he got but he had swapped Franz for three five hundred dollar cats.



Your brother Zeke was boasting about the girl he met last week at Pasturepile Flats. He kept telling us she was a real doll and called her Dreamboat. I got a good look at her and thought she may have been a dreamboat at one time, right now her anchor's dragging and her cargo has definitely shifted!

Your sister, Gangrene, is a cheerleader for the Chittlin' Switch High basketball team and last Saturday night they played Beaver Gulch High. The Swich team would have won except for one thing — Beaver Gulch showed up.

Guess I'll close now but before I do I've got to tell you more about those three cats your father brought home that he exchanged for the dog. We've named them Fluffy, Tuffy and Liberace. Fluffy is the Fluffiest, Tuffy is the toughest, and Liberace — he's the pianist.

Write soon,
Your loving,
MOM.

Bible Comment:

Prayer Is the Great Discipline Of the Soul

IF Christ felt the need of prayer, how much more do we need prayer in our lives.

If we could sense the things that He prayed for in His all-night meditation and supplication, would we not understand better than we do the true place and function of prayer? Can we imagine for a moment that Christ prayed for material things? Did prayer mean for Him the earth-bound things that it has meant for so many of us?

Or, was not prayer for Him a great discipline in which He was seeking to discover His Father's will so that He could conform completely to it? This surely is the true place and function of prayer—not getting things in the ordinary mistaken notion of Christian prayer, but attaining to the supreme thing, which is unity of our wills with God.

Here also we can perceive and understand the true humanity of Christ. The divine revelation that he gave us was in an earthly life. He was subject to temptation, capable of enduring trial and sorrow. He needed the disciplines by which alone our lives and wills can be made strong.

We should constantly use this example of Christ when we have any tendency to lapse morally or to take things for granted. Prayer is a great discipline of the soul, leading man to God and bringing God's strength and power to men.

Then we have also the Beatitudes, the blessings which Christ pronounced which, quite as truly as His prayer, suggest how different the standards of right and character and success in the Kingdom of God are from the shallow standards set up in ordinary life.

To be worthy of these blessings is the supreme quest of the Christian.

What will the proposed change in phone rates mean to you?

Phil Gibbs of Ohio Bell says "Even with an increase, Columbus telephone rates will remain one of the best telephone bargains in the United States."

Ohio Bell recently asked The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for permission to raise the price of its service.

Here, Phil Gibbs, District Commercial Manager of the company, answers some questions from telephone customers about the effect of the change:

Q. HOW MUCH higher will the new rates be?

A. The basic charge for your home telephone service will go up 5¢ or less a day—between $1.15 and $1.50 a month, depending on the type of service you have.

The increase in basic rates for business lines will range between $1.60 and $2.85 a month.

In general, long distance station-to-station rates for calls under 54 miles within Ohio will go up 5¢ for the first three minutes. Increases are somewhat higher on most person-to-person calls within Ohio.

Q. WHEN will the new rates go into effect?

A. That's hard to say. We can't raise our prices any time we feel it necessary, as most other businesses can. We must get approval of the Utilities Commission first.

This means we must satisfy the Commission that we really need the increase before they'll OK it. All this takes time, but it makes sure that the telephone customer and the company both get a square deal.

Q. WHY is a rate increase necessary?

A. For the same reason other businesses have raised prices—RISING COSTS!

For example:

- Ohio Bell's annual tax bill has increased more than $15,000,000 since 1953. We paid over $52,000,000 in taxes last year.
- a telephone truck that cost $1,995 in 1953 now costs $2,370.
- Ohio Bell wages this year will cost $18,000,000 more than they did in 1953, when we last asked for a rate increase.

Q. WHAT will I get out of the rate change?

A. Some telephone charges are going down and others will be done away with entirely.

For instance:

- Columbus and the towns listed below will be combined into one local calling area. You will no longer pay toll charges when calling between any of these places:

ALTON	GROVE CITY	NEW ALBANY
CANAL WINCHESTER	GROVEPORT	REYNOLDSBURG
COLUMBUS	HARRISBURG	WESTERVILLE
DUBLIN	HILLIARDS	WORTHINGTON
GAHANNA		WEST JEFFERSON

Rural service will be dropped in Columbus and surrounding towns except in certain areas of Canal Winchester, Harrisburg and West Jefferson.

- We're eliminating the two rate zones around Columbus, which will benefit many customers.
- we'll eliminate the $3.00 charge for "spring" cords.
- you'll have lower rates on station-to-station calls over 54 miles within the state.
- there'll be a new $5.00 "visit charge" which will cover all work an installer does in one trip to your home. This will replace the $3.30 you now pay for each item you have installed or changed while he's there.
- we'll substitute a flat-rate charge for "mileage" charges on many business services.
- repair calls will continue to be free.

Q. HOW do Columbus telephone rates compare?

A. Since 1940 Ohio Bell has raised its rates only 27% while the cost of about everything else has doubled.

All in all the proposed changes in our rates will be reasonable. Even with some charges being increased, telephone rates in Columbus will still be among the best telephone bargains in the United States.

Liars Hold Game Dinner

The Riverside Liars' Club has held its annual game dinner. While the "true adventures" told were extraordinary, taxing the imagination of a group of practiced story tellers, the dinner stole the show.

A game dinner is the traditional way of closing a hunting season and its exciting every year to see how many types of game can be served. The Liars' dinner set some sort of record this year with nine kinds of game. The menu ranged from the common cottontail rabbit to exotic barbecued javeline. All of the game was provided by the hunting prowess of members and guests of the Club.

Appetizers?

When the sportsmen arrived they were provided with an array of appetisers that almost made their eyes pop. First off were plates heaped with fried grasshoppers and silkworms. It was my first experience at a dinner where insects were served, although I understand chocolate covered ants and the like are becoming quite popular.

I sampled the french-fried bugs and found that they taste just about the way you would expect—like burned popcorn. I saw that Paul Griffith crunched his way by the grasshoppers, but passed up the silkworms. Hayden Olds found the cherry blossoms too salty for a steady diet. Most of us were glad to see plates of smoked eel and octopus coming up. The quail eggs were delicious, as was the venison jerky dried in the sun the way Indians prepared it.

Frank Sayers was responsible for accumulating the appetizers, but I didn't see him sampling any.

Menu Read Like Georgraphy

The dinner itself included roast prime rib of Texas, Ohio, and Michigan venison, Abitibi moose loaf, Mexican style barbecued javelina, Wyoming antelope cutlets, roast young Ohio coon, cottontail Georgia style, Montana elk ribs, spitted mountain sheep, and Western Plains venison jerky. Also served were stewed prairie beans with wild boar, fried wild crab apple, dressing and gravy, Alaskan fluff potatoes, corn pone muffins, sour dough rolls, ice cream, cake, and North Woods coffee.

The entire dinner was excellently prepared, and the game especially, made fine eating. If asked to pick my favorites, however, they would have to be our locally grown cottontails and venison.

A number of sportsmen boasted of their experiences afield in the lying contest and John Anderson won the dubious honor of first place. He related his experiences with a Frenchman in the duck and muskrat marshes along Sandusky Bay.

Concluding the program were color films presented by Ralph Seaman of the Carling Conservation Club.

Outdoors enthusiasts are reminded of the fox drive starting at Groveport High School at 9 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 15. Participants are to bring only shotguns. Lunch will be served in the school at noon.

Food Markets This Week

CONVENIENCE CAN BE A GOOD BUY

Convenience Foods . . . those that have been partially or wholly prepared before they reach the food markets . . . have caught the fancy of the American homemaker.

As modern living patterns change with the trends in business and industrial employment, time becomes more and more a deciding factor in our shopping and food preparation procedures.

More than half the women on today's payrolls are married. These women look for convenience when they shop. They look for items which require a minimum of time and effort in meal preparation when they reach their efficiency kitchens.

Such convenience foods include packaged mixes, baked goods, canned foods ready to serve after heating, canned specialties, canned baby foods, canned and frozen soups, and frozen foods—including ready-to-heat and serve main dishes, specialties and desserts.

Does Convenience Cost—The amount and kinds of services added for the homemaker generally are factors that determine the added cost of convenience foods over those prepared at home. These so-called built-in maid services include processing, packaging — actually any phase of food preparation performed before the food item reaches the consumer.

Some of the more expensive services are complete preparation of food—as T.V. dinners—and the shift to smaller sized packages and containers. On the other hand, some of the built-in maid services have actually reduced the cost over the fresh, unprocessed item. A good example of this is frozen concentrated orange juice. Savings in transportation have more than offset added processing costs.

Actually, homemakers are still price conscious to the extent that the convenience foods that give the best bargains are the ones that have set the best sales record. Many of the frozen fruits, vegetables, and juices, as well as cake mixes and mix-up, ready-to-cook chicken, are examples of these "low cost" processed foods with high sales volume.

Convenience is a Good Buy If:

Cost fits into the food budget
Time and energy are saved
Items purchased fit family food needs
Storage facilities are adequate
Family gets eating pleasure and satisfaction

Smart shoppers keep these points in mind and study labels carefully. The label is the best buying guide.

Our Savior also said He would be with us, even to the end of time. He is here on earth with us in spirit, every moment and every hour, just as He walked among men in olden days. As He healed the sick and blind, so will He heal and help us today, when we open our contrite, devout hearts and let Him enter.

I thought we made out for a while until he told me it wasn't cash he got but he had swapped Franz for three five hundred dollar cats.

Your brother Zeke was boasting about the girl he met last week at Pasturepile Flats. He kept telling us she was a real doll and called her Dreamboat. Bible Comment:

Prayer Is the Great Discipline Of the Soul

If Christ felt the need of prayer, how much more do we need prayer in our lives.

If we could serve the things that He prayed for in His all-night meditation and supplication, would we not understand better than we do the true place and function of prayer? Can we imagine for a moment that Christ prayed for material things? Did prayer mean for Him the earth-bound things that it has [illegible] for so many of us?

Or, was not prayer for Him a great discipline in which He was seeking to discover His Father's will so that He could conform completely to it? This surely is the true place and function of prayer—not getting things in the ordinary mistaken notion of Christian prayer, but attaining to the supreme thing, which is unity of our wills with God.

Here also we can perceive and understand the true humanity of Christ. The devine revelation that He gave us was in an earthly life. He was subject to temptation, capable of enduring trial and sorrow. He needed the disciplines by which alone our lives and wills can be made strong.

We should constantly use this example of Christ when we have any tendency to lapse morally or to take things for granted. Prayer is a great discipline of the soul, leading men to God and bringing God's strength and power to man.

Then we have also the Beatitudes, the blessings which Christ pronounced which, quite as truly as His prayer, suggest how different the standards of right and character and success in the Kingdom of God are from the shallow standards set up in ordinary life.

To be worthy of these blessings is the supreme quest of the Christian.

What will the proposed change in phone rates mean to you?

Q. HOW MUCH higher will the new rates be?

Q. WHEN will the new rates go into effect?

Q. WHY is a rate increase necessary?

Q. WHAT will I get out of the rate change?

Q. HOW do Columbus telephone rates compare?

Phil Gibbs of Ohio Bell says "Even with an increase, Columbus telephone rates will remain one of the best telephone bargains in the United States."

Ohio Bell recently asked The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for permission to raise the price of its service.

Here, Phil Gibbs, District Commercial Manager of the company, answers some questions from telephone customers about the effect of the change:

A. The basic charge for your home telephone service will go up 5¢ or less a day—between $1.15 and $1.80 a month, depending on the type of service you have.

The increase in basic rates for business lines will range between $1.60 and $2.85 a month.

In general, long distance station-to-station rates for calls under 54 miles within Ohio will go up 5¢ for the first three minutes. Increases are somewhat higher on most person-to-person calls within Ohio.

A. That's hard to say. We can't raise our prices any time we feel it necessary, as most other businesses can. We must get approval of the Utilities Commission first.

This means we must satisfy the Commission that we really need the increase before they'll OK it. All this takes time, but it makes sure that the telephone customer and the company both get a square deal.

A. For the same reason other businesses have raised prices—RISING COSTS! For example:

- Ohio Bell's annual tax bill has increased more than $15,000,000 since 1953. We paid over $52,000,000 in taxes last year.
- a telephone truck that cost $1,995 in 1953 now costs $2,270.
- Ohio Bell wages this year will cost $18,000,000 more than they did in 1953, when we last asked for a rate increase.

A. Some telephone charges are going down and others will be done away with entirely. For instance:

- Columbus and the towns listed below will be combined into one local calling area. You will no longer pay toll charges when calling between any of these places:

ALTON	GROVE CITY	NEW ALBANY
CANAL WINCHESTER	GROVEPORT	REYNOLDSBURG
COLUMBUS	[illegible]	WESTERVILLE
DUBLIN	[illegible]	WORTHINGTON
GAHANNA		WEST JEFFERSON

Rural service will be dropped in Columbus and surrounding towns except in certain areas of Canal Winchester, Harrisburg and West Jefferson.

- We're eliminating the two rate zones around Columbus, which will benefit many customers.
- we'll eliminate the $3.00 charge for "spring" cords.
- you'll have lower rates on station-to-station calls over 54 miles within the state.
- there'll be a new $5.00 "visit charge" which will cover all work an installer does in one trip to your home. This will replace the $3.50 you now pay for each item you have installed or changed while he's there.
- we'll substitute a flat-rate charge for "mileage" charges on many business services.
- repair calls will continue to be free.

A. Since 1940 Ohio Bell has raised its rates only 27% while the cost of about everything else has doubled.

All in all the proposed changes in our rates will be reasonable. Even with some charges being increased, telephone rates in Columbus will still be among the best telephone bargains in the United States.

Liars Hold Game Dinner

The Riverside Liars' Club has held its annual game dinner. While the "true adventures" told were extraordinary, taxing the imagination of a group of practiced story tellers, the dinner stole the show.

A game dinner is the traditional way of closing a hunting season and its exciting every year to see how many types of game can be served. The Liars' dinner set some sort of record this year with nine kinds of game. The menu ranged from the common cottontail rabbit to exotic barbecued javeline. All of the game was provided by the hunting prowess of members and guests of the Club.

Appetizers!

When the sportsmen arrived they were provided with an array of appetizers that almost made their eyes pop. First off were plates heaped with fried grasshoppers and silkworms. It was my first experience at a dinner where insects were served, although I understand chocolate covered ants and the like are becoming quite popular.

I sampled the french-fried bugs and found that they taste just about the way you would expect—like burned popcorn. I saw that Paul Griffith crunched his way by the grasshoppers, but passed up the silkworms. Hayden Olds found the cherry blossoms too salty for a steady diet. Most of us were glad to see plates of smoked eel and octopus coming up. The quail eggs were delicious, as was the venison jerky dried in the sun the way Indians prepared it.

Frank Sayers was responsible for accumulating the appetizers, but I didn't see him sampling any.

Menu Read Like Geography

The dinner itself included roast prime rib of Texas, Ohio, and Michigan venison, Abitibi moose loaf, Mexican style barbecued javelina, Wyoming antelope cutlets, roast young Ohio coon, cottontail Georgia style, Montana elk ribs, spitted mountain sheep, and Western Plains venison jerky. Also served were stewed prairie beans with wild boar, fried wild crab apple, dressing and gravy, Alaskan fluff potatoes, corn pone muffins, sour dough rolls, ice cream, cake, and North Woods coffee.

The entire dinner was excellently prepared, and the game especially, made fine eating. If asked to pick my favorites, however, they would have to be our locally grown cottontails and venison.

A number of sportsmen boasted of their skill in the lying contest and John Anderson won the [illegible] of first place. He related his experiences with a Frenchman in the Ozark [illegible] along Sandusky Bay.

Concluding the program were color films presented by Ralph Seaman of the Carling Conservation Club.

Outdoors enthusiasts are reminded of the fox drive starting at Groveport High School at 9 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 15. Participants are to bring only shotguns. Lunch will be served in the school at noon.

Food Markets This Week

CONVENIENCE CAN BE A GOOD BUY

Convenience Foods . . . those that have been partially or wholly prepared before they reach the food markets . . . have caught the fancy of the American homemaker.

As modern living patterns change with the trends in business and industrial employment, time becomes more and more a deciding factor in our shopping and food preparation procedures.

More than half the women on today's payrolls are married. These women look for convenience when they shop. They look for items which require a minimum of time and effort in meal preparation when they reach their efficiency kitchens.

Such convenience foods include packaged mixes, baked goods, canned foods ready to serve after heating, canned specialties, canned baby foods, canned and frozen soups, and frozen foods—including ready-to-heat and serve main dishes, specialties and desserts.

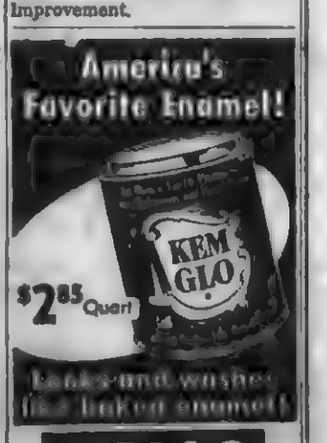
Does Convenience Cost—The amount and kinds of services added for the homemaker generally are factors that determine the added cost of convenience foods over those prepared at home. These so-called built-in maid services include processing, packaging — actually any phase of food preparation performed before the food item reaches the consumer.

Some of the more expensive services are complete preparation of food—as T.V. dinners—and the shift to smaller sized packages and containers. On the other hand, some of the built-in maid services have actually reduced the cost over the fresh, unprocessed item. A good example of this is frozen concentrated orange juice. Savings in transportation have more than offset added processing costs.

Actually, homemakers are still price conscious to the extent that the convenience foods that give the best bargains are the ones that have set the best sales record. Many of the frozen fruits, vegetables, and juices, as well as cake mixes and cut-up, ready-to-cook chicken, are examples of these "low cost" processed foods with high sales volume.

Convenience is a Good Buy If:

Cost fits into the food budget
Time and energy are saved
Items purchased fit family food needs
Storage facilities are adequate
Family gets eating pleasure and satisfaction



Smart shoppers keep these points in mind and study labels carefully. The label is the best buying guide.

For Your Thoughts

Question: How would you feel about fluoridation of Columbus' public water supply?

Mrs. Charles Coburn, 224 S. Westmoor-av: "I think it would be a good thing for the city. We haven't talked much about it at home but if it came to a vote, I would certainly favor it. From what I've heard, it's been working well in other cities."

Mrs. Lee Dalton, 587 S. Highland-av: "I would encourage it because I feel that it would be good for the children. I've seen other cases where fluoridation has worked and they have convinced me that it should be done here."

Mrs. W. Watt Summers, 143 N. Burgess-av: "We should definitely have fluoride added to our city water. I've read that it prevents up to 60 per cent of tooth decay. If it does that, then it is an absolute must."

Mrs. Harry Merritt, 378 Belvidere-av: "With the medical advances of today the doctors know what they are talking about. They favor it in most of their reports, therefore I believe it must be good for us. With three children, however, you have to consider how adding this to city water will affect other phases of our health. I'd vote for it."

Mrs. Robert Grove, 894 S. Richardson-av: "My husband and I agree and think fluoridation of city water is a good idea. If it can do what medical reports say it can, I think it would be wonderful for both children and adults."

Mack Scores 34 In Pirate Loss

Despite a 34 point splurge by West's Dave Mack, Central High Pirates pulled away from the Cowboys in the final minutes to produce an upset victory. The loss knocked the West Five out of the second place tie in the City League.

At the end of the first quarter West trailed by only two points, then picked up the lead at the half. The third period saw the battle going strong with only a difference of two points in favor of the Pirates. With the score 55-54 at the minute-to-go mark, Central expanded their lead with two quick field goals by Myrick, a pair of free throws by Cook, and another free throw, this time by Tucker.

West now carries a 7-4 record in the City and 10-4 overall. Central has a 6-5 record in the league, with an overall tally of 9-5.

Ten Pins Lead Bantam League

Despite their first loss of the season last week, the Ten Pins still lead Glenwood's Bantam Bowling League with seven wins and one loss. The Yellow Jackets hold second place with five wins and three losses.

Team single game highs were: Ten Pins 274; Black Slacks, 262, and Yellow Jackets, 259.

John Roush leads the individual series highs with 214, followed by Ivan Triplette's 204 and Gerald Walters' 188.

The 3-5-5-10 split and the 5-10 split were converted by Triplette.

Hand-Fashioned Gift Watch Began Career-For Jeweler

"There are many jewelry stores, but few jewelers!" That is the belief of Bob Mead, owner of Mead's Jewelry Store, 2830 W. Broad-st.

Bob Mead

Bob uses this slogan because he feels that a jeweler should be well trained in every phase pertaining to watches, gems, and repairing. Having owned and operated the store since 1946, Mead does all watch repairing himself, designs and makes ring settings and is a trained gemologist.

Resident Here 15 Years

Born in Columbus and a graduate of North High School, Bob has been a resident of Hilltop for more than 15 years. After his discharge from the Navy, where he was trained in electronics and watch repairing, he became an electronics technician for Westgate Electric.

Bob's start in the jewelry business was quite by accident. He made a lapel watch for his wife, Edna Mae (known as "Pinkie" to most Hilltoppers). This was during the second World War when watches were scarce. Mrs. Mead was working in a beauty shop at the time and all her customers admired the watch and started to bring their timepieces to her husband for repair. He opened his present store and "one thing led to another" and he was in the jewelry business.

He and his wife have two sons, one now attending West High School, the other is enrolled at Westgate Elementary School. The Meads reside at 333 S. Southampton-av. Mrs. Mead, who is a trained cosmetologist, also works in the jewelry store with her husband.

In his spare time Bob likes to "tinker" with electronics by way of television and the construction of a hi-fi outfit. He is a member of HBA, Westgate Methodist Church, the Gemological Institute in California and is active in Cub Scout work.

Foul Play Is Stopped By Principal

Students that carry the right sort of "insurance" at Franklin Heights High School deal with Principal William F. Rogers.

That was the lesson learned last week when five freshmen boys tried to launch a "protection racket" of their own at the school.

The misplay came to light when a student mentioned to his mother that he had been approached and asked to pay for "protection."

The mother immediately contacted Rogers who in turn clamped down on the youths. Rogers notified the sheriff and sent the lads back to their classrooms.

Before the sheriff was able to send men to the school, the informing lad had been backed up against a locker and "hit a couple of times in the ribs," Rogers stated.

The matter was taken to juvenile court where Rogers demanded a full investigation. "I could see nothing light about the matter," he commented.

Rogers said the racket could not have operated "more than a week" before it was stopped. Of the five boys involved, three are no longer at the school and the two others are under parential probation.

Steel Burners Are Approved By Engineers

Three local manufacturers have submitted residential paper burners that have been approved by the division of smoke regulation and inspection. The burners are similar in size, 14 inches in diameter, approximately 24 inches high, and perforated with four or five rows of three-quarter inch holes. They are all equipped with heavy steel mesh screens to arrest sparks.

One burner was available to retailers last week; the other two are expected to be available within a few days. Several retailers have led customers to believe that the burners they were selling were approved. However, no burner with a sheet metal cover larger than 14 inches in diameter has been approved to date.

Herbert C. Johnson, chief smoke regulation engineer, said the elimination of burning in steel drums will greatly reduce the air pollution in residential areas.

Further Study Ordered

City Council, however, aware of many complaints about city standards for trash burners, has assigned Safety Director Leo Phillips the job of finding a practical method of burning trash. It was reported that the "approved" trash burner is selling at prices from $7 to $10.

Dewey Garner, who made the request for a better method, said that if other containers served the purpose, and did not greatly increase the smoke problem, the public should be permitted to use them.

ISSUED PERMIT

Clarence Killian, 394 S. Terrace-av, has been issued a permit to remodel a frame dwelling. Franklin Construction Co. is the contractor.

From the Top O' The Hill

By Betty Dell

"The parade was too beautiful to describe, the game was thrilling and Pasadena so clean and well-kept that even a scrap of paper on the sidewalk seemed to mar its beauty," was Hilltopper Robert E. Owen's impressions of New Year's Day in Pasadena. In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Owen, 75 S. Terrace-av, Bob, a Sp3 stationed at Camp Roberts, Cal., shared his unforgettable experiences of the Parade of Roses and Rose Bowl game.

His itinerary from Camp Roberts led through the big orange groves, Santa Monica, Beverly Hills, Hollywood Los Angeles. Altadena's "Christmas Tree Lane," and New Year's Eve in Pasadena were among highlight of the trip.

Bob found traffic with 1,600,000 people crowded into a city of 120,000 for the parade, fantastically difficult. He also found that stories about people sleeping in hallways, fire escapes and gutters, reserving a spot to watch the parade from, were actually true.

It's a girl for Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cockfield, Washington, D.C. Little Edith Lynn, born Jan. 24, is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Cockfield, 239 S. Harrison.

Home from not-so-sunny shores are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reeb, 2702 Briggs-rd who spent three weeks in Key West. They visited with relatives and friends in Largo, Sarasota and Fort Lauderdale and returned home through the Eastern states. They report weather in Florida very cold with high winds and freezes. While in Florida they visited Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich Baurele in Clermont, near Orlando, former residents of Schwartz-rd.

Barbara Baus, 1558 Thomas-av, is home after major surgery in Doctor's Hospital . . .

Back home on the Hilltop after a vacation trip to Pompano Beach and Varadero Beach, Cuba, are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Plumber, 340 S. Sylvan-av.

YOUR BIRTHDAYS

Every year, with monotonous regularity, each of us 'celebrates' a birthday. With each birthday, we grow a little older. If we also grow a little wiser, we realize what life insurance can do for our future and for our families. And on each birthday, we would be wise to ask ourselves a few questions:

"Have my circumstances changed since last year? Do I now need greater life insurance coverage? And I better not do something about it immediately before my age changes again, and any new policy which I take out proves more expensive?"

For more I am to of service. Why not give me a call? You will be under no obligation.

Plans Progress For 'Mrs. Ohio' Contest Finals

The Ohio Fuel Gas company has announced that it will sponsor the 1958 Mrs. Ohio contest in the Columbus area. Wilbur T. Collins, Columbus district manager, said the title will be awarded an Ohio homemaker Apr. 10. It will include an all expense-paid trip to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., to compete in the national Mrs. America contest.

Judging by qualities possessed by past winners the lucky woman will be a talented homemaker at least 21 years of age, active in community and church life, poised, personable, and well groomed.

All district winners will compete in the state finals to be held in Columbus. Two previous Mrs. Ohio title holders won more than $1500 in prizes.

Schulze To Construct New Super Market

Herman Schulze, owner of Schulze's Food Market, 1971 W. Mound-st, has been granted the right to remove his property. Schulze plans to start construction on a new store immediately.

His present establishment will be remodeled into a drug store. He also plans on providing a parking lot for the convenience of patrons.

Chancey Rotole is the contractor. The new store will be 60 feet by 80 feet, Schulze said.

The owner originally asked for 350 feet to be rezoned, but changed the dimensions to 180 feet and this is the plan passed by City Council.

no longer have this large crowd in their front doors each summer.

Good news to those interested in the new YMCA building project in that more money will perhaps be forthcoming to speed along that much needed Hilltop Y building and to keep it in operation in years to come.

It's mighty good news to know that good neighbor Homer Jones out at the Sullivant Avenue Airport is so civic minded as to offer his facilities for such a fine program.

A lot will be said about the beano dinner in coming weeks and present plans are for a real revamping of the event. It will be interesting to look forward to further developments of this cooperative civic project.

Local Students Are Tutored By 'All American' Gridder

By Joyce McCelm

West High School is the proud possessor of an All-American football player — at least for three months!

Aurealius Thomas, 1953 West

Aurealius Thomas

High grad, has returned there to do his student teaching in the boy's physical education department. Aurealius, a right guard on the 1957 championship Ohio State team, is also teaching at Central under the watchful eye of another football great, Jack Gibbs.

Called by Woody Hayes one of the most underrated players

Themes this week was written up as "certain" to be one of two Ohio State seniors who will be honored with a berth on the college All-Star squad which will battle the pro-champion Detroit Lions at Schiller Field in Detroit in August. The selection will be made official by an announcement from the sponsoring Chicago Tribune sometime early this spring.

on the team in 1956, Aurealius has won honors as All-American in 1956, All Big Ten, All Midwest, and top freshman candidate. He recently was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers although he has not yet signed a contract with them. Several Canadian teams have also contacted him.

Aurealius came to Columbus from Oklahoma in his junior year of high school and was elected All-City player in 1953. Although he thinks very fondly of Oklahoma, he stated that he "holds a soft spot in his heart for Columbus people — they have been very good to me."

Praises Woody's Methods

In rating other Big Ten players he chose Jones and Karres of Iowa the greatest linemen he has played against and Pace of Michigan, the fastest back. In telling about his training with the division champions of Ohio State, he rated Woody Hayes as a "top coach." He stated "Sure he's tough, but he has to be. He sets up the practices so that a fella can improve every day. That is one of the reasons that we have such good pursuit on the field. We are able to break away and help out our buddies."

Aurealius is a quiet personable young man and he speaks with great pride of his wife. At the time of the interview, they expected their first child at "any minute." They live in East Columbus.

What does the future hold for the All-American great? According to Aurealius "I would take the job with the greatest amount of security." In March he will receive teaching degree from the university and from then on will have the choice of teaching or professional football.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Bretz, 82 N. Terrace-av, a regular reader of the Hilltop Record since it was first published in 1917, renewed her subscription to the newspaper last week for the 40th time.

Will Put Diesels On Sullivant

Monday night City Council unanimously approved Columbus Transit Company's request for permission to convert the Sullivant-av line from electric trolleys to motor buses and to purchase $313,000 worth of diesels to make the change.

The city's power to order the company to buy new equipment is now "mortgaged" until Dec. 31, 1959.

The Sullivant trolley is now routed west in Town-st to Sandusky-st, travels south to Sullivant-av and turns west. The proposed change from trolley to buses is required by construction of the Sandusky Expressway, Oscar R. Hott, CTC president, said in a letter.

Suggested Routes Given

Hott explained that, since Sandusky-st will be closed as a route, the line should be extended along Town-st to perhaps Hawkes-av or Avondale-av, before continuing to Sullivant-av. He added it would cost about $20,000 to install new trolley lines.

The company can retire [illegible] when permission is granted to purchase the 12 new buses.

The CTC plan calls for the separating of the Sullivant-av trolley line from that of the Cleveland-av line. The latter will remain a trolley operation.

Utilities Director Ferd M. Pickens said downtown routes of each line have not yet been planned. According to company plans the trolleys will be dropped by late July to coincide with the start of expressway construction.

Short-turning trippers will be able to operate on the Sullivant-av line because of the substitution of buses, said Hott. The trippers will turn back toward downtown before reaching the present end of the line at Sullivant-av and Binns-blvd.

"Put your best foot forward" is the word from members of the College-Age Youth Fellowship of the Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church who are sponsoring a new project—"Shoe-shine Day" which will be Saturday, Feb. 22.

Those persons having shoes needing a shine will have their footwear called for by one of the youths. The shoes will be taken to the church and given a professional shine-job and then returned. A donation envelope will also be returned with the shoes.

The youths said they hope the project proves that Burgess Avenue EUB has many good "soles" and no "heels!"

To make arrangements to have shoes shined contact Judy Weber, BR. 4-6390; Vera Jean Mincks, BR. 9-2284; Dick Trott, BR. 9-8217; or the church office, BR. 4-3670.

Discipline Problem Of Eastern Schools Must Not Invade Local Communities

Some problems are not meant to be dealt with lightly. One of these problems is discipline in the school.

Such an incident occurred last week at Franklin Heights High School. Principal William F. Rogers stamped out the begining of a student "protection racket."

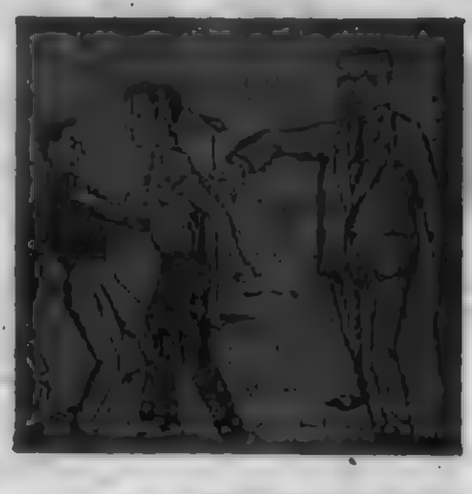
A boy mentioned to his mother at the breakfast table that he needed money for school. The money would be used to buy him safe passage through the halls of the public building.

The mother notified Rogers. The principal took immediate action. He rounded up the youths behind the so called racket and took the matter to juvenile court.

Rogers was surprised when certain people tended to treat the case lightly. He took objection to any "light treatment" and demanded a full investigation.

The case is now closed. Students at Franklin Heights will probably never have to worry about a "protection racket" again. They know their principal is looking after their safety.

An important action by a principal snuffed out the beginnings of student unrest before it could mushroom into such proportions as haunt eastern schools. The "eastern influence" cannot be allowed to extend into local schools.



But more important, it taught a lesson to the students at the grass roots level. One youth learned that others will take his part and help him with his problems. Five others learned that you cannot push anyone around for long.

The case at Franklin Heights is not isolated. Many incidents of a serious nature often occur in high school and sometimes are treated mistakenly "lightly."

But problems of young people are not always light matters. Their problems seem just as big to them as other worries seem to adults.

The responsibility of the school to provide an education does not include just books and papers. It should also include other intangible qualities that lead to good citizenship, character building, a sense of ethics and common sense.

Hats off to all school administrators who take a firm stand in demanding discipline and paint a true picture of responsible citizenship for the students.

Job Insecure!

Town Dumps Mose At 100!

Chittlin' Switch
Monday Afternoon

Dear Jason,

That parrot you sent me when you had overseas shore duty in Brooklyn sure uses bad language. He swears all the time. The preacher figured that if we put my parrot in with his parrot, maybe he'd be a better bird. As soon as we put him in with the Preacher's parrot, he screamed "Doll! How about some loving! The Preacher's parrot blinked her eyes and said "What do you think I've been praying for?"

DEAR SON:

I think the old maid school teacher, Sophie Sludge, is slightly off her rocker. Last week she came over to the house to visit and was in a very unhappy frame of mind. She told me her sister was thinking of having her committed to the county laughing academy all on account of Sophie's love for waffles. I told Sophie that wasn't any reason to be put in an insane asylum just because she liked waffles as I like them too. Sophie perked right up when I told her that and then she asked me over to her house. She had six trunks full of them.

Old Mose Tench is a tough old codger. He was still working 8 hours a day for the town when he reached his hundredth birthday. The town thought it high time he retired on a pension, but Mose didn't like the idea at all. When they presented Mose with a gold watch and asked him to say a few words, Mose said "This is a dirty trick. When I took this job in 1870, the town clerk gave me his solemn word, the job was PERMANENT."

Write soon,
Your loving,
MOM.

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

THIS WEEK SHOP FOR:

Fruits — Grapefruit, apples, canned or frozen cherries.
Vegetables—Carrots, broccoli, potatoes, frozen limas.
Protein Foods—Pork loin cuts, beef rib roast, large eggs.

CHERRIES

Tasty — Tart — Tempting

A wedge of luscious cherry pie with crisp, flaky crust will tempt even the staunchest meat 'n potato man. At first thought you may think it's rushing the season a bit to think about cherry pie at this time of year. But, thanks to modern technical skill on the part of food processors the next best thing to tree-ripened cherries is available in mid-winter. Tradition has linked cherry trees and Washington's birthday, so let's go shopping for cherries and make a cherry pie.

Many Uses — The 1957 pack of canned sour cherries surpassed 1956 by 43%, and the canned sweet cherry pack is up 39% so you can be assured of plenty of cherries to brighten up winter-time meals. Your family will enjoy red cherries (either canned or frozen) in salads, muffins, breads, puddings, sauces.

Sweet cherries offer lots of variety in fruit cups, salads or in molded gelatin. Sweet cherries served with crisp cookies are an easy dessert. Flaming sweet cherries served over ice cream make a glamorous dessert. (Soak a sugar cube in lemon extract to make the flame.)

In Shopping for Cherries, as with most canned or frozen foods, you will want to study the package labels. In the case of cherries, the labels will show whether the fruit is "red sour" or "red tart," "red sweet" or "light sweet." They will state whether the cherries are pitted or not, whether they are packed in water or some kind of syrup, and if syrup, what kind. Usually the quantity to buy for different uses is given.

For a quick and easy dessert you may be interested in the cherry pie fillings that are ready as they come from the can—all the work has been done for you. One can of pie filling makes an eight-inch pie.

Parables Written Plainly

CHRIST'S parables were not devoted merely to moral precepts or instructions but were designed to make plain and emphasize the deepest spiritual truth. They are not analogies because analogies are apt to fall at some point and become actually misleading.

But Christ's stories were selected and told with a precision that made their meaning accurate. For example, the parable of the Prodigal Son is not merely the story of an earthly father who was like our Heavenly Father. For here is a story that so accurately tells the nature and significance of God's grace that no question is left and there is no sense of discrepancy.

The "parables by the sea" are five stories illustrating the nature of the kingdom of heaven or different phases of the kingdom. Christ likens it to, first of all, seed which a man sows upon the earth. The casting of the seed does not insure a crop. The power of God in nature must work with man to make possible the harvest. Can there be any finer example of how God works with men, and of how men may cooperate with God?

The parable of the mustard seed shows what we so often see—the growth of great and mighty things from insignificant beginnings. The best example of this is Christianity itself.

He was discovered in poor condition from exposure in a pig sty at his Prairie Township farm about five miles west of Grove City on the Harrisburg-Darby-rd. Voss was found in the sty, where he had been lying for an estimated ten hours following his attack. He was found by his nephew, Harold Ruder of 136 N. Ogden-av.

Voss mother, Ida, 92, who lives with her son, became worried because he failed to return home at 9 p.m. and asked Ruder to go to the farm. Ruder said Voss was fully clothed but the building was not heated.

CRC Offers Retarded Children Education Ceared To Age Level

"Kenny's kindergarten teacher in Zanesville told us he didn't get along very well with other children," Mrs. Schrack said. "The next year we decided to enroll him in kindergarten again."

"Then in the first grade, Kenny just couldn't seem to sit still. He even cried at night because he couldn't sit still like the teacher wanted him to," she continued.

"Finally," she said, "our pediatrician told us to withdraw our son from school."

These were the events which led Kenny's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schrack, 257 Wrexham-av, to discover their boy was retarded.

Next, the parents were told Kenny needed a special school. Zanesville didn't have a school for Kenny, so the Schraks quit their jobs and moved their family to Columbus. That was over a year ago.

Last February, Kenny, who is now 11, was accepted by the Council for Retarded Children's school. Since then, his mother reports, education geared to his level has brought about a tremendous improvement in her son. Among other things, she says, he is more settled — and is much happier now that he goes to school like his two brothers and two sisters.

Fire Closes School

Since Jan. 8, when a fire and condemnation orders closed the old Mt. Vernon Avenue School, Kenny has been attending classes temporarily at the Columbus State School. Officials at the State School offered to quarter eight classes until the end of the school year, but permanent facilities will be needed soon.

"The day of the fire," his mother recalls, "Kenny came home and told me all about it. He said the teacher told them it was just another fire drill, but he said he knew it was a real fire because she told them to take their lunch boxes with them."

The Columbus Board of Education, which had loaned the 70-year-old building to the Council, has decided not to repair the school. Costs to rehabilitate the building had been estimated up to $150,000.

The Hilltop mother says a permanent building is needed — one large enough to accomodate all of the youngsters who could benefit from the special training provided by the Council. At the time of the fire, CRC was providing for only about one-fourth of the "trainable" school-aged retardates in Franklin County who are excluded from public schools.

Some day, if Mrs. Schrack's predictions come true, Kenny will be able to take his place in society and become self-supporting. Whether he will need close supervision in his eventual employment is a question to be resolved later.

"Kenny is socially adept now," Kenny's mom boasted. "He can carry on an intelligent conversation and is well-coordinated. He excels in sports too," she added.

$300 Need Help

"The public should understand that these children can be helped. You know there are 5,000 retardates under 21 in the county—and most of them are trainable.

"They need to go to school just as much as the other children do."

Hillcrest Scouts Mark Birthday

Have you met one of the eager young salesmen who are raising money for YMCA World Service by selling salt water taffy? Youngsters crowded the Hilltop YMCA for the kickoff rally last Saturday morning. Following the program, the eager salesmen checked out their quota of taffy for the big sale.

The closing bell will be sounded on the sale at 2 p.m. this Saturday when the final check-in will take place and prizes will be awarded.

Columbus Plastic Products, Inc., 1625 W. Mound-st, has announced that it will construct this one-story warehouse on a site adjoining its present plant.

These are the present offices and factory buildings now operated by Columbus Plastic Products, Inc., the world's largest manufacturer of plastic housewares.

Plastics Firm Plans $1 Million Expansion

Columbus Plastic Products is celebrating its 20th anniversary by announcing another major expansion. G. W. Keny, president, said that an expansion calling for an expenditure in excess of $1 million will be completed here during 1958 to meet the ever increasing demand for its line of more than 200 items in the plastics housewares field.

The firm is now constructing a building of 110,000 square feet on a site adjoining its present plant at 1625 W. Mound-st. To keep up efficient movement of materials and finished products, the new building will be a one-story, quick-access brick structure with maximum free-roof spans.

Plant To Cover 8 Acres

Shipping and receiving accesses will be doubled to permit more efficient customer delivery service. A total of more than eight acres under roof with this additional floor space will permit a new and faster production flow. It will greatly expand present facilities for molding and finishing operation, plus a more efficient handling of inventory and molded parts in process of manufacture.

Newer and larger presses are also a part of this latest expansion. Some of this equipment will be the largest in the industry making it possible to use the latest in improved plastic materials for products in sizes larger than molded before in the housewares field.

This expansion comes on the heels of an enlargement of engineering and product development facilities made during 1957 along with a doubling of former office staff, area and equipment. President Keny said that twice during the last five years major plant expansion has been necessary to keep productivity in line with their growing market in the United States, Canada and foreign countries around the world.

William J. Bralley, secretary-treasurer of the firm, said that it is expected more people will be employed during the expansion program but not at any set time. "More employees will be added gradually as the need arises," he said. Bulldozers are working at the site now and construction will begin when weather conditions permit. It is hoped the warehouse will be completed by June, said Bralley.

Typical of the company's new Lustre-Ware products recently introduced at the January Housewares Show in Chicago is an eight-gallon refuse container, 12-quart pail, and large polyethylene laundry baskets in rectangular, oval and round designs. Other new products introduced by the plan include: plastic funnels, colanders and 11 styles in waste baskets.

Keny said General Maintenance and Engineering Company, 1231 McKinley-av, is the general contractor for the new warehouse. A. F. Tyman, 347 E. Broad-st, is the architect.

Jack Alexander Named 'Enlisted Aide For Day'

Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord S. Friesner, of 2551 Sullivant-av, have reason to be proud of their son, Jack. Army Specialist Third Class Jack S. Alexander was recently named Enlisted Aide for a Day to the commander of the 91st Engineer Battalion at Fort Belvoir, Va.

A combat construction specialist in the battalion's Company D, Jack was selected for his soldiery appearance, knowledge of duties and military courtesy.

He entered the Army in October 1956 and was last stationed in Korea. The 20-year-old soldier attended West High School and was formerly employed by R. H. Goodwin Well-Drilling Co.

Letters To The Editor

The Jacksons Keep In Touch

Dear Mr. Hartley

Doesn't seem possible that we will have lived here a year the 22nd of this month. We like our new home but as you know there is no place like the Hilltop and no friends like Hilltoppers.

There is a community paper here called the Parma (O.) Post. However, we can neither beg, borrow or steal a copy. The editor informed us that it is free to all but still we have to receive it. This has made us fully realize of what great value your paper must be to newcomers in the community in so far as shopping, churches and community activities are concerned.

Please renew our subscription to The Hilltop Record which we all really enjoy reading every Friday. It helps us to keep in touch.

Sincerely,
Eleanor Jackson

Take Care Of Your Guns

I'm sort of a sentimental cuss, and I've come to regard my favorite guns as hunting companions. I window-shop the new ones every year, but they just don't feel right. My excuses do not hold much water, for the new guns are engineering marvels. I guess the real reason I do not change is that I'm perfectly happy with the guns I have, and I fully expect to use them the rest of my life.

I took a lot of kidding, mostly from my wife, the first year I used my present 12-gauge shotgun. She took the pains to figure out that every rabbit I shot that year cost me in the vicinity of $10 to $11. I hastened to explain the cost of a gun could not be written off in a single year, and that my "pride and joy" would be shooting rabbits for two generations.

Good Time for Repairs

All this is true if you take good care of your guns. If repairs are needed, this is the time of year when arms companies can give you the best service. Pete Thacker, Route 1, Galloway, tells me that gunsmiths would also rather do work now. His gun shop gets a little hectic the two weeks before hunting [illegible].

Even if your guns are in good repair, you should clean them and ready them for storage. The first step is to see that each gun is unloaded.

The best cleaning patches are canton flannel. They are inexpensive and are available for every caliber or gauge. Cleaning rods come in sections or single lengths. The sectional rods are a little handier, but either type is suitable. You should have a cleaning rod of the proper diameter for each gun for best results.

Most guns are so constructed that you can clean the bore from the breech or chamber end. This is the recommended way. Some guns, however, have solid construction and must be cleaned from the muzzle end. In this case you should exercise care to not damage the muzzle with the cleaning rod.

Bores are fairly easy to keep in good shape. A cleaning patch dipped in powder solvent should be run through first. If the bore then looks shiny, give it a light coating of oil. If your shotgun tube is leaded, run through it some extra fine steel wool that has been dipped in solvent. Use slow, even strokes until the lead is gone. Do not use a steel brush on any gun.

Cleaning, Oiling Important

The working parts of your gun should also be cleaned with powder solvent or kerosene and lightly oiled. If your gun is not easy to take down, then the job can be done with a small paint brush.

The stock and outside parts of your guns should also be lightly wiped with an oiled or treated cloth. A small brass brush will clean up rust spots that may have appeared during the hunting season.

The ideal place to store a gun is in a rack. A gun should not be put away in its case. Nor should the muzzle be plugged with an oily rag, or anything else for that matter.

Shooting does not ordinarily wear out a gun. This is especially true with low velocity rifles and shotguns. If you take care of your sporting firearms they will last throughout your lifetime and you will pass them on to your children.

Handloaders Take Notice

For those of you who spread shooting enjoyment all through the year by handloading your own shells, a new handbook has just come out. It's called, THE COMPLETE HANDBOOK OF METHODS AND DATA FOR RELOADING RIFLE, PISTOL AND SHOTGUN SHELLS.

This 253-page compendium of shooting information is published by Herter's, Inc., Waseca, Minn. Bill Riviere called me the other day full of enthusiasm about this book, and stated flatly that it will settle many a mid-winter fireside argument about shooting — all for $1.25

Firestone's mobile sales training unit.

A new mobile sales training unit, first classroom on wheels in the rubber industry, is on the Hilltop for a series of sales training meetings for employees of Firestone dealers and stores in this area.

Fitted to resemble a model store, the 35-foot red and white automobile trailer has been put on the road by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. The unit offers training to about 3,000 employees each year.

"Firestone customers in this vicinity will get better service after our employes complete their training," said Ralph Huggins, manager of the Firestone store at Great Western Shoppers' Mart.

"The mobile school will be here until Feb. 24 and all of our friends and customers are invited to see this modern equipment."

The trailer carries classroom chairs for 12 people and is equipped with motion picture and slide projectors, screens and pictorial displays.

At one end of the trailer is a fully equipped tire selling department and equipment for demonstration of recommended methods of servicing tubless tires. Home and auto supplies, appliances and recreation and garden supplies are also displayed.

Almost Kickoff Time For The Y Drive

For many years now thousands of people of this community have shown their interest in the Hilltop YMCA program and development and always they have been looking forward to the time when a fine Y facility would be available.

While a Y finance campaign was in the planning for the past three years it was impossible to get the green light for such a drive due to the fact that the hospital campaign was still in progress.

Now the YMCA and YWCA are engaged in a big county-wide drive to raise $2,320,000 for new buildings. The success of this drive means that the Hilltop will have $350,000 available for its building program.

We are on the eve of the kickoff of that portion of the drive that will reach Hilltoppers directly. A meeting of the captains of the Hilltop Special Gifts division was held on Tuesday evening. Within a very few days over 100 select workers will start calling on special prospects in this community asking for their pledges on a three-year payment basis.

It would be most encouraging to have some volunteer contributors call this week to advise they are ready to make their pledges. Such calls may be directed to the Hilltop Y office, or to me direct at BR. 4-2866 (eves) or BR. 9-9444 (days).

This is a responsibility that deserves the support of every resident of our community!

Service Clubs Are Assets To Community

Announcement this week of the formation of a new service club on the Hilltop should be welcomed generally by this community.

A hearty welcome is hereby extended the new Civitian Club, receiving its charter Saturday evening.

The recently new Optimist Club already is in high gear and working diligently for community good. We predict that the new Civitian Club will be equally as fast in setting up a worthwhile program for local civic betterment.

For many years now a remarkable job has been done in this community by the two Kiwanis Clubs, two Lions Clubs and the Y's Men's Club.

These organizations are a real asset to our community. Many wonderful accomplishments are ahead for them.

Heart Fund Gifts Here Reach $4,795

More than $4,795 was contributed by Hilltop residents to the Heart Fund in the door-to-door canvass Sunday afternoon, Feb. 23.

Of the total, $1049.85 was collected in Ward 10, $1363.81 in Ward 11, $991.17 in Ward 31, $1391.35 in Ward 32.

Fair spring-like weather attracted as many as half of the local residents to the highways. Although not-at-home envelopes were left at unoccupied residences, the need sometimes exceeded the supply. "Some people may not have received such an envelope in which to mail their contribution," said Mrs. Russell Alban, 2740 Elliott-av, west area chairman. "Contributions should be addressed to the Central Ohio Heart Association, 50 E. Broad-st, Columbus." All mail-in contributions will be credited to the Hilltop area goal.

The campaign for Heart Fund dollars will continue through Feb. 28. Funds are used to support heart research, community service and educational programs in Ohio.

Hilltop Kiwanis Club will induct new members into the organization during its regular weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Colony Restaurant.

New Vocational Course Gets Blessings Of School Officials And Businessmen

THREE EXPERTS in the vocational counseling of students put their heads together in discussion of the new DE program to be brought to West High School. They are, left to right, Clarence Gingerich, district DE supervisor; O. D. "Red" Lehman, teacher-coordinator at West; Edwin Kahler, guidance counselor at West.

"Distributive education" is a big word which soon may prove to have a big meaning in the curriculum at West High School.

This was emphasized last Wednesday at a meeting of service club members, merchants and state, city and local school men.

Principal Robert Darrow explained that groundwork for the new vocational course has already been laid. A list of cooperating merchants will be compiled from now until school is out and the new program will get under way next fall, he said.

Essentially, distributive education would train a class of 20 to 30 students for careers in retailing, wholesaling and service occupations. It was defined as a "partnership" between schools, owners and managers of businesses. High school seniors attend school part-time and also perform on-the-job work for which they are paid.

Lehman to Direct Course

O. D. "Red" Lehman of the West High School staff, has been picked as teacher-coordinator, bringing school and business together. Lehman's duties will be similar to those of Joe Porter, who handles the D.E. program at Central High School. Lehman has taken extensive graduate study in guidance work, courses in distributive education and has a family background in retailing.

Mayor Sensenbrenner indicated the change will not be made until early spring.

The new group has been organized through efforts of the North Columbus Club, represented by W. W. Stover, sr., by Don Henderson, Civitan Ohio. governor-elect, also of this city. Henderson explained that the club would function much as any other service club. Civitan has no specific "chairity" he said, "but many of our local projects have been directed toward aid for the mentally retarded."

11 'Money' Prizes In Today's Ads

Sunny skies and the warmer weather of the past week and their reminder that spring is really on the way, has shaken everyone out of his winter doldrums.

A few new accessories for the house and maybe a new bonnet for mom is sure to help even more. Twenty-five dollars to spend, with no strain on the family budget, has a guaranteed tonic effect on the whole family.

One subscriber of the Record has an opportunity for just such a shopping spree this week, and ten others may discover one dollar, free for the finding in the pages of today's newspaper.

Value of the "Confederate" money insignia is increased to $25 today, and the usual ten $1 insignia are also placed on ads in ten more copies of this issue.

Lucky copies of the newspaper may be exchanged at The Hilltop Record office before Saturday noon for "Confederate" money. Advertisers in the current issue of the newspaper will accept "Confederate" currency at face value, for any merchandise in their stores.

Any subscriber of The Hilltop Record, whose name appears on our records as having paid in advance or on his carried boy's route book as a paying customer is eligible to collect "Confederate" money.

Employers or carriers of the newspaper and members of their families are excepted.

'Government' Is Presented In A Capsule

Too many of us may know too little about the intricacies of running our government.

Beginning this week on the editorial page of this newspaper is a series "Our State and Local Government," written in layman's language by a prominent Columbus attorney. He is Archer A. Reilly, Jr., who also serves as a Franklin County representative to the General Assembly.

We hope our readers will find the series interesting.

Glenwood Methodist Sells Church Site For $134,000

A signing ceremony for the purchase of Glenwood Methodist Church building, 64 S. Highland-av by Oakley Avenue Baptist Church, 396 S. Oakley-av was held during special worship services Monday night in the sanctuary of Glenwood Church.

Signed by representatives of both congregations, the contract provides for the sale of Glenwood building to Oakley Avenue Baptists for $134,000.00. The Baptist congregation hopes to take possession of the building on or about December, 1962.

Glenwood Church will build a new edifice on a 12-acre tract of land on N. Hague-av, at Valleyview-dr. The $700,000 building is expected to be completed within five years.

BUCKEYE FINANCE BASKS IN SUCCESS LIMELIGHT

Occupation Of New Building Emphasizes Phenomenal Progress Of Young Firm

Completion and occupancy of the company's new building at 1245 W. Broad-st has served to focus attention on the meteoric rise in its field of the Buckeye Finance Co.

Founded only eight years ago, under the guidance of Sam N. Alford, president, the firm leased offices at 1259 W. Broad-st, which they occupied until moving to the new structure a few weeks ago. Offices to serve other areas, however, had been established at 2546 Sullivant-av, and in Grove City.

In addition to Alford, others active in the management of the firm's offices are William A. Burns, executive vice-president at 1245 W. Broad-st; C. Milo Alford, manager at 2546 Sullivant-

[illegible] Harbold, manager at Grove City.

Sam N. Alford is a native Ohioan and a 1931 graduate of West High School. He is married to the former Virginia Johnson, his high school sweetheart, whom he always calls "Ginny." They have three sons —Eddie, a lieutenant in the Air Force; Sammy, a freshman at the University of Arizona; and Nathan, a student at Hillards High School. The family resides at 4470 Dublin-rd.

Entered Field in 1932

Sam became interested in his present field when he joined the Household Finance Co. as field representative in 1932, where he remained until becoming affiliated with Money Corporation in 1946. He was one of the founders in 1947 of Thrift Finance Company on the Hilltop and, in 1950, organized the Buckeye Finance Co.

In addition to heading up his company, he devotes considerable time to community affairs, being active in the YMCA, West Side Board of Trade, Hilltop Kiwanis, Sunshine Center and many other civic organizations.

Milo Alford preceded his brother at West High School, graduating in 1917. He went into construction work until joining the Bradstreet Co. in 1920, which in 1925 became Dunn & Bradstreet. He was married to the former Helen Landenberger on New Year's Day of 1927. She, incidentally, is his present secretary.

From 1925 to 1927, Milo served as head bookkeeper for the wholesale grocery firm of G. W. Robb Co., but again returned to Dunn & Bradstreet. He was in construction work until joining the Ohio Bureau of Credits in 1935, where he remained until 1940, when he was given an important position by the government at Fort Hayes here in Columbus. Milo joined the Seabees in 1942 and was active in a number of overseas construction jobs until receiving his discharge in 1945.

He, too, was active in the organization of the Buckeye Finance Co., and has played a major role in the success of the company. Milo is active in Masonic affairs and is well known for his active interest in numerous civic and community projects. Woodworking and carpentry are his principal hobbies.

Still another member of the firm to have his feet deeply enmeshed in Hilltop roots is William A. "Bill" Burns, a 1936 graduate of West High School, who continued his studies at Ohio State University. He is married to the former Mary Louise Byers and they have two children, Mary Lynn and Terrance.

Bill began his career with Household Finance Corporation, but his work with them was interrupted when he entered the Army Air Corps during World War II. After his discharge, he returned to Household Finance until joining Buckeye in 1953.

Active in consumer finance affairs, he was recently elected president of the Columbus Association of Finance Companies. He is a past president of the Hilltop Community Council, a member of the Hilltop Lions Club and the Hilltop Business Association. An ardent sportsman, Bill has enjoyed fishing and hunting both in his native Ohio and in Canada.

Also a native of Columbus, but a graduate of South High school, is C. Richard Harbold, manager of the Grove City office, who is a Capital University alumnus. He is married to the former Mary Ellen Paver and they reside with their five children, Kathleen, Mark, Sally, Nancy and Holly, in Grove City.

He also began his career in the finance field with Household Finance Corporation here in Columbus, but managed an office of the firm in Indianapolis until being transferred back here in 1952.

Harbold is a former president of the Columbus Association of Consumer Finance Companies and has been a member of the board of directors of that organization for seven years. He is finance chairman of the Southwest District, Boy Scouts of America, a member of the Grove City Lions Club and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The officers and board of directors of the Buckeye Finance Co. include Sam N. Alford, president; Lowell T. Sullivan, vice-president; Clifford P. Petteway, treasurer; C. Milo Alford, secretary; William A. Burns, Donald P. Bean, C. Richard Harbold, Katie S. Louderback and Paul O. Fullerton.

Tackle Catalogs Are Here

Anyone with a rural background knows what it means when the seed catalogs arrive.

Companies in the seed business know when people are yearning for springtime. If my memory serves me, the catalogs came shortly after the first of the year while there were many winter evenings ahead in which to plan for spring planting.

By sassafras tea time, the pages of the seed catalogs were pretty well worn. This didn't matter, for the large dishes of red raspberries were still just as appealing. The memory of pictures of juicy, purple plums, frosty with blooms, makes my mouth water. The blooms of tulips and roses were beyond description.

Use Clever Psychology

Fishing tackle manufacturers are also practical psychologists, and make use of the eternal promise of spring. This is just as well, for it gives a fellow something to do with hunting season until fishing season. Between ice fishing jaunts he can peruse the tackle catalogs. I've just laid down the Heddon book—and I can feel the first warm rays of spring sunshine on my back, robins are chirping, there is a sweet fragrance in the air, and I've just hooked an 18-inch smallmouth on a new "Firetail Sonic."

Those folks up in Dowagiac, Mich., put out a 76-page book that nearly amounts to a "fisherman's bible." Besides "what's new" in fishing tackle, this catalog features a special section clearly illustrating America's 72 most popular fishes, gives details on how to catch them, where, world's records, etc.

Also, there are several pages on fishing tips by Heddon's experts, a full-color print of the brook trout ready for framing, and a number of fisherman's [illegible].

This is a pretty good investment for a two-bit piece.

[illegible] Booklet

The Shakespeare Company has a series of five free booklets that are also guaranteed to give you spring fever. This year there is a booklet devoted to each type of fishing — fly fishing, bait casting, spinning, salt water, and a new "push-button" fishing. Push-button fishing refers to the use of fixed spool reels with closed covers. A [illegible] fold-sized fishing calendar is included.

Beside a colorful job of illustrating and describing the firm's tackle for all these different types of fishing, the booklets give authoritative information on recommended Shakespeare tackle assembly and how and what tackle might best be used under different angling circumstances.

Experts such as World Champion Caster Ben Hardesty, and "Gadabout" Gaddis, renowned fly fisherman, have helped to author the booklets.

A quick glance at this series shows that emphasis is being placed on the easy-to-use "push-button" tackle. This is sort of a combination of casting and spinning—with no backlashes. These reels are favorites with beginners.

This set of booklets is yours by writing Shakespeare Company, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Food Markets This Week

FISH FOR LENT

Lent turns our thoughts to seafood and fish dishes. Fish ranks high, right along with red meat, in the amount and kind of protein it provides in the diet. It can be used as an alternate for meat—and a welcome alternate with meat prices as they are. Nutritionists say an average serving of fish contains the same amount of protein as an average serving of meat. Fish also contains small amounts of iron and the B vitamins. Because it contains less iron than red meat you will want to serve leafy, green vegetables with fish.

Many Forms Available—With the advent of frozen food packaging, seafoods become more readily available the year around in your food market. Frozen fish may often be your choice. They come in a wide variety of forms, many of which are ready to cook. You'll like the convenience of these packages. Newest of the frozen fish items are fish in sauce, ready to heat and serve.

Tips on Using—Frozen fish retains its quality as long as it is kept frozen. It may be cooked without thawing, if additional cooking time is allowed. However, when the fish is to be breaded and fried, it is more convenient to thaw it in the refrigerator before cooking.

Fish is delicately flavored. Cooking should bring out this flavor. Fish cooks as quickly as tender cuts of meat. The small amount of connective tissue in fish may become tough and dry when cooked too long or at too high temperatures. Fish is sufficiently cooked when it loses its semi-transparent appearance and becomes white or creamy-white in color. At this stage it separates from the bone easily, the natural flavor is at its best, and the flesh is flaky, tender and moist.

Variety Is The Spice . . .

Often it's no trick at all to add little gourmet touches that turn plain cooking into foods with flavorful taste appeals. Sometimes a little seasoning will do it . . . or a special sauce, or even just a combination of foods. And fish and shellfish, with their delightful variety, especially lend themselves to all kinds of little touches that make menu-planning and eating so much fun. Here are some of the ideas . . . and you can use only one at a time, of course!

Why not pour garlic butter over fish steaks or fillets before you broil or bake them.

Or, after broiled fish is done, sprinkle with grated cheese and brown under broiler heat.

You can top plain cooked fish with slivered blanched almonds browned in melted butter.

And how about adding a little poultry seasoning to the flour used to coat fish before it is fried?

Melt butter, add juice or half a lemon and minced parsley, and pour over fish after it is cooked.

Women's Clubs May Enter Mrs. America Competition

Women's club groups in this area were urged today to enter representatives in the 1958 "Mrs. America" contest, which gets under way early in March.

Wilbur T. Collins, Columbus District manager, for the Ohio Fuel Gas Company, local sponsor of the contest, said a $25 savings bond will be awarded to the club whose representative reaches the state finals of the contest.

In addition, Collins said, a $50 savings bond will be given the club sponsoring the woman who becomes "Mrs. Ohio." If she becomes "Mrs. America," the club will receive a $100 savings bond.

Deadline for entries in the contest is Mar. 10. Application blanks can be obtained at the gas company office, 109 North Front-st, Columbus. All married women over 21 years of age are eligible to enter.

A "Mrs. Columbus" will be selected the week of Mar. 17.

The winner of the Columbus district contest will receive a new gas range with the "burner with a brain" and a chance to compete in the state finals at the Veterans Memorial in Columbus, Apr. 9 and 10, where a new "Mrs. Ohio" will be chosen.

The woman selected "Mrs. Ohio" will receive an expense-paid trip to the national "Mrs. America" finals in Florida for herself and her husband. In addition, she will win an RCA-Whirlpool gas refrigerator, a new wardrobe, a $50 set of West Bend aluminum ware, and other prizes.

Runner-up in the state contest will win a Norge automatic gas clothes dryer, and a Ruud gas water heater.

The homemaker named "Mrs. America" at the national finals in May will win more than $10,000 in prizes.

Quarantine Is Lifted From Franklin Village

The quarantine was lifted from the Franklin Village medical center Feb. 28. Police and juvenile authorities were notified by Supt. James W. Grant that the center could again receive children on emergency care.

The medical center was quarantined less than a week because of the overcrowding and an outbreak of chicken pox, measles, and whooping cough.

BUCKEYE FINANCE BASKS IN SUCCESS LIMELIGHT

Occupation Of New Building Emphasizes Phenomenal Progress Of Young Firm

Completion and occupancy of the company's new building at 1245 W. Broad-st has served to focus attention on the meteoric rise in its field of the Buckeye Finance Co.

Founded only eight years ago, under the guidance of Sam N. Alford, president, the firm leased offices at 1259 W. Broad-st, which they occupied until moving to the new structure a few weeks ago. Offices to serve other areas, however, had been established at 2546 Sullivant-av, and in Grove City.

In addition to Alford, others active in the management of the firm's offices are William A. Burns, executive vice-president at 1245 W. Broad-st; C. Milo Alford, manager at 2546 Sullivant-av, and C. Richard Harbold, manager at Grove City.

Sam N. Alford is a native Ohioan and a 1931 graduate of West High School. He is married to the former Virginia Johnson, his high school sweetheart, whom he always calls "Ginny." They have three sons —Eddie, a lieutenant in the Air Force; Sammy, a freshman at the University of Arizona; and Nathan, a student at Hilliards High School. The family resides at 4470 Dublin-rd.

Sam N. Alford

C. Milo Alford

Entered Field in 1932

Sam became interested in his present field when he joined the Household Finance Co. as field representative in 1932, where he remained until becoming affiliated with Money Corporation in 1945. He was one of the founders in 1947 of Thrift Finance Company on the Hilltop and, in 1950, organized the Buckeye Finance Co.

William A. Burns

C. Richard Harbold

In addition to heading up his company, he devotes considerable time to community affairs, being active in the YMCA, West Side Board of Trade, Hilltop Kiwanis, Sunshine Center and many other civic organizations.

Milo Alford preceded his brother at West High School, graduating in 1917. He went into construction work until joining the Bradstreet Co. in 1920, which in 1925 became Dunn & Bradstreet. He was in construction work until joining the Ohio Bureau of Credits in 1935, where he remained until 1940, when he was given an important position by the government at Fort Hayes here in Columbus. Milo joined the Seabees in 1942 and was active in a number of overseas construction jobs until receiving his discharge in 1945.

He, too, was active in the organization of the Buckeye Finance Co., and has played a major role in the success of the company. Milo is active in Masonic affairs and is well known for his active interest in numerous civic and community projects. Woodworking and carpentry are his principal hobbies.

Still another member of the firm to have his feet deeply enmeshed in Hilltop roots is William A. "Bill" Burns, a 1936 graduate of West High School, who continued his studies at Ohio State University. He is married to the former Mary Louise Byers and they have two children, Mary Lynn and Terrance.

Bill began his career with Household Finance Corporation, but his work with them was interrupted when he entered the Army Air Corps during World War II. After his discharge, he returned to Household Finance until joining Buckeye in 1953.

Active in consumer finance affairs, he was recently elected president of the Columbus Association of Finance Companies. He is a past president of the Hilltop Community Council, a member of the Hilltop Lions Club and the Hilltop Business Association. An ardent sportsman, Bill has enjoyed fishing and hunting both in his native Ohio and in Canada.

Also a native of Columbus, but a graduate of South High school, is C. Richard Harbold, manager of the Grove City office, who is a Capital University alumnus. He is married to the former Mary Ellen Paver and they reside with their five children, Kathleen, Mark, Sally, Nancy and Holly, in Grove City.

He also began his career in the finance field with Household Finance Corporation here in Columbus, but managed an office of the firm in Indianapolis until being transferred back here in 1953.

Harbold is a former president of the Columbus Association of Consumer Finance Companies and has been a member of the board of directors of that organization for seven years. He is finance chairman of the Southwest District, Boy Scouts of America, a member of the Grove City Lions Club and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The officers and board of directors of the Buckeye Finance Co. include Sam N. Alford, president; Lowell T. Sullivan, vice-president, Clifford P. Petteway, treasurer; C. Milo Alford, secretary; William A. Burns, Donald P. Bean, C. Richard Harbold, Katie S. Louderback and Paul O. Fullerton.

Tackle Catalogs Are Here

Anyone with a rural background knows what it means when the seed catalogs arrive. Companies in the seed business know when people are yearning for springtime. If my memory serves me, the catalogs came shortly after the first of the year while there were many winter evenings ahead in which to plan for spring planting.

By sassafras tea time, the pages of the seed catalogs were pretty well worn. This didn't matter, for the large dishes of red raspberries were still just as appealing. The memory of pictures of juicy, purple plums, frosty with blooms, makes my mouth water. The blooms of tulips and roses were beyond description.

Use Clever Psychology

Fishing tackle manufacturers are also practical psychologists, and make use of the eternal promise of spring. This is just as well, for it gives a fellow something to do with hunting season until fishing season. Between ice fishing jaunts he can peruse the tackle catalogs. I've just laid down the Heddon book—and I can feel the first warm rays of spring sunshine on my back, robins are chirping, there is a sweet fragrance in the air, and I've just hooked an 18-inch smallmouth on a new "Firetail Sonic."

Those folks up in Dowagiac, Mich., put out a 76-page book that nearly amounts to a "fisherman's bible." Besides "what's new" in fishing tackle, this catalog features a special section clearly illustrating America's 72 most popular fishes, gives details on how to catch them, where, world's records, etc.

Also, there are several pages on fishing tips by Heddon's experts, a full-color print of the brook trout ready for framing, and a number of fisherman's features.

STATE GOVERNMENT EXPLAINED

Law Making Purpose Of General Assembly

Archer E. Reilly, Jr., Member State Legislature

This is the first of a series of seven articles concerning our state and local government. They will appear regularly for the next seven weeks and will include in order, a consideration of the General Assembly, the Governor, the State Supreme Court and the major county offices.

A. E. Reilly Jr.

The General Assembly is considered first because it is the oldest regular branch of State Government dating back to the beginnings of Ohio as a state, at Chillicothe, March 1, 1803, and its function is essential to the conduct of state government.

This is the law-making agency of Ohio government. It derives its power from the State Constitution. Its object is the framing of policy and the assertion of it in the form of laws.

There are two Houses in the Ohio Legislature; the Senate and the House of Representatives. The members are citizens of the district which they represent. They receive $5,000 per year for their services.

Members are elected at the regular election on the first Tuesday in November in even numbered years. The terms for the House are two years: and— under a recent constitutional amendment— four years for the Senate.

Regular sessions begin on the first Monday in January following the election They are of approximately six months duration. After the regular session, the Governor may call special sessions, but they are confined to the subjects included in his call. And, as a matter of practice, in normal times governors tend to be hesitant about calling special sessions at all.

The first order of business for both Houses is the election of officers. The Senate elects a president pro tempore; the House a speaker and speaker pro tempore (major leader). This election is actually a mere formality, as the selections are agreed upon in advance by the caucus of the majority party.

Shortly after the selection of officers and the disposal of preliminary matters, the actual business of law making begins.

In Ohio a bill is started on the road to becoming a law through its introduction by a member in his own House. And whenever a member introduces a bill, he is considered its sponsor.

After its introduction, a bill is sent to a regular committee, where its fate is determined. It is often said that the real work of the Legislature is in committee, and this is close to the truth.

Each committee has a chairman who determines which bills will be acted upon and discussed at committee meetings. If a bill has a hearing, both its proponents and opponents are given an opportunity to be heard.

Generally if a committee recommends a bill for passage it has a good chance for a favorable vote in that House. Ultimately, to become law, it must pass both Houses. This is part of the system of checks and balances built into the American form of government.

The General Assembly itself is one of three coordinate branches of state government, each of which has separate functions, among them to serve as a balance wheel for the other.

Next week we shall consider the Governor, who administers the laws the Legislature enacts.

The Squeeze Play

Peter, Paul Agree On Moral Virtues

ST. PETER and St. Paul might disagree about certain matters of attitude and strategy concerning acute problems that arose in the early church. Paul has left the record of how on one occasion he stood with Peter "face to face."

But, when it came to the rich elemental experiences of faith and life in Christ, and counseling and guiding Christians as to how they might experience the rich things of Christ, they were so much in agreement that their very words are similar.

Peter makes it plain that faith is the foundation of Christian life and the beginning of all growth. To faith, he says, must be added virtue, and to virtue, knowledge; to knowledge, self-control; to self-control, patience; to patience, godliness; to godliness, brotherly kindness, and to brotherly kindness, love.

These are closely related qualities of the Christian life which cannot be separated from one another.

Paul's description or catalogue of the fruits of the spirit is found in Galatians 5:22-23. "The fruit of the spirit," Paul says, "is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, self-control." Against these things, Paul, says, there is no law—a comment very much like one of Peter's, where he says that if the things he has listed are possessed by disciples who abound in them, their lives will not be idle or unfruitful.

These virtues emphasized by Paul at 1 Peter are so specific, so understandable and so practicable that the only question is whether or not we have the will to make them our own.

Hey, I Found A Fossil!

That's worth shouting about, young fella!

Those strange patterns in the rock are pages out of the past in Nature's notebook. They tell the story of life as it was, millions of years ago, when huge quantities of natural gas were formed and buried deep beneath the earth's surface.

Today, fossils serve as important signposts in man's quest for more reserves of natural gas throughout the entire Appalachian area, for they often provide the clue to new supplies.

The search for this "wonder fuel" continues at an intensive rate, to keep pace with your increasing demands for modern homes and industry. Millions of dollars yearly are spent to discover new reserves, drill new wells, deliver a steady flow of dependable, economical natural gas to you.

These efforts are well repaid because natural gas is the modern, efficient fuel. And it serves you best when you use it with modern, automatic gas appliances.

'Grows' 2500 Dozen Corsages A Year From Her Dining Table

DRESSING UP HER HOME with large flower arrangements "has been fun as well as decorative," said Mrs. Fred Eppert. These are Christmas roses made up in colors to carry out her living room color scheme.

FINISHING TOUCHES are being added to this corsage by Mrs. Eppert with great care. She takes special pride in her flowers and checks each corsage thoroughly before sending it to retailers.

A classified ad in the Hilltop Record four years ago was the seed for a flowering business venture. Artificial flowers blossom in excess of 2500 dozen corsages a year from the dining table of a Valleyview woman, Mrs. Fred Eppert.

A resident of 2721 Elliott-av, Mrs. Eppert noticed the ad offering lessons on making artificial flowers. She studied for a year with Mrs. Gladys Devore, and then went into business for herself.

Mrs. Eppert, whose husband is an engineer for the Pennsylvania Railroad, started making the flowers as a hobby but it soon grew into a full-time job. She took her wares to one of the largest department stores in Columbus and was immediately signed on as a supplier. The store buyer praised her workmanship.

That was three years ago. today, besides making flowers regularly for this store, she also supplies a large store in Cleveland and one in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Eppert can turn out 12 dozen flower corsages a day. However during her "rush" seasons of early spring and fall it has been necessary for her to hire as many as five other women. Her husband, Fred, has also helped her out when business is rushed. Their three sons, (two are married, one is a senior at West High School) have never taken an "active" interest in her dining room business said Mrs. Eppert.

Raw Materials From Formosa

The flowers are made from wood fibre acquired from bark shavings from trees in Formosa. She buys this material from her instructor who owns a supply company on N. High-st. This fibre is used because it is easy to work with, comes in nearly every color, and feels and looks very much like a flower petal.

Mrs. Eppert makes flowers of nearly every type and size, from a small rose bud to large floral arrangements for the home. Being a business woman she is interested in profit as well as the art. She discovered that large arrangements are less profitable than small clusters and therefore stays away from the larger groupings as much as possible.

Christmas, birthdays and other gift-giving occasions present no problem to her. She said she gives many flowers, corsages and arrangements as gifts. When asked if her friends ever teased her about giving them flowers year after year, she said she'd had no complaints yet.

She said she has no plans for expansion because "the business is big enough now. I am glad I am able to do something with my hands here in my dining room to help out at home financially."

Mrs. Eppert is modest about her success but a little checking reveals that she has been very charitable with her flowers. She has supplied a great many arrangements for her church, Westgate Evangelical Church, and for various functions held by her Eastern Star chapter.

Easter Seal Goal Established For Franklin County Sale

A total of $75,000 is the goal set for the 1958 Easter Seal campaign in Franklin County, it was announced today by Mrs. Jeanne Shea, campaign chairman.

This goal must be met in 1958 if crippled children of Franklin County are to continue to receive the care necessary for their rehabilitation and if direct services are to be extended to other handicapped persons not now receiving care and treatment.

The Franklin County Society for Crippled Children set this goal for the Easter Seal campaign based on the Society's current operating budget. The 1958 appeal opens Thursday, Mar. 6, and continues through Easter Sunday, Apr. 6.

Need Widespread

Mrs. Shea pointed out: "Hundreds of crippled children and adults in Franklin County depend upon the generosity of Easter Seal contributors to bring them care, treatment and other services. We need to meet our goal in order to continue professional help from physical therapists, occupational therapists and speech therapists, and to make possible growth and expansion to meet the demands of increasing numbers of handicapped persons."

According to Mrs. Shea, the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the parent Easter Seal Society, reported that a total of $10,300,00 nationwide was raised during the 1957 campaign.

Fieser School Fades From West Side

FIESER SCHOOL at 335 W. State-st, 85-year-old West Side landmark, is being levelled by order of the Board of Education. The building, which hasn't been in use for several years, has become an eyesore. The board is holding onto the site, valued at $60,000, because bids have been too low. Top bids of $23,400,, received December 1956, and $41,000, submitted September 1957, were both rejected by the Board of Education. The Columbus Paper Box Company submitted both bids. The site hasn't attracted builders because of reports the state is planning an "office city" for the area.

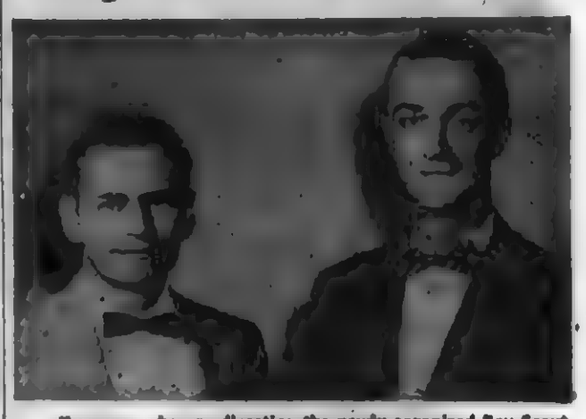
Remove 'Speed Trap' In New Annex Tract



Last Wednesday Police Captain R. P. Smith put an end to a "speed trap" operating along Sullivant-av between Derrer-rd and Georgesville-rd due to the city's neglect to place speed limit signs in the area.

Recently annexed to the city, the area has no speed signs as yet and the city limits sign has not yet been moved. Capt. Smith said that until the proper signs are installed no motorists will be picked up for speed violations in the area.

Both dark and light raisins were originally the green Thompson seedless grape. The dark are sun-dried and the light are processed indoors.

Ed, a native of Franklin County, gained a large part of his grocery experience through his father's vegetable farm. He learned to cut meat during several years employment in a local meat packing plant.

Walter, a Hilltopper for 18 years, was in the service station business before entering this business venture with his brother.

Keeping his yard in good order takes up most of Ed's spare time. He said he gets little chance to travel because of the business. He is a member of HBA, Masonic Order and St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Like his brother, Walter spends most of his leisure hours around home keeping things in running order. He is a member of HBA and the Masonic Order.

New Vocational Course

R. O. Knight, director of industrial education of Columbus schools had this to say about distributive education:

"We realize this is not in the direction of the science-math promotion in schools today, but we do believe it is a program to help many people to find out if they like lesser jobs." In another way we can help the community, by serving as a screening agent for students looking for their first jobs after graduation. This should solve some of the turnover problems our merchants face," he continued.

HBA Interested

C. H. Campbell, Hilltop Business Association secretary gave a merchants' viewpoint when he said, "In my 25 years of retailing I have often found the need for young people with this type of valuable training." Campbell also is a member of the vocational guidance committee of Hilltop Kiwanis and as such will enlist the club's help in establishing the program at West.

Campbell was told that any local business or service clubs interested in learning more about DE could call O. D. Lehman at BR. 4-1197 and arrange for a personal talk.

Questions from the viewpoint of students, parents, etc. were answered by C. N. Gingerich, area supervisor of the state D.E. program. Here are some of them:

Who can be a DE student? Any senior whether he intends to enter college or not, whose past record is such as to be a credit to his school, the program and himself. At the end of his Junior year he must have enough credits to qualify him for graduation at the end of the senior year, providing he satisfactorily completes his DE program and one or two related subjects while a senior. He would then of course be eligible for a diploma.

What would a student's typical day include? It might shape up like this; first period, business law or English; second period, government or speech; third period, (DE) salesmanship; fourth period, (D) merchandising. On-the-job in a store, shop, service station, etc., from 1 p.m. until closing.

What responsibilities does the employer have? He would interview and hire or reject applicants requested from the school; explain store policies; make arrangements about hours and wages with the student and coordinator; assign the student to the proper department and supervisor and perhaps draw up a brief performance rating sheet periodically.

Can the student negotiate for another job if he wishes? Yes, he may. However, an estimated one-third have been known to stay with the cooperating merchant after graduation. Another third may even find that they are later able to go to college. In many cases the merchant helps to finance a college career.

Will high school students miss out on some of the regular extra-curricular activities? To some extent. Boys, especially, may find that they cannot belong to basketball or football teams because of the after-school hours involved. The DE class, however, is a club in itself. All members belong to a social group which meets every month.

How early in high school should students start considering DE? In the ninth grade or earlier they can find advice and later counseling and selection of courses at West by consulting Mr. Ed Naylor, who has been guidance counselor there for [illegible].

How are different DE problems handled as they arise? An advisory committee with C. H. Campbell as key man, will be formed. A committee consisting of Lehman, Naylor and Campbell and several merchants would plan the program to fit the community needs.

Persons attending last week's DE kickoff meeting at West High School included P. A. Jackson, Y's Men's Club; C. H. Campbell, HBA secretary; Richard W. Nash, Hilltop Kiwanis; Howard F. Wilson, West Franklin Kiwanis; Harry Essick West Side Kiwanis; Dr. W. W. Miller, superintendent of instruction, Columbus Public Schools; Ruth Bachmayer, vice-principal, West High; Clarence Gingerich, DE services, State Department of Education; R. O. Knight, industrial education director of public schools; Dr. Robert W. Wylie, president, Western Optimist Club; Edwin Naylor, West guidance counselor; R. F. Darrow, West principal; O. D. Lehman, DE teacher-coordinator, and Marcus Orr, Hilltop Record.

Glick's 19% Bonus Event Underway At All Four Stores

"Glick's original 19% bonus event offers the consumer greater values and more selections than ever before," according to Robert A. Glick, general manager of Glick Furniture Co.

"This event, conceived originally by Glick's in 1926, marks the 31st anniversary of Central Ohio's largest furniture company," he said, adding, "buyers in all departments have scoured the factories of America, especially for this event. All of the 150 associates have been trained to give the public the finest service possible."

"We know, without a doubt," said Glick, "that our original 19% bonus event is the consumers' best buying opportunity of the year."

"We offer our customers a 19% bonus in additional free furnishings of their own selection. Prices in all of our four stores are the same as last month and the many months before."

Glick's now operates four stores in Columbus, downtown at 66 E. Long-st, in the Great Western and Northern Lights Shopping centers, and the Bargain Annex at 45 E. Long-st.

Glick's offers a complete selection of furniture, carpeting and appliances. Among the many styles featured at any of Glick's four stores are early American, Danish, French and Italian provincial, traditional and casual modern.

Free Decorating Service

Throughout the year, and since its founding in 1907, Glick's has offered many services designed especially for the satisfaction of its customers. Since then many other advancements have been made to keep pace with Glick's growth as Central Ohio's largest furniture company. In addition to a positive policy of satisfaction guaranteed, shoppers at Glick's can take advantage of free decorating service to assist home-makers in any decorating problems, large or small, with no obligation, the general manager said.

Glick's maintains a full team of service men as part of its policy to offer service on every item it sells. Salesmen are thoroughly trained by consulting factory specialists at all times and, in addition, offers complete in-the-home service when complete selections of furniture, carpeting and appliances can be shown in the privacy of the home for comfortable choosing.

In addition to the vast selections offered, Glick's shoppers never have any parking problems because of Glick's free parking policy. Downtown shoppers can park free at Fought's parking lot between the two downtown stores, and visitors centers to either of the suburban locations will always find ample free parking in the shopping

Civil War 'Blood 'n Thunder' Battles Still Rage In Printer's Attic

EACH SOLDIER IS PLACED WITH CARE on this new Civil War battlefield now being built by J. R. Showalter for museum in Chattanooga. Included in this model will be the Battle of Missionary Ridge. The printer said this will be his biggest challenge because of the difficulty in recreating the original terrain.

CONFEDERATE GENERAL MOSBY'S ATTACK on a wagon train at Berryville, Va. . . . as it appears in a scale model designed and constructed by J. R. Showalter. The miniature battle scene has just been completed after more than a month of concentrated work. Showalter buys plastic fences, cabins and covered wagons and then breaks them up for the realism of war destruction. He uses lichen and small tree limbs for his model trees, "If I keep stealing branches from my cherry tree in the back yard to make miniature forests I'm not going to have a real tree left," laughed Showalter.

By Ray Shaffer

One attic in this area has been the birthplace of more than 20 battles and the stamping ground of hundreds of soldiers. J. R. Showalter, 234 S. Cypress-av, owner of a West Side print shop, spends his spare hours in a scale model world of another era.

He has been a man very much in the news recently because of his miniature Civil War camp and Gettysburg Battle scenes displayed at a downtown theater showing the movie "Raintree County."

Showalter has been studying the Civil War since childhood and has an extensive collection of books on that era, its battles and its leaders. He developed this interest through his grandfather, a Confederate soldier, who related many battle stories to his grandchildren.

For the last 15 years, he has been building one battle scene after another in his attic, taking about five to six weeks to complete each. He is a "stickler" for authenticity and travels around the southeastern section of the country to study former battle sites. He said he makes about 20 business trips a year and always visits these war memorials along the way. He said he spends about six or seven hours studying a battle scene and then carries it home in his mind to build later.

Building One For Museum

He recently returned from a trip to the South, where he was studying terrain for the next model battle scene, the Battle of Missionary Ridge. When completed it will be placed in the museum at Chattanooga, Tenn. Showalter said that it has been an expensive hobby and he has decided to make a little money at it by selling his models to various museums.

Most boys interested in toy soldiers would have a real picnic in Showalter's attic. He has box after box of miniature plastic soldiers painted either as Union men or Confederates. Each box contains soldiers of a particular regiment or company. He pointed out a group of Ohio Union soldiers identified by their pale blue trousers. He said he tries to paint the men in the type uniforms that were worn in various periods of the war.

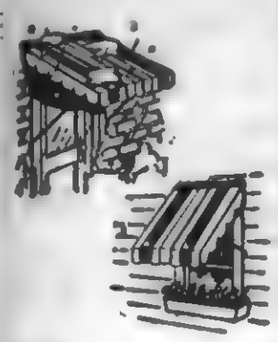
In one phase, however, he has strayed from authenticity, that being the uniforms worn by the Confederates toward the end of the war. The Southern troops were in bad shape near the conclusion but manufacturers don't make soldiers dressed in "rags", he observed.

Wife Plays Solitaire

Showalter and his helper, Kenneth Leady, paint about 50 soldiers each evening in preparation for their new battle projects. When asked if his wife, Bessie, took an interest in his hobby, Mrs. Showalter spoke up, "While he plays with toy soldiers, I play solitaire!"

Of interest to other model makers, Showalter shuns plaster of paris for use as battle grounds. He uses plastic styrofoam used by florists because he said it is much easier to work with.

One Civil War battle has thus far been omitted from his collection—the burning of Atlanta. He said he has considered it but knew it would be a tremendous undertaking. However, he said, if the movie "Gone With the Wind" ever returns to the screen he will try to reconstruct the burning for a movie-house display.



PFC Unrue Participates In Korean Field Drills

Pfc. Robert E. Unrue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Unrue, 2246 W. Mound-st, recently participated in a field training exercise near Seoul, with members of United Nations units from Korea, Turkey and the United States.

The Army reports this to be the largest maneuver held in Korea since the end of hostilities in 1953.

Unrue is a switchboard operator in Company A of the First Cavalry Division's 13th Signal Battalion. The 20-year-old soldier entered the Army in December 1956 and arrived overseas in October 1957. He is a 1955 graduate of Holy Family High School.

16 State Inmates Escape Briefly Monday Evening

State officials report that 16 inmates of the Juvenile Diagnostic Center and the Columbus State School escaped their confines and were at liberty for a few hours Monday night.

Three of the six boys, aged 13 to 15, who escaped the Juvenile Center through an unlocked side door, were picked up in the city. The other three were discovered later Monday night in Xenia.

Three of the 10 State School inmates, one boy, eight girls and a woman, returned to the school voluntarily. Four were apprehended in Columbus and three in Worthington. They had escaped about 6:30 p.m. by breaking bars of dormitory windows.

GM Personnel Vie In $500,000 Awards Contest

Nearly 285,000 General Motors employes are competing for $500,000 in prizes the company is offering in its "Golden Milestone" letter-writing contest, a final tabulation of entries disclosed Wednesday.

Judging is being supervised by a panel of five nationally known persons not associated with General Motors. The top 45 winners will be announced at an awards banquet in Detroit about Mar. 27.

Subject of the letters was "The Golden Milestone — what it means to me, my family and my community." At Turnstedt Division 69.4 percent of the employes participated in the contest.

GM To Give Three-Cent Hourly Boost

General Motors today announced an upward revision of three cents per hour in its cost of living allowance to approximately 362,000 hourly-rate employes resulting from an increase in the nation's cost-of-living index.

The three-cent increase in the cost-of-living allowance for hourly-rate employes becomes effective with the first pay period after Mar. 1. These employes, therefore, will receive a total hourly cost-of-living allowance of 22 cents per hour for the months of March, April and May. Approximately 104,000 eligible salaried employes also will receive an equivalent increase in their quarterly cost-of-living allowance of $15. Thus, their total cost-of-living allowance for the three month period will be $110.

At Ternstedt, Paul R. Jones, plant manager, denied that the plant would be going on a four day work-week. Parts production was shut down last Friday to reduce inventory and the plant will close again this Friday for annual inventory, Jones said.

Optimists Are Forming 'Junior Size' Club

RARE MOMENT—It isn't often that things slow down when the Junior Optimists get together twice each week. But when order is called and Bill O'Hara asks for attention, the lads quiet down and listen. The club, which was started with only six members, has now expanded to 62.

Chuck Beyer "builds" for the future.

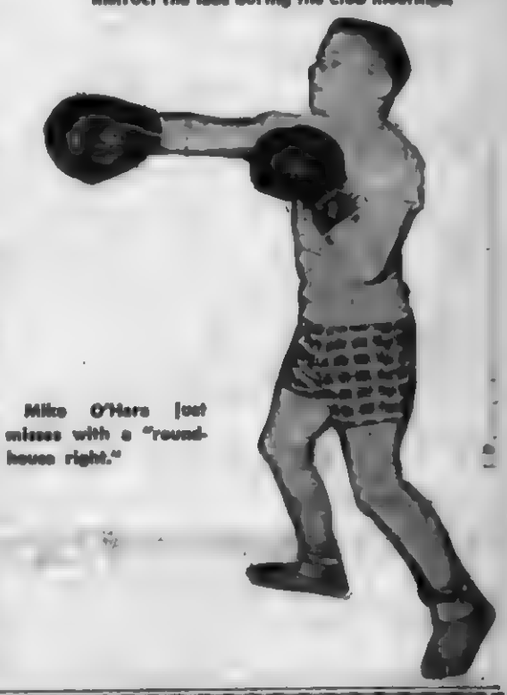
Western Optimist To Give Charter To Boys Group

Work of the Western Optimist Club has progressed rapidly since the group was organized only six months ago.

And the most important phase of the work according to club members will crystalize soon with the formation of a Junior Optimist Club in Hilliards. The launching of the club serves as an outlet for the purposes of "Optimism," which is centered around boys' work.

The club, which has 62 members, was formed about the first of last November. It will become officially affiliated with Optimism March 4 when a charter ceremony will be held.



Officers for the group have already been elected. Joe Parker is president, with Robert Fox, vice-president; George Rings, sergeant-at-arms; Bill Badger, treasurer; Chester McCann, secretary; and Allen Van Houten, chaplain.

The organization meets twice each week at Hilliards Upper Elementary School where a program centered around boxing, tumbling, wrestling and weight-lifting is supervised.

Another unique feature of the club is a Junior Optimist Band. The group which is directed by Charles Fuhrer, has already played at a junior high dance and will take part in the charter night program.

Others who will take part in the program will be John Siedel, Governor of Optimist District No. 34; and Dr. Robert Wylie, president of the Western Optimist Club.

Charter, banner and badges will be presented to the group during the ceremony. The public is invited to attend and refreshments will be served following the program.

Mike O'Hara [ust misses with a "roundhouse right."

Thirty years ago a cross-country driver had to learn to obey traffic signals that were purple, orange blue, red, yellow, and green. But today the lights are all a standard red, yellow and green. It's easy to understand and obey them, and it's good safety insurance against traffic accidents. The Safety Council of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce says it pays to observe all traffic signs, signals, and markings.

It's all too easy to drive automatically, without being alert to danger. When you're driving, don't get carried away with distracting sights or thoughts—or you may be carried away!

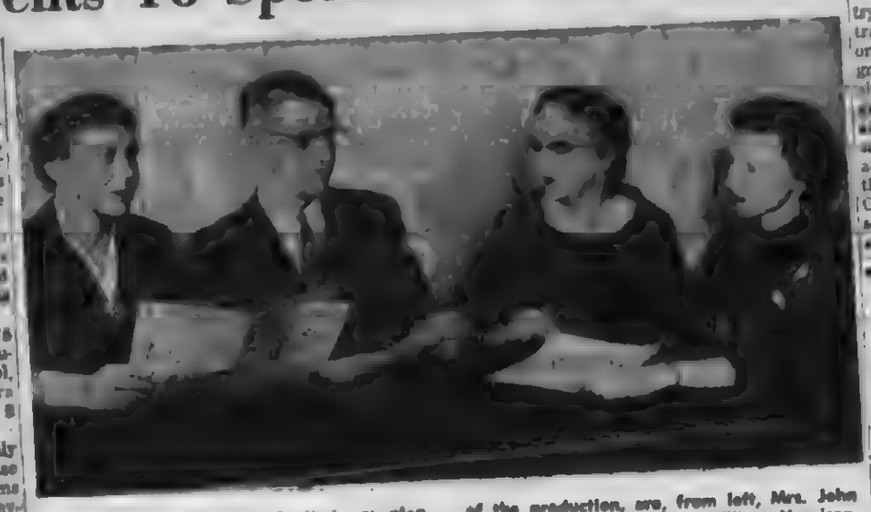
Band Parents To Sponsor Student Show



West High School's 19th annual Musical Variety Show, featuring the members of West Junior and Senior High bands and orchestras, will be presented Friday and Saturday, Mar. 14 and 15, at 8 p.m. Clair Barnard is director of West's bands, and John Dale of the orchestras.

"Carnival Time in New Orleans," is the title of this year's production, and all music and acts will be on a mardi gras theme.

Tickets are now on sale at 75 cents each, from any instrumental student or at the school, and may be reserved at no extra cost in the school lobby Mar. 8 through Mar. 15.

Band Parents Club is entirely responsible for the purchase and maintenance of uniforms and instruments. Each year, several thousands of dollars are needed to support the bands and orchestras.

This year's expenditures include two French horns, a bass clarinet, an oboe and bassoon, costing approximately $1,700.

PLANNING SESSION—Preliminary planning for West High's 19th annual Musical Variety Show scheduled for Mar. 14 and 15 at 8 p.m., has been underway for many weeks. Officers of the Band Parents Club, sponsors of the production, are, from left, Mrs. John J. Ricker, president; Mrs. Wilbur Morrison, treasurer; Charles E. Apel, vice-president, and Mrs. Howard Hartranft, secretary.

The center is located at 734 Oak-st. Further information may be obtained, and enrollment made, by calling CA. 1-9472.

There's always hope as long as there are Signs of Life. Let signs and markings on street and highway be your guide to safer driving. Watch for 'em—and obey 'em!

Penny For Your Thoughts

Question: Do you think we are headed for another depression?

Mrs. Edgar Mayer, 2365 Sullivant-av: "I'm afraid that it looks that way. All the layoffs we've been having lately make me think something will happen. I sure hope not though."

Mrs. Raymond Quinn, 690 S. Hague-av: "I certainly hope not. I don't thing we'll definitely have one even though it looks it. I guess maybe that's just optimism talking, though."

John Endres, 209 S. Terrace-av: "Yes, I think we're headed for one. There's going to have to be an awful change before anything can be done about it. Politics are causing most of it. Of course there are a lot of contributing factors to cause one but these politics are about the main one I'd say."

Robert Dickson, 286 S. Richardson: "This is just my own personal thought but I think we are. As a matter of fact, I think we're in one right now. Wages are not going up in proportion to prices. The cost of living is continually rising but wages are not."

Mrs. Arnold Harmer, 192 N. Powell: "It looks like it. Actually, maybe it won't be a depression but a recession. At least it looks that way from the business point of view."

Board Gives Go-Ahead To Million Dollar Valleyview Jr. High

FROM THE ARCHITECT'S PEN comes this view of the million dollar Valleyview Junior High School which the Columbus Board of Education expects to have ready for 900 pupils in a year. Working drawings and specifications for this important element of the sprouting Hilltop Community Center were approved by the board Tuesday afternoon. The clerk treasurer was authorized to advertise and accept bids on the project until noon, Apr. 11. Construction will begin soon thereafter. David Schechne, Jr., board architect, said the ultra-modern school on Valleyview-dr would be unlike any other in the city. It will relieve much overcrowding of West High School. Also seen in this sketch are the following (clockwise around the junior high school): Valleyview Elementary School (now in use); Glenwood Methodist Church and Hilltop Branch YMCA (both to be built). An area between elementary school and the church is being considered for a new Luther B. Turner Lodge

What Is A Fair Share Gift For YMCA Drive?

Some 120 persons who are interested in the new Hilltop YMCA building will meet next Monday evening at Great Western Office of the Ohio National Bank for the kick-off of the Special Gifts Drive for funds for the YM and YW for new buildings.

The early construction of the fine new Hilltop YMCA facility will depend in a large measure on the success of this local campaign. It is the belief of those heading up the campaign that there are enough local residents who are interested in the Y and want this building to account for a very fine response from this community.

This brings up the question: "What is a fair share for me to give?"

No one can answer this question except the individual. Your fair share depends on your ability to give, and your interest in the Y, coupled with what your innerself says you should do to help other people.

In any event a fair share should be an amount that will make the project possible. The success of the drive will depend on the number of people who will give sacrificially. This means that if you should give $1000 you should not settle for $100, and if your fair share should be $100 you should not try to get off with just $10.

A strenuous task is ahead of workers in the drive over the next few months. Perhaps you intend to make a pledge payable over three full years). If you are not contacted soon why not step forward and ask that a worker call on you. This will aid the drive in a big way.

As of Monday first steps will be taken in the drive on a local level. Give the matter some thought and be prepared to assist the worker who calls on you.

The Hilltop will be an even better place in which to live when the new Y building is erected.

Civitan Club Enters Community Life; Welcomed By Local, National Officials

NEW OFFICERS OF THE CIVITAN CLUB of West Columbus are greeted by John Bond, president elect of Civitan International, following the chartering of the new group. They are, left to right, directors, B. Allan Sanford, Kenneth D. Campbell, Walter R. Munch, Jr., John Bond, Glenn M. Eichenauer, president; C. Stanley Taylor, treasurer; Rev. Frank McCullough, chaplain; James B. Kneale, secretary. The club is the second Civitan group in Columbus.

The Civitan Club of West Columbus was officially chartered in ceremonies at the Everglades Restaurant Saturday evening, making it the second of its type in this city and 11th in Ohio.

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner was on hand to welcome the new service club to Columbus. Civitans International president-elect John Bond of Clarksville, Tenn., and Leroy Sauer of Dayton, past international president, were present to issue the club's charter.

The new group has been organized through efforts of the Civitan Club of North Columbus, represented by W. W. Stover, and Civitan Ohio governor-elect Don Henderson, also of this city.

Club Hails From South

The organization was founded in the southern part of the United States shortly after World War I drawing its name from the Latin word civitas, meaning citizen. In the past two years, a new Civitan Club has been started someplace in

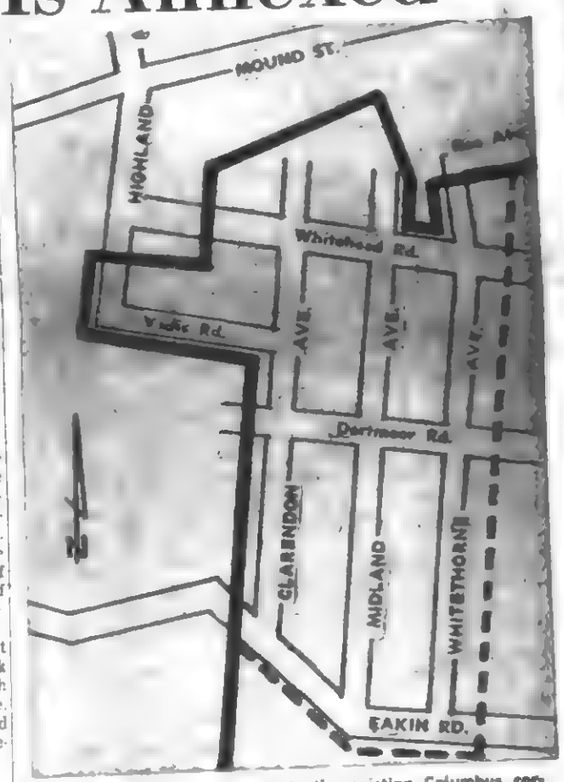
IHC Plant Will Begin Hiring Soon

Hiring of nearly 300 employes for International Harvester Company's new warehouse on Sullivant-av, north of Westgate Manor, is expected to begin in April, a company spokesman said.



An IHC office manager from Chicago will come to the warehouse soon to handle the employment as well as supervise the general stocking of parts and machinery.

Present employes in the firm's Chestnut-st offices will be moved to the new location. Indications are that practically all of those to be hired will be warehouse personnel.

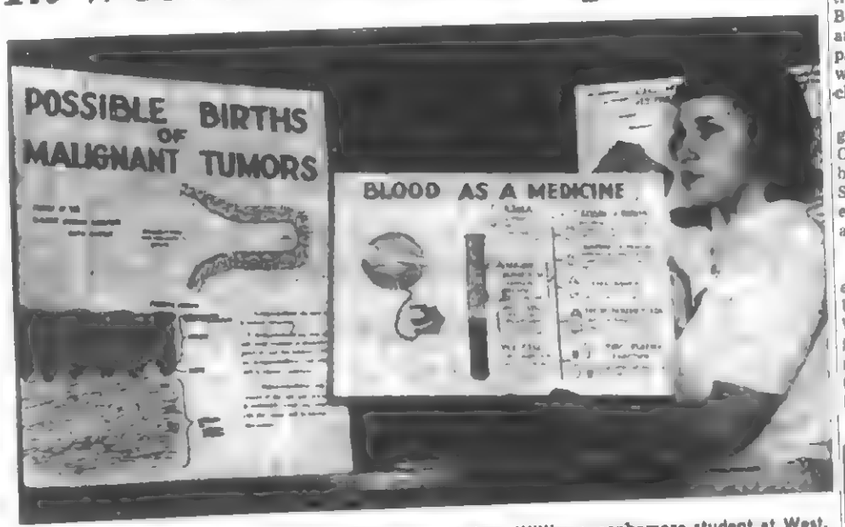
Work on the combined office building and parts warehouse is now in its final stages, reports Wayne Depple, consulting engineer for the project. He said most of the outside construction and the laying of an estimated 11,000 yards of concrete were completed before arrival of cold weather.

A temporary heating plant has made it possible for work to continue to keep up with the June completion schedule. The building's heating and sprinkler systems are now being installed.

Rainbow Area Is Annexed

Heavy black line represents the existing Columbus corporation limits. The dotted line shows the area, known as Rainbow Addition, that was annexed to Columbus by City Council Monday night.

Rainbow Addition, an area of a little more than 53 acres, was added to Columbus Monday night when City Council approved its annexation.



The area lies just south of W Mound st between Whitethorne av and Highland av. It is bounded on the south by Eakin rd.

A request for annexation was submitted early last fall and was approved by county commissioners Dec. 18. The normal waiting period of 90 days for any opposition was fulfilled before the request was sent to council for approval.

The majority of the area's residents have favored the annexation for some time. They hope the necessary improvements will be made in Rainbow addition now that it is a part of Columbus. These improvements include repaving of streets, adequate plumbing facilities and proper sewerage.

City Clerk Russell C. Drake said this was one of the few recent annexations to the city that received no opposition.

More Than 300 Enter Projects In West's Science Competition

Representing two years of exhaustive research and work in the possible cause and treatment of cancer, the Science Night project of Jean Williams, sophomore student at West, is among the more outstanding entries. Public is invited to the Mar. 6 event.

Study Of Cancer Among Science Night Projects

By Betty Daft

Channeling youth's inquisitive interest in the world about him into the study of science is a challenge being met by educators throughout the country.

West Junior-Senior High School's staff of 11 science teachers, cooperating in the national emphasis, has increased its efforts to encourage students in choosing scientific carreers.

Their rewarding response is in the number and excellence of entries prepared for West High's annual Science Night, Mar. 6.

More than 300 students have prepared projects ranging from comparatively simple ones prepared in a few weeks time, to those requiring hundreds of hours of research and preparation.

Jean Williams, although only a sophomore student at West, has already travelled a long way toward her chosen goal of a career in medical research. With all the single-minded dedication of a true scientist she has worked, learned and applied what she learned on her cancer project.

Appalled at the death of a good friend from cancer two years ago, Jean determined then to study cancer's cause and treatment in preparation for a career in research.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton T. Williams, 2702 Elliott av, Jean has worked under the direction of her science teachers at West during the school months, and all last summer as a laboratory assistant to Dr. Bertha Bournocle in the Hematology Department at University Hospital.

Her duties included everything from running errands to cleaning equipment. As a compensation for her volunteer services, Dr. Bouroncle, a native of Peru, has helped Jean with her project.

Her work at the laboratory also enabled her to examine slides containing blood samples of leukemia victims and cancerous tissue cultures. In addition to a collection of slides and blood samples her project includes exact, clay models of blood cells and illustrated, comprehensive charts on cancer.

Speaking with quiet conviction, she describes her future plans of continued study in the field of medicine and, "When I am qualified, research on cancer."

Robert Boldt Dies Tuesday Of Injuries

Robert L. Boldt, 22, of 433 S. Huron-av, died Tuesday afternoon in Mt. Carmel Hospital of injuries suffered Friday, while working as a lineman.

A 50-foot utility pole on which he was working snapped at its base, crashing to the ground in the 600 block of Amity-rd, Prairie Township.

Boldt, an employe of Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., was a graduate of West High School and a member of the Methodist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Diana, two sons, Robert L., jr., and Michael Thomas, both at home; mother, Mrs. Joan Cornell; father, Robert A. Boldt; five sisters, a brother and his grandmother, all of Columbus.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday in the Jerry Spears Funeral Home, where friends may call after 7 p.m. Wednesday. He will be buried in Green Lawn Cemetery.

Eakin Road Land Acquisition Case Is Dated May 5

A jury trial May 5 is slated to wind up the acquisition of land needed to complete an extension of Eakin rd. from Harris to Hague avs early next summer. That is the word from Bruce Jenkins of the city attorney's office.

Robert F. Werner, chief city engineer, stated that start of work on the extension is based on the acquisition of land that is now "90 precent complete."

Emmett Story Dies In Florida

Funeral services were held today at West Palm Beach, Fla., for Emmett "Bill" Story who died Saturday night of a heart attack.

A former Hilltopper he had lived at West Palm Beach for the past 15 years and was an assistant cashier in the Atlantic National Bank, there.

His brother, Clarence Story, of 185 Binns-blvd, said that his late brother was a former employee of the Hilltop branch of the Ohio National Bank.

He is survived by his wife, Dora; brother, Clarence; and a sister, Mrs. Bill Rath of Mount Healthy, O.

He was buried in West Palm Beach.

Business Off? You Can't Sell That To Dick!

Any merchant who says people are not buying because of the recession worries might well talk to Dick Mann, owner of the Mann Furniture Co., 3440 Sullivant-av.

Like as not, however, he'd say he's just too busy to talk about it! At least he was too busy to talk to a Hilltop Record salesman about this week's advertising.

"Since 6 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 26 — the day my sale ad appeared in the Hilltop Record — I haven't had a minute's rest," he told the representative of this newspaper. "It has simply been tremendous," he added, "and I just don't have time to gather my wits together sufficiently to get out another ad."

Business off? Don't try to sell Dick that stuff! He might go along with the idea that to get business today requires a bit of "going after," which he did.

Early Contributors Lay Solid Foundation For YMCA Drive

The kind of enthusiasm shown by these people will make the new Hilltop Y building possible. This past week in response to the announcement that the Special Gifts phase of the campaign is about to start on the Hilltop these people volunteered to make their contributions early, thus becoming the first givers in this group to spark the campaign. On the left is Ray Coffman, one of the captains of the division, receiving the pledges of, left to right, Henry Jones, Jane Jones, Dr. Hal Taylor and Arthur J. Bellar.

C of C School Essay Contest Now Underway

The thirteenth annual high school essay contest sponsored locally by the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce is now officially underway.

At a recent Kick-Off Banquet at the University Club practically every high school in Central Ohio was represented. All high school students in Columbus and Franklin County public and parochial schools are invited and urged to participate in the contest.

The topic for this year's essay is "What Advertising Means To Me." Essays are to be 1000 words or less. Official contest dates are Feb. 24 through Mar. 21, 1958. Entries are to be judged on originality of thought, accuracy of information and clarity of expression. Top prize locally will be $75 cash, a trophy and an Encyclopaedia Britannica World Atlas, plus an opportunity to participate in the national contest. Julie Warner of South High School was a top winner last year.

ISSUE SAFETY RULES ON VENTED HEATERS

The recent up-swing in deaths in the city caused by carbon-monoxide poisoning has moved the city's Department of Public Safety to issue a list of rules to follow to insure the safe use of approved vented heaters. They are as follows:

1. The heater, connected with a stove pipe, should be vented to a good chimney.
2. Make sure that the chimney is clean and is drawing as well as it should be.
3. See that the vent pipe goes up hill from the heater to the chimney.
4. Use a safety thimble to keep the pipe from going too far into the chimney. Seal around the pipe where it enters the chimney with cement or plaster.
5. See that there is a cleanout opening with a tight-fitting cap in the chimney located under the vent pipe.
6. There should be some outside air available to the space where the heater is located.
7. Have a qualified licensed installer connect and adjust your heater. This may cost a few dollars, but it may save many dollars in lower fuel bills and MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE.

Personal Conduct Effective

PERSONAL bad habits and anti-social practices go back a long way in human history. Man is a very perverse creature, not totally depraved but subject to weaknesses and resentful of restraint and discipline. He is not always willing to do what is for his own good, let alone what is good for others.

Personal conduct is bound up with social results. The strength and character of a people or a nation are determined by the sort of lives the individuals are living.

The virtues of the good and well-disciplined may offset the weakening effect of the careless, the evil-minded, the self-indulgent. But the weakening effect is there. It lowers a nation's morale and impairs its actual strength.

The corrupt or dissolute man may say that his actions and habits are his own affair, that they concern nobody but himself. But in evil as in good, no man is an island. We are members one of another.

Personal conduct may have far-reaching and incalculable results. Even in times of perplexity, when vision is not always clear, if a man's heart is in the right place and his actions in the right direction, he cannot know how much he may achieve.

The famous passage from Amos and the equally famous passage in which St. Paul, a champion of personal liberty, commends consideration for others are enforced by a dare to stand up for what is right.

St. Peter's injunction to follow the example of Christ is accompanied by the warning that we shall surely give account of our lives to "Him that is ready to judge the living and the dead."

There is plenty of material here to keep us thinking, and plenty that applies to our own times.

State's Official Host

Ohio's Governor Wears Many Hats

by Archer E. Reilly, Jr., Member State Legislature

The Governor of Ohio wears many hats. He is the symbol of state government, the leader of state policy and the chief state executive officer. Any one of these functions constitutes a full time assignment. And he is expected to do all of them well.

Reilly

As the symbol of state government, the Governor is the ceremonial chieftain of the State of Ohio. In this role he is in effect the public representative of the people of the state. This ranges from greeting visiting dignitaries to presiding over public ceremonies, to entertaining various groups at the Governor's mansion.

The state constitution places upon the Governor responsibility for general governmental policy. This broad authority is reinforced by the many laws enacted by the General Assembly involving administrative agencies and departments. It is also broadened by the executive budget system under which the Governor is responsible for the financial plan for the entire state operation. However, it should be noted that he has little or no authority over the legislative and judicial departments; or over the five other state executive officers, who are elected directly by the people.

The Governor, as chief executive officer, is responsible for the administration of the Departments under his jurisdiction. They include: Finance, Commerce, Highways, Public Works, Agriculture, Health, Industrial Relations, Education, Public Welfare, Unemployment Compensation, Liquor Control, Taxation, Natural Resources, Highway Safety, Mental Hygiene and the Adjutant General. He appoints the major officials in these departments and thereby assumes responsibility for their performance.

He is a definite force in the enactment of legislation. The Constitution requires that he "communicate at every session by message to the General Assembly the condition of the state and recommend such measures as he shall deem expedient."

This represents the Governor's message to the Legislature, which he usually implements through administration-sponsored bills. He also has the power to veto legislation passed by the General Assembly. However, the bill may be passed over his veto by a vote of three-fifths of the membership of each house.

The Governor also has judicial power. He has responsibility for granting reprieves, pardons and commutations for persons convicted of crimes. Although he works through a member of his office staff, and usually accepts recommendations of the Pardon and Parole Commission, this is among the most arduous of the Governor's responsibilities.

Clearly, the Governorship of Ohio is not constituted as an easy job. However, it is nearly always avidly sought by a number of contenders. The prize usually goes to the one who is able to win his party's primary in a year when that party is in the ascendancy; or to a popular figure running for re-election.

Beginning in 1958 the term will be four years rather than the traditional two; and there will be limitations of two consecutive terms. The position pays $20,000 per year, along with living quarters, transportation and an allowance for entertainment.

However, the office is attractive to aspirants for reasons other than compensation. They include its challenge, honor and opportunity for personal fulfillment.

Salads Take Spotlight As Lenten Meal Aid

Norway salad, featuring kippers and beets, makes a substantial main course for a Lenten lunch.

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

FOR a Lenten luncheon combine kippers, beets and other salad ingredients and top with hard-cooked egg. This salad makes a substantial main dish.

Beet and Kipper Luncheon Salad
(4-5 servings)

Two (3¼-ounce) cans Norway kippers, 1 cup whole midget beets, ½ cup French dressing, 2 tablespoons commercial sour cream, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 medium apples, pared and cubed, 1 cup chopped celery, chopped onion and lettuce.

Place beets in bowl and pour dressing over them. Marinate in refrigerator for 2 hours. In separate bowl, combine cream, mayonnaise, lemon juice, salt and pepper.

Peel and cube apple and add immediately to sour cream mixture. Add celery, onion and flaked kippers. Chill.

On each plate make a bed of lettuce. Place 4 beets on the lettuce and spoon the kipper mixture on top. Garnish with slice of hard-cooked egg topped with slice of stuffed olive.

Sardine and Celery Salad
(4-5 servings)

One (3¼-ounce) can Norway sardines, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ¼ cup mayonnaise, 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced, 1 cup finely chopped celery, 1 cup drained cooked or canned peas, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion, crisp lettuce leaves, 1 tomato sliced, salt and pepper to taste, parsley.

Drain sardines, reserving half for use later. Mash first half. Add lemon juice and mayonnaise. Add celery, onion and peas, season, and toss all together lightly.

Arrange in mounds on lettuce leaves. Garnish with egg slices, tomato slices and parsley. Top with remaining whole sardines. Chill. Serve with mayonnaise or salad dressing on the side.

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Columnist Wins Opportunity To Be 'Arkansas Traveler'

Columnist Erwin A. Bauer made my mouth water last Spring telling me about the extremely bass fishing in the Ouachita Lakes around Hot Springs, Ark.

He had just returned from a week's fishing and competing in the annual fishing derby down there. Even with his phenominal catches, he didn't win a prize. At the time, I made a mental note to myself that if I lived long enough I, too, would sample the fishing in Hot Springs National Park.

Imagine my pleasant surprise then, at my winning such a trip at the last meeting of The Outdoor Writers of Ohio. I never won anything before, but I sure started off with a dandy.

Joe Spinar had graciously given a week's stay at Knollwood Lodge, on the shore of Lake Hamilton, as a door prize. Last year's "big prize" was won by Charlie McClellan, Ironton outdoor writer, and he went to International Falls for a fine trip. I figured many a ticket would be drawn before mine came up — but I was wrong.

Rod Cochran

Two Derbies Slated

I wasted little time in letting Mr. Spinar at Knollwood Lodge know that I would come during part of the fishing derby. Actually, there are two derbies. The Amateur Derby runs from Apr. 10 through the 19. Fishermen with a little more confidence in their skill enter the Professional Derby on Apr. 20 through 25.

Local fishermen do not have an advantage over visiting fishermen, since there are two divisions and the two groups do not compete against each other. Sensational prizes are awarded at these derbies, and the event is one of the most celebrated fishing festivities on inland waters.

The mountain scenery in the upland of Arkansas, I am told, will be rather spectacular in April. The lakes and park are quite near Hot Springs, which has many attractions of its own for vacationers. I'm getting anxious to feel a little of that southern sunshine, and soak in the mineral baths at Hot Springs.

Even though the trip is over a month away, I've accumulated enough road maps to start a gas station. I know of more routes across the Mississippi River than Daniel Boone ever discovered.

Joe has written me that a cabin will be waiting whenever I get there. He has promised that a boat will be tied up at the dock, and an outboard warmed up and ready to go.

It's enough to make a fellow start to limber up and get the cobwebs out of his casting arm.

Walt Lauffer, Entertainment Chairman for The Central Ohio Anglers' and Hunters' Club, told me that a couple of extremely interesting meetings are coming up. On Mar. 11 J. E. Von Maur, of Sports, Inc., along with Jimmy Crum and Barney Oldfield will present the exciting film "Big Bear Hunt."

On Apr. 8 Ralph Seaman of The Carling Conservation Club will show and narrate four outstanding hunting and fishing films made under his direction. Seaman is known throughout the country for his work in promoting conservation.

Paul Hanley, president of the club, reports that all members and guests should be certain to circle these two dates on their calendars. Visitors are also invited to these meetings. They will be held on the clubgrounds on Little Darby Creek.

WHAT'S FOR LUNCH?

Are the lunch box carriers in your family beginning to complain about sandwich monotony? Nothing gets more monotonous than opening one's lunch box day after day and finding the same thing in it—especially if the same thing lacks appetite appeal in the first place.

Packing lunches for school children or for the man of the house is a challenging task any time, but becomes even more so at this time of year. In fact, lunches eaten at home may fail to meet basic needs. The problem of providing the child enough of the right foods in a fashion that makes eating a pleasure is not limited to packed lunches.

A Good Lunch, nutritionists say, should include one-half pint of milk, two servings of vegetables and fruits, one main dish serving such as meat, cheese, eggs, fish, fowl, dried beans or peanut butter, and a serving of bread and butter.

Some Suggestions—You might include carrot, celery, or turnip sticks, stuffed celery, cauliflowerets, potato salad in a jar, vegetable soup in a thermos, tomato juice, applesauce or baked apple, any fresh fruit that is easy to eat out-of-hand, canned or dried fruits in a jar, pineapple chunks strung on toothpicks, or a small pack of raisins.

In creating sandwiches, imagination is about the only limiting factor. Here the main dish and the bread and butter may be combined. Some other ideas are hard cooked or deviled egg, fried chicken, chili con carne in thermos, baked beans in a jar, and cheese cubes. By varying the form in which the meat, cheese, eggs and so on are prepared from day to day, you can give your youngster food that is not only nutritious, but fun to eat.

Tuck In A Surprise — A good general rule for planning lunch box meals is: Pack something hearty, something sweet, something good to drink, and something for a surprise.

LET YOUR FREEZER HELP

Shorten the lunch packing ritual by making sandwiches in quantity and freezing.

*Combinations That Freeze Well

1. Combine 3 cups ground cooked ham, ⅓ cup salad dressing, 1 cup pickle relish, 3 tsp. horseradish. Mix well and chill. Makes 3½ cups — enough for 15 sandwiches.
2. Chop hard cooked egg yolks. Add small amounts of chopped cheese or cooked ham, drained pickle relish, and just enough soft creamed butter to make it spread easily. (This is a good way to use extra egg yolks you may have on hand).
3. Nippy cheese spread — 3 tbl. butter, ½ pound soft American cheese, finely ground; 2 tbl. thin cream, 2 tbl. lemon juice, 1 tsp. dry mustard, ½ tsp. salt; few grains Cayenne. Cream the butter, add other ingredients and mix until smooth. Makes 1½ cups of filling for 6-8 sandwiches.

*Spread both sides of the bread generously with butter or margarine to avoid soggi-

Girl Injured By Glass

An 11 year-old girl didn't see the clean windows at the Beverlee Drive-In at 4060 W. Broad-st last Thursday and ran into trouble. The glass was so clear she ran right through it!

According to sheriffs deputies Richard Collins and Frank Bonner, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Simons of Marshall, Mo., stopped at the restaurant about five a.m. and left their daughter, Evelyn, asleep in the car and went inside. She awoke and saw her parents inside and ran to them, going through a four-by-seven double pane window. She suffered only cuts and bruises.

Boy Scouts Begin Activity On Annual Scout-O-Rama

Local Boy Scouts are busy preparing for their part in the annual Scout-O-Rama to be held Saturday and Sunday, Mar. 15 and 16, at the State Fairgrounds.

Every year since 1928 the Scouts and their leaders have sponsored the huge show — a real, live exhibition of what Scouting is all about. The many diversified activities of the Scouts give the show huge proportions. More than 200 walk-around type booths have been scheduled this year. About 15,000 Cubs and Boy Scouts will be manning the displays of arts and crafts and will have part in the colorful main show. Others will be working in different capacities, equally important, such as publicity, ticket sales, and others.

A house-to-house ticket selling campaign has been organized and released and Scouts will call in all the neighborhoods soon. Tickets will also be available at the door on opening days. The cost is 50 cents, each ticket admitting one adult or two children. Proceeds from the sales will pay expenses of the show and help support the newly acquired Green Hills Camp Site of 1126 acres near Logan, O.

Trash Burner Dispute Ended

City Council finally ended a six-week dispute over its rigid trash burning laws and ruled Monday that residential burning may be done in any container that "will not burn itself."

This ammended ordinance, which will be effective in 30 days, will still make it illegal to burn trash before sunrise or after sunset. The maximum penalty for infraction of this law is 30 days in jail and $200 in fines.

Previously the law stated that no trash could be burned except in a 15-gallon metal container with a wire mesh top.

Injured was August Winigan 68, of 330 S. Roys-av who was driving to Ohio State University where he is supervising a construction job.

He was driving north when his car skidded and hit the pole broadside. According to sheriff's deputies, Winigan's head struck and smashed the windshield. He suffered a possible skull fracture and possible punctured lung.

this country every two or three days, said Bond. The club functions as any other service organization and has no specific charity. However, most local projects thus far have been directed toward aid for the mentally retarded.

Leroy Sauer, toastmaster, introduced visiting members from Civitan clubs in Dayton, Marietta and other Ohio cities. Sensenbrenner in his greeting said "I heartily welcome this new club to Columbus because service organizations and their work add greatly to the well-being of a city."

Leslie E. Blough, governor, Ohio district of Marietta, presented the charter to Glenn M. Eichenauer, president of the new West Columbus club.

Another "President Ike"

Don Henderson installed the new members and W. W Stover installed the officers. Homer Smith, president of the North Columbus club, presented Eichenauer (who was accidentally referred to as President Eisenhower several times during the evening) with a gavel and the traditional Civitan gold bell.

Bond addressed the group, speaking on education, its needs, and how Civitan groups could help supply these needs. "You, as a new club, owe nothing to present Civitan clubs—your debt is to found new ones and help them in every way you can," said Bond.

New officers include Glenn Eichenauer, 400 Yarmouth-ln, president; Earl Sisson, 2546 Nottingham-rd, vice-president; C. Stanley Taylor, 433 Darbyhurst-rd, treasurer; Jim Kneale, 436 Darbyhurst-rd, secretary; and Rev. Frank E. McCullough, 204 Old Village-rd, pastor of Lincoln Village Baptist Church, will serve as chaplain.

On the board of directors will be Ken Campbell, 362 Yarmouth-ln; Walter Munch, 4942 Hamden-wy; and Allan Sanford, 427 Darbyhurst-rd.

The club will hold meetings every other Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Everglades.

CITY SCHOOLS BEGIN PRE-SCHOOL CHECKS

Registration and health appraisal of children who will start to Columbus public schools next fall is beginning this week, Superintendent Harold H. Ebling announced.

Any child who will be five on or before Dec. 31, may be registered for kindergarten. Children who will be six on or before Dec. 31 must be registered for first grade if they are not enrolled in a kindergarten of the Columbus Public Schools at present.

Parents should call the elementary school in their district soon to arrange the registrations and interview with school nurses for a child health appraisal.

Registration can be speeded if parents take an original birth certificate and proof of smallpox, diphtheria and polio immunization to school when they register their child, school officials said.

Birth certificates for children born in Columbus may be obtained at the City Health Department, 181 S. Washington-blvd.

Hilltop Man Robbed

An armed robber reportedly got away with $66 Feb. 28 after robbing Walter L. Schwartz, owner of the B&B Self Service Medicines, 2149 Sullivant-av.

Grahams Open New Shoe Store At Broad And Wayne

Harry Graham, who has owned and operated the shoe department at Seiller's Department Store for about seven years, with his son, Jim, has opened a new establishment at 2304 W. Broad-st, at Wayne-av.

The senior Graham is not only well known on the Hilltop, but throughout Central Ohio — his voice was heard over radio three times a week for 13 years under the title Foot Comfort Counselor. Advice and suggestions were sought after by thousands of listeners over that period, according to Graham, who resides at 822 Wiltshire-rd.

"We are dedicating our new store to the principles upon which the radio programs were based—better shoes, better fitted—particularly for children," he said.

Has 23-Year Background

Graham, who has been in the shoe business for 33 years, was joined by his son, Jim, seven years ago. Mrs. Harry Graham, Mrs. Gladys Carmichael and David Swicegood complete the fitting staff at the new store.

The new enterprise, to be known as Harry Graham Shoes, will feature Massagic, Weyenberg and Pedwin shoes for men, Gerberich and Buster Brown shoes for boys, Pro-tak-tiv, Buster Brown and Buntees shoes for children and Glamour Debs for teen-agers.

Special shoes will also be stocked to take care of "problem" feet and shoe prescriptions will be filled for pediatricians and orthopedic doctors. The 10,000 shoe fitting records of Hilltop youngsters, compiled by Graham while at Seiller's, are now at the new store.

During opening week, favors are being given to children and parents, and Buster Brown will be on hand Saturday to greet visitors.

Triplette Leads Bantam Bowlers

Ivan Triplette topped Glenwood Recreation Center's bantam bowling league recently with a high individual series of 261 and the high individual game of 145. His series of 261 was high for the season.

Second individual series honors went to John Postle with 204, followed closely by Patti Rice with 194. Patti and John also tied for second place high single games with 117 apiece. Triplette finished third with another game at 116.

Team singles high were Ten Pins, 432; Black Slacks, 396; and Ten Pins 394. Team series highs were led by the Ten Pins with 806. The Black Slacks finished second with 734 and the Ten Pins took third with 694.

The Ten Pins continue to lead the league with nine wins and three losses. The Black Slacks and the Black Jacks are tied for second place with seven wins and five losses apiece. The Yellow Jackets dropped to third place with six wins and six losses.

West Grabs Win In District Play

Fifteen points by big Dave Mack in the final period gave West a 61-51 win over a hard fighting Groveport team in Tuesday's Class AA tournament at St. John's Arena.

West rebounding was something wonderful to watch. They completely ruled the backboards. This combined with fine outside shooting gave the Cowboys the game all the way.

After Groveport took the lead at the end of the first period under the fine shooting of Sims and Nelson, West came back to take the lead at the half, and held it the rest of the way.

Dave Mack was the controlling factor for the Cowboys with 20 points.

West will play Central Thursday at 8 p.m. in St. John's Arena in a semi-final game that promises to be a thriller.

Father's Business Practices Laid Foundation For Broker

Real estate brokerage was a natural for George J. Layne of 340 Powhatan-av, who was holding "open houses" for his father's real estate firm before he had even graduated from West High School.

He worked with his father, R. C. Layne, up until the time of his death in 1951, at which time George took over the firm. Together they built many homes in the Hilltop area as well as some of the first in Westgate.

Layne said he learned a good way of life from his father and the importance of being an honest real estate broker. "If making a deal will keep a friend then go ahead with it, however, if by making a deal you lose a friend then forget the transaction," was one of his father's business rules.

Employ Staff of 12

Layne and his wife, Dorothy, work together as a team in the brokerage business. She handles advertising and is general secretary for the property management phase of the firm which is taken care of in their office at home. The real estate work itself is done through their office at 2627 Sullivant-av. The Laynes employ 12 salesmen to help carry the work load.

Besides the brokerage, Layne works a five-day week at Battelle Memorial Institute as an assistant staff manager.

A Hilltopper since he was age five, Layne and his wife spend what little spare time they have around home. With little time to travel, their favorite hobby outside the business world is photography.

He is a member of HBA; Columbus Board of Realtors, Ohio Board of Realtors, National Real Estate Brokers Institute, Oldtimers Baseball Association and the Hilltop Church of Christ. His father was one of the charter members in HBA and Jane still holds original shares in the organization.

Broken Dishes No Problem, Mrs. Navin Just Makes More!

ORIGINAL DINNERWARE displayed by Mrs. Paul Navin represents the first piece in a new service-for-eight set she is making for her family's use.

By Ray Shaffer

Mrs. Paul J. Navin could make a "killing" with her kiln and turn a ceramics hobby into big business. She, however, seems content to use her talent only to provide those "extra special" items for her home.

When most women want new dishes they set out on a one-man campaign to talk "hubby" into the deal! However, Mrs. Navin, who lives at 2780 Valleyview-dr, just goes to her basement workshop and makes her own dinnerware.

Her talent (though she is extremely modest on the subject) is reflected through the Navin home. One bookshelf in the living room is filled with figurines delicately outfitted in lace dresses and bonnets in pastel shades. Her artistic slant is further displayed by several original lamp bases decorated with frosted grapes and greenery.

Began Three Years Ago

Three years ago she was searching for a hobby for the same reason that many housewives do in this day of easier housekeeping with the aid of modern automatic devices. Her four children were grown, her husband was busy with his insurance business and she found she needed something to fill her time.

She readily admits she had only five lessons in ceramics and that the rest of her learning was through trial and error. Later she took instruction in lace-draping and china painting.

She said her husband has no interest in ceramics but has been patient during their travels when she drafts him into attending ceramic exhibits. "Once, when we were visiting in Cleveland, Paul dropped me off at a ceramic shop to browse. I spotted a girl making porcelain figurines and I asked her to show me how it was done. I sat down for the instructions at 3 p.m. and didn't leave until 11 p.m. Paul stopped back three times and finally went back to the motel." She cited this instance to show how deeply interested she is in the hobby — and how her husband sometimes suffers because of it!

Has Three Kilns

Mrs. Navin's basement workshop is stocked like a hobby store. There are shelves and shelves of various glazes, cabinets filled with tiny tools, and commercial molds of every type and size. She said she spends as many as 10 hours a day working with clay and porcelains and keeps at least one of her three kilns going continuously. She purchases regular clay 25 pounds at a time and liquid clay in 30 gallon containers but these quantities last only a few months.

She does give instructions at home and has eight pupils studying with her now. "I like to keep my classes small because only in that way can I give individual help and criticism," she said.

For Your Thoughts

Question: Do you feel that the President of the United States should be permitted to take as many vacations as he feels necessary?

Mrs. Ralph Lind, 402 S. Hague-av: "I think he should be able to take all the trips he thinks necessary for his health. I suppose the controversy comes from his so-called "side trip" to Arizona to take his wife out there for her vacation. I know that I would want my husband to take me if I went on a trip that far."

Mrs. Fred Graccale, 209 N. Oakley-av: "I certainly think so. Anyone with a job such as his certainly has every right to as many vacations as he needs."

Mrs. William Brown, 257 S. Eureka-av: "I suppose that's his priviledge. Everyone else in politics seems to so why can't he? After all, he's not a prisoner of the American people, he's for the people. As to his trip to Arizona, he should be the one to decide if that's right or not. I'm a Democrat but I certainly feel that it's up to him what he wants to do."

Mrs. Clarence Barber, 202 Powhatan: "I think it's high time he got himself back to the White House. He should be settled down there in this time of crisis and not be gallivanting around. He was certainly out of line when he took Mamie out to that resort. He gets $100,000 a year and should try to earn his money. It's been known all along that he's a sick man and it should be taken as such."

Charles L. Hanks, 643 S. Roys-av: "I don't know how much vacation he is entitled to but I think it's all right. I do, however, think the trip he took with his wife to Arizona was unnecessary.

Mrs. W. Allen's Indian Lily Has Some Unusual Habits!

SACRED LILY OF INDIA is a strange and rare flower, says Mrs. Wenser Allen of 360 S. Highland-av. It needs no watering and produces a deep red bloom only once a year. Since receiving the plant as a gift from Judge Dean Strausbaugh's grandmother in 1932, Mrs. Allen said, it has never failed to bloom a few days before Ash Wednesday and wither a few days after. She plants it in the ground each summer at which time it will soak up enough moisture for winter months. Reports show that it taken seven years for the plant to start from seed. The lily began to wither just 20 minutes after this picture was taken, which was the day following Ash Wednesday.

Emphasis On Science Education Seen In Hilltop Schools

With all the facilities of the school's science laboratory-classrooms at their disposal and encouragement and help from a staff of 11 science teachers, students at West High are limited only by their own abilities and interests. Mike Mikelson, senior, at left and Dan Alder, junior, have each prepared a project for entry in Science Night competition Thursday, Mar. 6.

The science of understanding and forecasting weather conditions is the selection of Judy Wright, freshman, at left, for her Science Night project. Barbara Jones, sophomore, has prepared a poster project on the human heart and eye.

School Answers Questions With Demonstration

Children's questioning curiosity about the laws of nature had far-reaching results at John Burroughs School last week. It caused an explosion!

When the fifth grade students of Miss Grace Smith, studying about Mexico under the direction of practice teacher Kathy McCarthy, wondered just what happens and why when a volcano erupts, their teachers determined to show them.

Dr. D. Frederick Smith, Miss Smith's brother, owner of Smith Chemical Co. and professor emeritus of chemistry at the University of Illinois where he taught 26 years, volunteered to conduct the demonstration.

He was assisted by Dr. Alvin Heimbuch, also of Smith Chemical Co. Mrs. Heimbuch is a former teacher at John Burroughs.

Held in the school auditorium, the demonstration was attended by all fifth and sixth grade students.

Replica of a volcano, made by the children of plaster-of-paris, was filled with ammonium dichromate, heated with an alcohol burner and convincingly erupted with billows of flame, smoke and particles simulating an actual volcanic eruption.

Dr. Smith obliged the audience reaction of, "Please do it again," by repeating the spectacle several times.

One little boy with a thoughtful gleam in his eye asked, "What's the name of that chemical you used?" Mrs. Maxine Walters, principal, answered his question but hastily explained it was definitely not the sort of experiment to be tried at home!

Science Day—

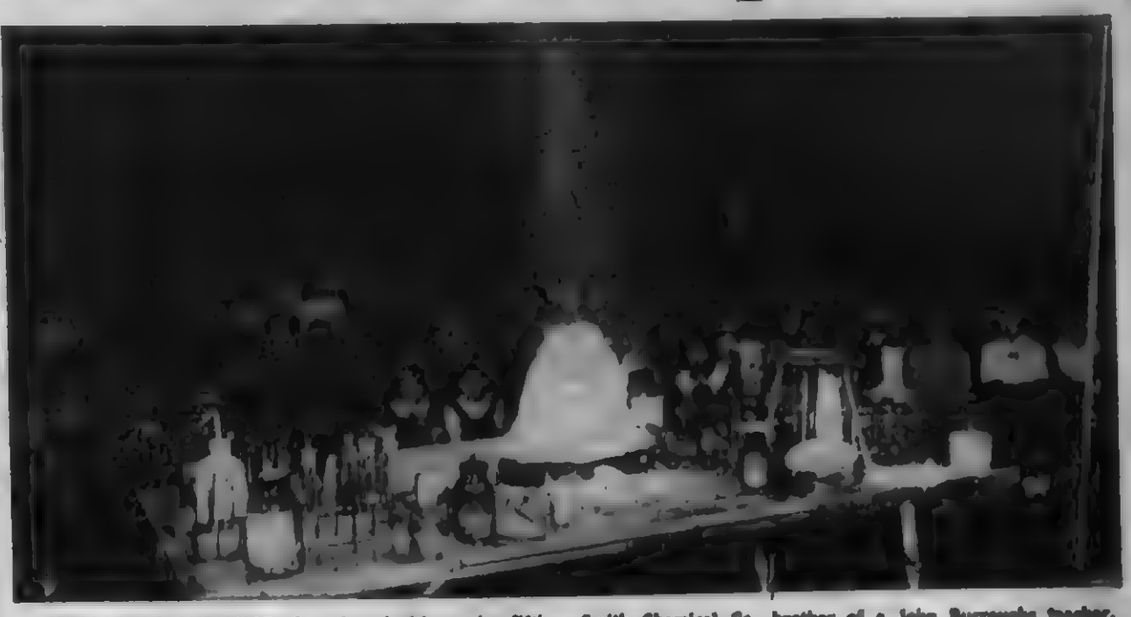
very best of these will take place at the school Thursday night.



Each school is permitted to enter no more than five per cent of its total enrollment in the district competition, scheduled for Mar. 26 at the Youth Building, Ohio State Fairgrounds. With 2600 students at West, 111 may participate.

Approximately 50 specialists in various areas of science will serve as judges.

Students in general science, biology, physics and chemistry will participate in the competition. Each student will present his project and be prepared to discuss it at great length with the judges.

Judging will be on the basis of manner of delivery, depth of project and the amount of knowledge the student has acquired.

West science teachers are Miss Mary Baker, Clarence Bower, J. W. Branson, Carl Brenning, John Casey, George Heitz, Thoburn Stone, William Schmitter, Gerald Ocock, Earl Reed and William Siebert.

SPELLBOUND AUDIENCE—Round-eyed with wonder, fifth and sixth grade students at John Burroughs School watched the simulated explosion of a volcano, complete with fire and smoke, and spewing material resembling molten lava, in the school auditorium last Thursday. Dr. G. Frederick Smith of Smith Chemical Co., brother of a John Burroughs teacher, and Dr. Alvin Heimbuch, also of Smith Chemical Co., conducted the experiment, using a plaster-of-paris volcano made by students, filled with ammonium dichromate and heated with an alcohol burner. Comfortable, Colorful Shoes in Spring Debut

This open and closed pump offers a little curved heel for spring, a pointed toe, straight-cut vamp.

BY EDNA MILES

THE shoe on the foot this spring will be light and shapely with a little curved heel that is both flattering and comfortable.

Leathers are light and supple, shaping to the foot in the same way that a glove shapes to the hand. They offer glowing color, too, and combinations of one, two or three colors as well.

The little curved heel, in combination with the sharp toe, makes fashion news this year. This heel is more curved, lower and set nearer the arch of the shoe than ever before.

Once, it was usual for a woman to build her shoe wardrobe around black, brown and navy. If she felt dashing, she added one pair of red shoes.

This year, even the most conservative woman will buy at least one pair of shoes in blue, green, raspberry or yellow. She'll buy one pair of evening shoes with low, curved heels. She'll buy one pair of sandals with closed front and open back set on slender heels.

Attention Is Again Focused On Flasher Signal Problem

An auto-train tragedy Saturday at the New York Central crossing near Alton-rd in which a Galloway teen-ager was killed has again focused attention on the problem of securing flasher signals at crossings between Sullivant-av and the scene of the recent accident.

Robert Wilcox, New Rome attorney, believes that some kind of a warning signal is necessary in order to cut down the number of fatalities at the "hard to see around" intersections. Residents of Galloway have vainly sought to have the New York Central officials install flasher signals at the crossing in their village.

Paul Eugene Cochrun, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cochrun of Galloway was killed and two teen-age companions were seriously injured when the automobile in which they were riding was rammed by a passenger train at the New York Central crossing near Alton-rd.

Listed in poor condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital is Ralph Bennett, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bennett of 1906 N. High-st. Phillip Comeans, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Comeans, 2870 Kunz-rd, has been reported in fair condition.

It was the fifth death in less than a year on NYC crossings from west of Georgesville-rd to Alton-rd. Young Cochrun was the driver of the vehicle.

According to Donald Dellinger, assistant chief of the Prairie Township Fire Department, the boys were almost across the track when the fast approaching train hit the tail end of the car. All three youths were thrown from the car by the impact; the car was dragged 20 feet from the crossing.

Dellinger said that the railroad bank at the crossing makes it hard to see the approaching trains.

Other fatalities on the line in less than a year include: Danny Whitt, 12, Galloway, killed while riding a bicycle at the Prairie Township crossing last May; Mr. and Mrs. George Arthur Mayes, killed last August at the Alkire-rd crossing; Andrew Baker, 59, of 464 S. Warren-av, killed at the Sullivant-av intersection.

Cochrun is survived by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John Cochrun, a brother, Floyd; a sister, Mary Lee, all of Galloway, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wellbaum of Castown, O.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday at the Galloway Presbyterian Church. Interment was at the Galloway Cemetery by the Jerry Spears Funeral Home.

Holy Family Bows Out Of District Play

Holy Family dropped its first game in District A tournament play to Jonathan Alder Feb. 27 at Capital.

Not until the final buzzer the game a defeat for the West Side quintet. Alder's Dick Fravel's strategy-set basket in final seconds gave the Alder five a 53-52 victory, after a beautiful pressure-packed game by the Red Raiders.

Holy Family applied an all-court press throughout the game to curb the Madison Countians' poise and cause many fast breakaways in the game. With 19 seconds to go, Marty Crawford tallied two free throws to put the Raiders ahead. Moments later, they got possession of the ball in one of the many steals of the game, only to lose it in the same way.

Alder called time out with the ball at mid-court, to set up the strategy. Alder's John Roby passed a high, quick toss to Fravel, who grabbed the ball, and in the same motion, turned and laid it up as the buzzer sounded.

Electrifying Finish

The play was fast and furious during the final three minutes of the contest with Alder rallying from a 43-38 deficit to tie it up at 43-43 with 2:59 to go on a pair of free throws by Duane Bowers. Scores by Cullen and later, Bowers, tied the knot again at 45-45.

Two free throws by Family's Perdue and a one-hander from the side canceled out. Another free throw by Perdue gave the Raiders a slim 48-47 advantage until Roby's throw from the out- free throws to grab the lead at 49-48.

Two more goals canceled out until Foby's throw from the outside gave Alder the lead 5-50. This stood until Crawford's free throws, followed by Fravel's cincher.

Golden Age Housing Site Awaits Approval

A site near Sunshine Park seems to have won the favor over two other West Side areas that have been under speculation by the Metropolitan Housing Authority for the construction of two six-story apartment building and recreation facilities for this city's elder citizens.

An area near the Columbus State School on Sullivant-av and one in the vicinity of W. Broad-st and Sandusky-st have also been under consideration by MHA.

Russell G. Taylor, MHA director, said that a 2.7-acre site near Sunshine has been chosen because of its central location. "The Golden Age Club, which will be using the recreation center provided for in our building program, has a county-wide membership and the centralized location would make it easily accessable to its members," said Taylor.

May Share Hearing

He added that there is a possibility that the heating plant of the nearby MHA Riverside Homes project can be converted to handle the proposed units for the aged as well. This would be of great economical value, said Taylor.

The site chosen, the next hurdle will be to get approval of the site by the City Planning Commission. If approved, architectural plans and drawings are hoped to be started in May.

Present plans call for the construction of two 75-unit apartment buildings, each unit renting (in the neighborhood of $25 to $30 a month. The buildings, which will rent exclusively to persons 65 years of age or over, will be equipped with elevators.

Recreation is Considered

The apartments will be joined by a Golden Age Club building for the recreational use of the city's aged. It is to have about a dozen rooms for various Golden Ager's activities.

When the site was originally mentioned for the housing units for the aged in December, 1957, N. J. Barack, city recreation director, expressed some disfavor. He believed that it might conflict with the Recreation Department's plans for a swimming pool to be built on the Sunshine property in the future.

However, Barack said that since the recent housing unit plans call for construction near Sunshine Park (if approved) but not in the park itself, he is in favor of the project.

Relocation Office Relocates

CITY'S FAMILY RELOCATION office, 339 S. Sandusky-st, relocated itself recently at a North Side location, 131 Lincoln-st. With 390 families moved from the Sandusky Expressway area since June 1, and 30 families remaining, Thomas J. Fox, supervisor, feels the near-completion of the relocation work warranted the move. "We've had good cooperation from the residents in this area. It's no easy job to move persons who have been community residents for 20 or 40 years," said Fox. The office's staff will visit each of the remaining families once more to help them in their relocation problems. Fox pointed out that 921 families have been moved in the city since August 1956 and no evictions have been necessary. Dave Dalton, left, and Dennis Carr closed "shop" Saturday and moved their sign.

Plans Not Sure For Outerbelt

Residents of Western Columbus were given a chance to blow off some steam, but nothing much else of a significant nature developed Tuesday night during a public meeting on the outerbelt and west freeway at Prairie Local School.

Mayors D. J. Kunz of New Rome, Gaymon Wright, of Hilliards and W. Ernest Hysell, of Grove City along with three representatives of the State Highway Department attempted to clarify questions put befor the group by about 140 people.

But those who attended left with little more certainty about the plans of the highway department than they had before the meeting.

When asked what landowners who might be affected by the route of the highway should do, the answer was "proceed with plans as you see fit. If the state wants the land, it will have to pay what it is worth."

It was pointed out by the three highway department representatives that no definite route had been established and nothing was certain until that step was taken.

The most controversial point of the discussion was the route of the outerbelt around New Rome. Present plans have it passing east of the village between Phillipi-rd and Lincoln Village.

Mayor Kunz said he was not "sold on the plan at all." Kunz told the group he had made an actual count of how many workers from Ternstedt and Westinghouse Plants would use the outerbelt. He listed only 126 workers out of about 7,000.

While the highway department representative made it clear that they were only clarifying the results of a report turned in by a consulting firm, they nevertheless seemed to defend the eastern route around New Rome.

The highway representatives said the $900,000 more that would be needed to build the eastern route was "not significant compared to the $91 million overall expense.

It was stated that if new developments occur, the mayors group would be notified and a public hearing arranged if it is desired.

Hilltop Lions Begin Campaign To Build 'Lions' Tale' Edition

INSPIRATION FOR LIONS PAPER SALE—Dr. Roy A. Burkhart, minister of the First Community Church, exherted members of the Hilltop Lions Club to "greater efforts in the face of greater community need" as members launched their annual newspaper advertising sales campaign at the March 6 meeting in the Colony Restaurant. Dr. Burkhart, center, was introduced by Lion Jerry Spears, Sr., a former school classmate. At right is Francis "Pinky" Higgins, president of the club.

March may have come in like a lamb, but on the Hilltop and West Side the month belongs to the Lions — the Hilltop Lions, that is.

The remainder of March will find every member of the club soliciting businessmen in the community for advertising support of "The Hilltop Lions Tale" annual special edition of The Hilltop Record, which is the largest source of support for aid to blind and other welfare projects of the club.

Herbert J. Loechler, first vice president of the club and director of the annual newspaper sale, declared that the current economic slump would probably call for the spending of even more money in the 1958-59 club year for individual welfare projects. By the end of the current club year, some $10,000 will have been returned to the community in the form of direct aid to individuals, schools and youth groups.

Paper Sale Dated May 15

Door-to-door sale of the newspaper has been scheduled for May 15, but the current emphasis is on advertising support and the success of the advertising campaign will largely determine the total outcome of the project.

"Public spirited businessmen have a rare opportunity in purchasing ads at this time to participate in the work of the Lions Club," declared Loechler. "They should be especially aware of the fact that every cent realized on the paper sale project is returned to the community in the form of projects," he added.

Members of the newspaper sale project include the following:

Charles (Chuck) Weaver, vice-president, in charge of advertising; Bob Myers, advertising chairman; and Bill Steen, vice chairman of advertising.

Advertising sales captains are Bud Chamberlin, John Patton, Don Rumley, Erv Schmidt, Bob Dennis, Ed Eberhard, Jack Kirwin and Chick Strickler. Al Dailey, auction chairman, will have the assistance of Dr. Gerald Ferritto, Jerry Spears, Sr., and Ron Jones. Other committee chairman include Bill Slotter, distribution, and Galvy Gordon, editor.

Value Of Insignia Is $35 Today

No winners in last week's "Confederate" money game has increased the value of today's jackpot insignia to $35. Ten additional insignia, each worth one "Confederate" bill are also put in circulation on the Hilltop via Record ads.

No tricks or gimmicks of any kind are used in placing the lucky insignia in the newspaper. Printed in bright colored ink they are always placed in full view on an ad.

Subscribers spotting the insignia in their copies of the newspapers may exchange the entire copy at The Hilltop Record office before Saturday noon, for crisp, new "Confederate" bills.

"Confederate" currency may be spent like cash with any advertiser appearing in the current issue of the Record.

Any subscriber whose name appears on our records as having paid in advance or on his carrier boy's route book as a paying customer is eligible to win.

Employes and carriers of the newspaper and members of their families are not eligible.

New Office Buildings Under Way

If there is a recession now in the United States it doesn't seem to be affecting the growth of Hilltop business. Three new office buildings, valued at $155,000, are now under construction.

Al Tonti, of Tonti Brothers Sales and Rentals, announced this week the firm's plans to erect a $55,000 two-story office building to house an insurance company as well as the Tonti offices.

The large brick residence now located on the site, 3223 W. Broad-st, is being torn down this week and construction is expected to begin next week. A $50,000 one-story building to be leased by the City Loan Company, will be constructed adjacent to the office building on the same lot.

The two projects are to be completed in about 90 days, said a company spokesman.

Early spring is the target set for completion of a new $50,000 building at 3344 W. Broad-st for the Hoover Co., vacuum cleaner manufacturers.

With the addition of the new expressway the company must move its district offices from 35 N. Sandusky-st.

The new edifice, being built by Mark D. Feinknopf and Associates, will be of brick and stone, with all modern features. A "Moderne" exterior will be featured, with landscaping, while on the inside modern lighting and air conditioning will be used for the comfort of the 25 employes. Acoustic ceilings and rubber tiled floors will add to the quiet atmosphere of the building.

The entire building will be divided into two sections, sales and office space.

Parking space for 30 to 40 cars will be provided.

Composed Of Seven Justices

Supreme Court's Main Duty Is Administration Of Justice

By State Representative, Archer E. Reilly Jr.

The Ohio Supreme Court is the highest court in the state. It is established by the state constitution which also provides for its membership.

Reilly

The court is composed of a chief justice and six associate judges. It hears all cases as a group. The members include Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt, Lakewood; and Judges William K. Hart, Alliance; Charles B. Zimmerman, Springfield; James Garfield Stewart, Cincinnati; John M. Mathias, Columbus, and James F. Bell, London. Cases are heard Tuesday through Friday each week, beginning promptly at 9 a. m.

Supreme Court hearings are impressive. Just before Court opens the judges file in together and take their chairs on a dais, which is raised about a foot above the rest of the room.

The courtroom itself is steeped in dignity and history, with its high ceilings, deep maroon rug, marble decorations and heavy brass chandeliers.

The bailiff opens court with the traditional chant, "Hear ye, hear ye, the honorable Supreme Court of the State of Ohio is now in session." The Chief Justice reads the title of the case and calls on the attorney for the party bringing the action to state his case.

What kind of case will it be? Generally, it will be an appeal from one of the lower courts. It may be a motion asking the Court to hear an appeal, or it may be a hearing on "the merits" — the actual appeal of a case.

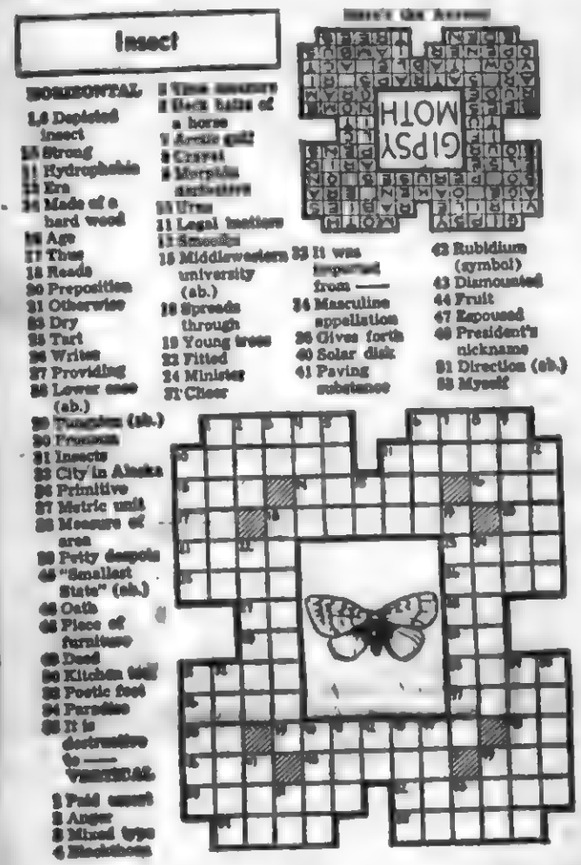
Howeves, it may be the first hearing of a case. If so, it will likely be a matter involving a public official in the conduct of some phases of his duties (known in legal language as mandamus, quo warranto, prohibition or habeas corpus.

Whatever the nature of the case, oral argument will be controlled by a time limit — 15 minutes on motions to certify or leave to appeal, 30 minutes for hearings on the merits — and will be uninterrupted except for occasional questions by one of the judges from the bench.

Both sides will have filed briefs which include detailed analyses of the law relative to their respective legal positions.

Cases are decided at the Court's regular conferences held on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

After a decision is made one judge is assigned the task of writing the opinion by the Chief Justice. The opinion sets forth the reasons for the Court's decision.



Another judge may, on his own volition, write a concurring opinion; and another may write a dissenting opinion. However, the opinion represents the official position of the Court on the issue or issues in question. After a decision is handed down, if a party is dissatisfied, he may file an application for rehearing.

A majority of the members of the Supreme Court is necessary to constitute a quorum, or to pronounce a decision, except as otherwise provided in the constitution. If there is an equal division of judges in any case under review in the Supreme Court, the judgement of the lower court is approved. Moreover, the constitution provides that "no law shall be held unconstitutional and void by the Supreme Court without the concurrence of at least all but one of the judges, except in the affirmance of a judgement of the Court of Appeals declaring a law unconstitutional and void."
